District 61 candidates go head-to-head on education

By Brenda Balin
Staff Reporter

On many issues, incumbent 61st District State Rep. JoAnn D. Osmond found so much in common with Democratic challenger Bill Scheurer, that, at the conclusion of a shared interview, she said, "I think he's more of a Republican than he knows."

Nevertheless, as the two candidates dialogued about their campaign platforms, subtle differences emerged. A detailed discussion covered the subject of educational funding reform, a matter of intense district-wide concern.

District 61 covers Antioch, parts of Lake Villa Township, Fox Lake, Gurnee, Old Mill Creek and Wadsworth, as well as Beach Park, Zion and Winthrop Harbor. Within that area, several school districts are seeking approval, through referendums, to augment funding with increased property taxes.

Osmond and Scheurer each had a different take on how to accomplish school funding in a district that considers itself overtaxed.

Osmond placed heavy emphasis on local accountability for how funds are spent, but did not offer a clear-cut explanation of how funds should be raised.

"I don't have an answer," she said, after stating she opposed sales tax as placing too much of a burden on small businesses, and that she did not trust that an increase in income tax would direct money to education.

"I'd favor some type of formula that would make it across the board for everyone, but then, that goes back to sales tax," she said. "I don't know. I'm confused."

Scheurer said he favored completely removing education funding from the property tax rolls, funding education from a progressive tax, such as income tax, "So those who have flourished more have an opportunity to help."

He also addressed the spending side of education, suggesting sweeping changes in the state education system.

"The underlying requirement to qualify for funding would be that students need to be progressing in the basic skills of reading, writing and mathematics," he said.

Scherer said individual parents should be able to choose what kind of school their children attend, and spend their allotted dollars as they wished.

He favors vouchers for choices in public education, but not to shift public financing to private education, unless the school would agree to accept all students, meet state educational standards and take the voucher as the sole payment for the student's tuition.

He saw no conflict with his strong belief in separation of church and state, even if such vouchers were applied to parochial school education.

Police confiscate $25K coke, cannabis

By Julie Murphy

Brian D. Wittchow, 32, of 824 Rinear, was arrested on Oct. 22 after he turned himself in to the Lake County Courthouse, two days after an $80K warrant was issued for his arrest for unlawful possession of a controlled substance with intent to deliver.

Cmdr. Craig Somerville, of the Antioch

Police Department, said, "We received information from the Kenosha County Sheriff's drug unit about controlled substances at this address, and conducted a search on Oct. 7. We found 52 grams of suspected cocaine, about 8 pounds of cannabis, $8,900 cash, an electronic scale, miscellaneous paraphernalia, three rifles and two semi-automatic pistols."

Somerville said Wittchow was in custody at the Kenosha County Sheriff's Office at the time of the search. Wittchow has been charged with the Class X felony of unlawful possession of a controlled substance and three separate charges of the Class 1 felony of unlawful possession of a controlled substance.

Somerville said the street value of the drugs is at least $25K.

A class X felony can carry a sentence of 6-30 years upon conviction.

Financial discrepancy carried forward, not linked to fiscal year

By Julie Murphy
Staff Reporter

Trisha Steele, the Village of Antioch's financial director, said it took one three-hour conversation with Doug Taveirne, auditor of fiscal year 2002-03, to determine that the $2.9 million discrepancy for 2003-04 was carried forward.

Steele said, "The community should be relieved that we've found the discrepancy. The source of the discrepancy is the posting balances of the previous year. I spent three hours with Mr. Taveirne and am confident that this is the source."

She said she didn't know a lot about the village's accounting program and computer system, but said she did know that the system makes one-sided entries when asked to close the month.

Steele said there are still issues which the village must address, such as compensated absences and internal inter-fund transfers and loans, for it to be able to move forward without concern.

Trustee Bob Caulfield, financial chair, said his reasons for fighting so hard to look back at the village's financial situation is because of the process that allowed for two incomplete audits at the time he was elected to office.

He said, "My opinion is that the $3 million is just on symptom of bigger problems." Caulfield also said that the board limiting the scope of investigation "could have delayed us getting to this point."

Mayor Taso Maravelas said, "Some of the trustees were here 10 years ago (including him 1995-99), and they're embarrassed about it."

Trustee Scott Pierce said he likens the situation to President George Bush's search for weapons of mass

Footlights offers over-21 fun

By Julie Murphy
Staff Reporter

Footlights, the largest fund-raiser to benefit St. Peter School, will take place one weekend this year: Friday and Saturday, Nov. 5-6. This is the 23rd annual event and promises to live up to those that have come before.

"We're reinforcing the walls for all the fun we're going to have," said Rod Polich, publicity chair.

The event offers plenty of bang for the buck with several different themed rooms of food and entertainment for a mere $10 in advance, or $12 at the door, though the cost of food and libation is extra.

"There will be three musical performances going on at once," Polich said.

The main musical feature, 215 West, is no newcomer to Footlights. The band will play a variety of music from the 40s through Motown.

Polich said, "We have a new comedian this year, Paul Kelly. He's performed at many larger venues and we're excited to have him."

New this year, Black Jack and Diamond Jim's is Antioch's oldest established casino (license #CG17) will be open from 6 p.m.-midnight, an hour earlier than previous years. The sports bar will be back as well.

In addition to this being the second year the event is being held over one weekend, this is the second year that it is entirely smoke-free.

Other returning traditions include the Lip Sync room that always attracts a variety of local celebrities (at least they are celebrities by the time they leave) and the PM&L Presents... room. Additionally there is a Karaoke Room and The Tuck Tuck Pence Experience will perform as a one-man show featuring the rockabilly style of groups like the Allman Brothers.

Appetites of all sizes and desires can be met at Joanne's Sidewalk Café that will serve full meals in addition to other offerings. Seventh-grade teacher Thomas Tukesbrey and the Bivouacs will perform from 9 p.m. - midnight at the café.

The sports bar will offer hot dogs and beef sandwiches, and pizza will be available.

Tickets may be purchased in advance from the First National Bank-Employee Owned, State Bank of The Lakes, St. Peter School, St. Peter Rectory, Ipsen American Family Insurance and Realty World-Tiffany or online at www.placeadd.com/footlights. For more information, call 847-395-7333.

Chiefs stress Halloween safety

Antioch's fire department Chief Dennis Volling and police department Chief Chuck Fagan have both issued statements with tips that stress safety on Halloween. Trick or treat hours are 3-6 p.m. on Sunday, Oct. 31.

Volling said, "A child's excitement over dressing up, or going out with friends to trick or treat, can cause both the parents and the children to forget some very important safety tips."

With that, the Antioch Fire Department released the following tips regarding costume safety: help children pick out costumes that are safe, and include proper openings in a mask to allow for use of peripheral vision; costumes should be highly visible and should include a reflective vest or safety strobe, both of which can easily be found at local hardware or fitness stores; costumes that require the use of a prop, such as a sword, should only use props that are made of a material that will bend under pressure in event of a fall.

Additionally, the fire department asks that lit jack-o-lanterns be kept away from areas where children's costumes could accidentally catch on fire.

Both Voling and Fagan asked parents to remind their children not to talk to strangers, and never get into a car with a stranger, as well as to use care in crossing roads and to use sidewalks when possible. Ideally, parents should accompany their children while trick or treating.

When that is not possible, Fagan made the following recommendations: encourage children to stay together in a group, because there is safety in numbers; know the places and routes children are to use; determine a return time; and instruct children to approach only those houses that are illuminated with the appearance of being home.

Additionally, Fagan said, "Never consume the candy you have accumulated until it is checked by a parent."

The non-emergency phone number of the Antioch Fire Department is 847-395-5511. The non-emergency phone number of the Antioch Police Department is 847-395-8585. Suspicious activity should be reported to 9-1-1.

Diane Powers, one of ShareFest's best volunteers, reported that 700 fellow volunteers accomplished an amazing amount during the ShareFest Village event at the beginning of the month.

She said 64 posts were installed to extend the boardwalk by 130 feet at the Brook Memorial Wetland. "It sure is a great place for schools to use for science field trips, don't you think?"

If you have interesting information or anecdotes to submit for "Our Town" call staff reporter Julie Murphy at 847-223-8161, ext. 600 or e-mail, moorjie@ix.netcom.com.

Committee proposes honors changes

By Julie Murphy
Staff Reporter

What constitutes honors status at Community High School District 117 will be changing over the next couple of years. Students graduating in 2005 need not worry that last spring's PSAT (Prairie State Achievement Exam) test will hinder their graduation status, as the board of education reversed a prior decision to link the test to honors standing.

With the controversy that surrounded that decision, Superintendent Jay Sabatino created a panel made up of two board members, a group of teachers from each of the two high schools, parents and students, about 20 in all, to redefine what it will mean to be an honors student and the criteria for graduating with honors.

The board of education heard the committee's recommendations and is expected to approve that recommendation at its next meeting on Nov. 4 at 7 p.m. at the Antioch campus.

Sabatino said the committee decided not to link honors status to "volunteer work" such as taking advanced placement classes or extra-curricular activities, or to a test score.

"The committee is leaving the high honors grade point average at 4.0, but students will have to do better than 3.0 for low honors in the coming years," he said.

There will be no change in the requirement for juniors of the 2004-05 school year. This year's sophomores will have to maintain a 3.2 grade point average to graduate with honors, while this year's freshman class will have to maintain a 3.4 grade point average.

The 2005-06 freshman class will have to maintain a 3.6 grade point average to graduate with honors. The grade point average to achieve low honors will remain at 3.6 from that point.

Sabatino said, "This won't be formally adopted until next week. This seems like a fair way to transition in the changes."

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Praises for Billie

I had to write this letter and sing the praises of our wonderful town of Antioch - and in this case more specifically the praises of Billie Horton who organized the first Antioch Octoberfest. What a wonderful exciting event it was. It started at noon on Saturday, Oct. 9, and there was continuous fun activities scheduled until 10 p.m. There was music, delicious food, and a lot of laughter and conversation being enjoyed by both the young and older generations. If I had to pick my favorite event it would be the dachshund race. Makes a person want to rush out and purchase one of those special little dogs. They did a great job and were too precious for words.

I think of all the work and planning put forth in hosting a holiday dinner—or a child's birthday party. Multiply that work 1,000 times over when it comes to organizing a fun event for the entire town and I think everyone will agree that Billie Horton deserves a huge hip, hip, hurray. Great job Billie. Realizing she didn't do it all alone, great job and a big thank you to all those involved. See you all next year—same time same place—and I'm training my little Yorkie to enter the race - of course I'll dress him up like a weiner dog.

Robert L. Goebel, 21 of 52 Ernest, Fox Lake, was arrested on warrant on Oct. 22 at 1:12 a.m. at the intersection of routes 173 and 59.

He was a passenger in the car of David R. Harmann, arrested for DUI. Goebel was also reported to have been "highly intoxicated."

A check of his identifiers through LEADS/NCIC came back that he had an active warrant in the amount of $22K through Lake County for failure to appear.

Suspended driver's license

Agim Jasaroski, 38, of 2415 Nicholson, Milwaukee, was arrested for driving while suspended on Oct. 25 at 1:23 p.m. on Route 173 at Deep Lake Road.

He was stopped for having no front registration plate. A check of his identifiers through LEADS came back with information that his driver's license was suspended.

Jasaroski was arrested and issued citations for driving while suspended and no front registration. He was released on personal recognizance pending his Nov. 24 court date.

James P. Morey, Jr., 20, of 1101 N. Sheridan, Waukegan, was arrested for driving while suspended on Oct. 21 at 11:17 p.m. on Main at First Street.

He was stopped because of a burned out headlamp. A check of his identifiers through LEADS/NCIC came back with information that his driver's license was suspended.

Morey was arrested and issued citations for improper lighting and driving while suspended, and released on personal recognizance pending his Nov. 24 court date.

LAKE VILLA

Theft

Ricky L. Pagan, 34, of 2855 S. Apple St., Waukegan, was arrested by Lake Villa Police and charged with theft of some sweatshirts from Lakes Community High School. Pagan, who was a maintenance worker in the school, was charged after a police investigation using surveillance videotapes showing the suspect's unauthorized presence in the girl's physical education department. The school's director of security and maintenance said that usually female personnel were assigned to clean the girl's area. There was no reason for Pagan to be there. Pagan admitted taking one shirt, but videotaped images suggest he might have taken more than one.

A separate theft of $15 in cash and master keys was reported on Oct. 12. That theft is still under investigation.

Pagan was fired from his position, and after arrest, was released in his own recognizance, pending an appearance in Grayslake Branch III court, on Nov 10, at 3 p.m.

Warrant arrest

Coree R. Garrison, 36, of 2018 Kristan Ave., N. Chicago, was arrested by Lake Villa Police on Oct. 13, at 7:53 a.m., while driving westbound on Route 132 near Route 83. Police observed a cracked windshield on her 1988 red four-door Buick. Garrison was wanted on a warrant for failure to appear on charges of forgery and possession of a controlled substance. She was unable to post 10 percent of the $75,000 bond, and was turned over to Lake County Jail.

Deceptive practices

Antoinette Breaux-Handy, 34, of 323 Meadowgreen Lane, Round Lake Beach, was contacted by Lake Villa Police requesting that she turn herself in on a $20,000 warrant for her arrest on charges of deceptive practices (class A). She is accused of writing four checks on a closed account to pay for food from Pizza 911.

Hit and run

A 34-year-old Antioch school bus driver reported to Lake Villa Police that the bus was struck by a black or dark blue sports car at about 8:30 a.m. on Oct. 10, on Grass Lake Road near the railroad tracks. The woman said she was driving the empty school bus when the sports car drove into her lane, striking the bus on the front driver's side.

LINDENHURST

Aggravated assault

Frank M. Cavalier, 19, of 434 Rosewood Crossing, Lindenhurst, was arrested by Lindenhurst Police on Oct. 22, at 7:50 p.m., at his home, following a traffic altercation. Police came to the address in response to a "dispute in progress." Cavalier was yelling at the complainant, a 34-year-old male. Cavalier said the complainant followed him home. The complainant told police Cavalier threatened him with a tire iron and said he was going to get a gun and kill him. Cavalier told police his girlfriend was driving, but later admitted he lied because he knew his license was suspended. He was charged with aggravated assault, resisting a police officer, driving with a suspended license and reckless driving. He was released on a $2,000 bond, pending an appearance in Waukegan courtroom C-405, on Nov. 9, at 9 a.m.

Up, up and away...

Question: what's better than 300 kids holding balloons? Answer: one balloon holding 300 kids.

It was a colorful and unusual sight, as Thompson School's 650 students in grades K-6 split into two groups to take turns sitting inside a partially inflated hot-air balloon.

It was the kick-off for a new program called "Let reading take you to new heights," designed to encourage children to read a few minutes each day.

The balloon, provided by Mark Kennedy, the balloon's owner and pilot, puffed up with cold air from large fans, served as a tent. There, the students heard Kennedy talk about balloons and heard his associate, writer and teacher Gordon Schwontkowski, relate reading to aviation and the history of the hot-air balloon.

Schwontkowski's sister, Mary Jo, a music teacher at the school, led the students in a rendition of "Up, Up and Away (in my beautiful balloon)."

The students will be embarking on a virtual trip around the world, getting credit for one mile for every minute spent reading.

The aggregate number of hours of reading will take the student body "around the world."

Principal Alex Barbour and Assistant Principal Sandra Keim got the balloon "launched" with three minutes of reading, while they stood in the balloon's basket.

"Each of 250 cinderblocks circling the school is counted as 100 miles," Barbour said. "The goal is to get one balloon in each block. Each balloon equals 100 minutes of reading accumulated by the students."

Barbour said the goal was to complete the program by February, in effect, going "around the world in 80 days."

He was arrested and issued a citation for DUI. A Breathalyzer test came back with a .113 blood alcohol concentration. Hanson was issued additional citations for improper parking or DUI over .08. He was released on personal recognizance pending his Dec. 7 court date.

THIS WEEK: FANCY CUISINE

Chic eateries

Luscious offerings
equal taste appeal

By Julie Murphy, Kyle Schmitt and Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporters

Though the restaurant business is said to be one of the toughest, the luscious offerings that create a feast to feed all the senses proves to be a winning combination.

Open less than one month, Infini-tea in Antioch plans to outlive its name with its indefinitely great number of teas and blends and a menu that supports lunch and early dinners on Thursday and Friday, as well as breakfast on Saturday. The Royal Treatment, afternoon tea, is a given, but reservations are "strongly recommended." The deluxe, though budget-priced, service may be limited, and includes a two-cup pot of tea, a cup of soup, European-style scone and condiment, finger sandwiches and pastries for $15.95 per person.

Owner Lorrie Ferguson said, "I want this to be a place where you feel special. Everything in life is too fast-paced. I want my customers to feel like they had an event and not just something to eat."

This is not to say that those who do just want something to eat are going to be disappointed. Everyday there are specials that include a featured homemade bread, a vegetarian quiche as well as one with meat, two soups (with the same philosophy of one vegetarian) and featured non-tea beverages of HaChaCha hot chocolate and a flavored coffee. Specials are planned a week in advance so the restaurant's new regulars don't miss their favorites.

Regular menu items include pastries, breads, salads, sandwiches, soup, salad, sandwich combos and Winslow scones. The scones are made by Ferguson's partner Kenelm Scheske.

"These scones are true to English, European tradition," Ferguson said. "They are smaller, more like a biscuit, and they are served with clotted cream and preserves."

Adding to Infini-tea's uniqueness are tables set with non-matching silver and individual and antique teacups, saucers and chairs.

She said, "When I placed my ad for a chef, I said I wanted someone who's an artist. I found it in Christine Keller who moved here from Palatine. She makes all of our breads, and Becky Ryals makes our quiche."

Nothing is grilled or fried at Infini-tea, and the regular hours are somewhat limited. Hours are 11 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Tuesdays and Wednesdays, 11 a.m. - 8:30 p.m. on Thursdays and Fridays and from 8 a.m. - 5 p.m. on Saturday.

Ferguson said shortened hours allow the establishment to host special events such as showers and private parties.

"We had the Girl Scouts in here last week to teach them about etiquette," she said. "It was a really nice experience we taught them about service and how to fold napkins."

To make reservations, call 847-395-3520. Special events and additional information is posted on the Web site www.infini-tea.net.

Marilynn Eccles recently celebrated her 20th anniversary as owner of Madison Avenue Restaurant in Waukegan. This marks an admirable period of service, but equates to only a fraction of the time that the downtown institution has served the public.

Established in the 1890s, Madison Avenue plays host to numerous civic groups who use its Sheridan Road-level banquet room, and customers who have made it a popular dinner destination for decades.

Homemade cheese ravioli in a primavera sauce made by Chef Joshua Richardson at DiSalvo's in Mundelein.

Ferguson said, "All the details add up. I came from corporate America, and I wanted the atmosphere to be what I wanted it to be. I used to travel 800-1,200 miles per week, and I knew what I was looking for and what I had trouble finding."

In addition to taste, presentation is one of the details that adds up to perfection in Ferguson's book.

Chef Joshua Richardson, co-owner of DiSalvo's in Mundelein, removes Spidini, a type of Italian shish kabob, from the oven. The restaurant is located at 161 N. Seymour.

The regulars are plentiful in number and loyalty. Eccles said, "That's wonderful that we have that kind of following. Once people get in here, they almost always come back."

Madison Avenue's tagline is, "The only thing we overlook is the lake," as the restaurant's position on a bluff overlooks the harbor. The second story's east wall allows diners to peer out onto the waterfront, and customers usually request a table presenting that view.

The restaurant offers two dining rooms and several banquet rooms, with a lounge located on the second floor. A full-service bar offering more than 40 beers draws substantial business on the weekend.

Renowned for its prime rib, Madison Avenue offers a Tuesday special that provides customers with the steak, choice of potato and soup or salad for $9.95. Chicken, fish and pasta dishes remain popular, and entrees range from $11.95 to $59.95 for a 16-ounce lobster tail.

Daily specials are offered, such as filet mignon and a six-ounce lobster tail for $44.95. A children's menu includes items such as hamburgers, grilled-cheese sandwiches and a half-slab of ribs.

Art pieces donated each month by the Lake County Art League add to the ambiance, and Eccles has placed photographs depicting city sights from the 1920s to 1940s to enrich the already-historical environment.

As the Genesee Theatre re-opens and other revitalization efforts bring residents downtown, Eccles looks forward to gaining new customers, in addition to keeping her devoted mainstays. "That's going to help us immensely," she said.

Madison Avenue offers lunch from 11 a.m. - 4 p.m. Monday through Friday. The restaurant is open for dinner-time patrons from 4-10 p.m., Monday through Thursday, and from 4-11 p.m. on Friday. Hours are 4-11 p.m. on Saturdays and 2-9 p.m. on Sundays.

Madison Avenue's phone number is 847-662-6090.

Dave and Aingeal Richardson chose to decorate DiSalvo's Italian Bistro in Mundelein, with family photos when it opened less than a year ago. The restaurant is named after Dave's grandmother, which is appropriate since he uses her authentic Italian recipes as the restaurant's staples. The photographs on the wall, some dating back to the turn of the 19th century, are old family photos. In fact, a wedding picture of his great-grandparents looks like it was taken right out of the movie, "Godfather," Dave said.

Despite its relative newness, to eat dinner there on a weekend, one better make reservations.

Staying true to his grandmother's recipes, Dave makes everything from scratch, on the premises. He's a flexible chef and will cater to requests, with the most difficult so far being for an entrée to be cooked without garlic.

"Nothing is pre-made. I love cooking for people and watching their expressions as they eat," he said. "It's not a quick in-and-out because everything is homemade, but people can call ahead and pre-order."

For those who don't want to go out, Dave is more than willing to deliver anything from his menu and has drivers ready to go. He will also cater events.

The family restaurant is somewhat casual during the week, but the white linen tablecloths make for a slightly fancier ambiance on the weekends. If the timing is good, some lucky customers might even be treated to unscheduled live music from Aingeal or Dave's Aunt Lisa.

For those who would like to have a drink with dinner, that's available as well.

"My signature entrée is Spidini, which looks like Sicilian shish-ke-bob," Dave said. It is made with pork, chicken or steak, which is lightly breaded, rolled up and skewered along with peppers, onions and mushrooms. It's served with Sicilian green beans, and includes soup, salad and bread. Dinner entrees cost about $16.95, with the occasional shrimp dish that might cost up to $20.

Respected clergyman visits church

John Stott, chaplain to Queen Elizabeth for over 32 years, will speak at the Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church on Sunday, Nov. 7 at 11 a.m.

In addition to his service to Queen Elizabeth, Stott was the pastor of All Souls Church in London, and has reportedly been referred to by Billy Graham as being "the most respected evangelical clergyman of the world today."

Stott has authored more than 45 books including "Basic Christianity" and "The Cross of Christ and the Contemporary Christian," as well as his newest title "Why I Am a Christian." The latter is said to be a compelling, persuasive case for considering the Christian faith.

For 25 years, Stott has conducted missions in a number of universities in Britain, North America, Australia, New Zealand, Africa and Asia.

Side interests include bird watching and photography. He said he has seen about 2,500 of the world's 9K species and wrote the book "The Birds Our Teachers," which is illustrated with his own photographs.

Chain of Lakes Community Bible Church will have closed circuit viewing in the gym to handle overflow. The church is located at 43 W. Grass Lake Road, Lake Villa.

FINANCES destruction in Iraq.

He said, "I'm a big Bush supporter, but in this case he's gone on and on about there's a problem, there's a problem, there's a problem until every report says there was no problem. This (the financial discrepancy) took one conversation of a couple of hours to resolve, the one Trisha Steele had with Mr. Taveirne, and yet we've spent months and a ton of money trying to get accomplished what she did in a couple of hours. I would like to know what the final tally is, what this cost taxpayers."

The 2002-03 audit was sent back to Taveirne by the village and Taveirne's bill had never been paid, a problem acknowledged by the accounting firm Manning Silverman in its reports to the village board earlier this year.

Caulfield released the information about the discrepancy in a news release prior to informing the rest of the board about the situation. Additionally, resident and trustee candidate Jim Parks had the information prior to the board and addressed it during public comment.

Pierce responded that individual board members had disagreed about how to approach a resolution to the village's financial woes, but that all board members want see the village on solid financial turf. "It's reprehensible that a resident has this information before the rest of the board," he said.

Caulfield said he often reads information in the newspapers before board members present him with it and would not apologize for releasing the information.

After the meeting, Trustee Barbara Porch said, "I do commend Trisha Steele for reopening communication with Mr. Taveirne, but I am shocked at Bob Caulfield's unprofessional behavior. For we, as trustees, to do the best job we can, we need communication. He does the village a disservice when he does this. Not only did the media know, but residents knew."

Administrator Alan Probst said there is still a lot of work that needs to be done, including better record keeping, and he and village staff are busying themselves with those tasks. Steele added that she needed to have a good picture of the village's history so she could appropriately answer questions when asked.

Probst said, "Bottom line: the sky looks a little bluer now. We've been adding new staff and hopefully by the end of the year new software will be implemented. We're better able to fix the things that need work."

The Lake Villa Timberwolves Peeewe Red and Peeewe Black teams square off in a game last weekend.

LAKE VILLA TIMBERWOLVES ROUNDUP

PEEWEE RED VS. PEEWEE BLACK

In a battle of two unbeaten Lake Villa Peeewe teams, Peeewe Red edged Peeewe Black in a game that will be remembered by many who witnessed it as "the Mud Bowl".

Heavy rains on Friday night left the field very soggy and contributed to a defensive struggle by two strong teams that ended 12-7. Peeewe Red drew first blood with a 65-yard return for touchdown of the opening kickoff by Justin Bergeron.

Peeewe Black's defense stopped the following PAT.

The first half saw little offense and solid defensive play by both teams.

In a strange twist, Evan McCollum of Peeewe Black ran the second half kickoff back 65 yards for a touchdown. Peeewe Black also managed to push across the extra point.

The score stayed at 7-6 until the fourth quarter when the Peeewe Red defense stopped the Black squad near mid-field and took over on downs. The Peeewe Red offense engineered a 55-yard scoring yard drive capped by a 2-yard touchdown run by Eric Metzelaar with 1:13 remaining.

The second PAT attempt of the day also failed. Peeewe Red's defense held off a last second drive by Black as time expired.

Featherweight Black Team

The Saturday Featherweight Black team (6-1) finished their 2004 regular season campaign with a 27-0 win over the McHenry Warriors.

The Wolves' offense opened the scoring on their very first possession, when Mike Hough took a handoff 60 yards untouched, thanks to the great blocking by the offensive line. Jamie Schmidt added the PAT on a tough run up the middle

On the Warriors' next possession they were driving down field, when Hough intercepted a pass, thanks to an awesome rush by the defense, and ran 55 yards to pay dirt. Schmidt added the PAT.

The offense added six more points in the 2nd quarter when Isaac Kadera ran to the left 35 yards breaking a couple tackles, George Gonzales added the PAT.

The defense again was stellar holding the Warriors to zero points for the second time this year. The Wolves added their final score, when Hough returned the opening kick off of the second half 65 yards.

the large number of her constituents who educate their children in religious schools.

"They have taken some of the burden away from the state by educating their children in private schools," she said.

While some might see the home-schooling movement as relieving some of the burden for public education, Scheurer said that under his plan, even homeschoolers would be able to access public funding for education, as long as they could prove they met the state standards.

Osmond reiterated her stance that more control needs to be exercised on the spending side.

"I put the burden on the school boards, because they are supposed to be the watchdogs of how money is spent in their district," Osmond said. "They have to be educated, too, on how to spend those funds. They are going by what is told to them by a superintendent or a principal."

"They have attempted to educate the thought process to one angle: educate, educate, educate," she said. "But the children have to be accountable for what they have learned."

"I get the impression from some of them around here that they are all into bricks and mortar and how wonderful the building can be," she said.

Osmond labeled teachers as "handicapped" by dictates of school boards and "unfunded mandates" from the legislature.

"One superintendent told me the school district would get $90,000 from the federal government (if he followed the mandates of the 'No child left behind' program)," Osmond said. "But it would cost the district $126,000 to follow through with all the paperwork."

She said she thought the original idea was good, but "it got distorted."

Scheurer said the program was based on the same idea that he had, to allow funding based on meeting educational requirements, but that it was "inefficient when overlaid on the existing bureaucracy."

A local witch explains the true meaning of Halloween

By BRENDA BALIN
Staff Reporter

Everyone knows what witches look like. They are ugly old women, who fly through the night on broomsticks.

Adam Holtzinger, owner of At Sacred Earth, a shop in Antioch that caters to "Pagan, Wiccan and Metaphysical needs" (according to his business card), is a witch.

He's also a young, attractive male and a vegetarian who believes interfering with free will is wrong. And he gets from place to place in a car.

His shop is warm and inviting, redolent with incense, with "new age" music playing softly in the background. One wall is decorated with a pentagram, a five-pointed star. The shelves are loaded with crystals, colored candles, various herbs, books and figurines of everything from fairies and angels to gargoyles.

Noting the store functions in part as a gift shop, Holtzinger admitted some of the items cater not to true witches, but to "Goth kids" and "new age" people.

Holtzinger took some time on a quiet Sunday morning, in-between offering advice to customers on crystals and incense, to dispel some Halloween myths.

WHAT IS A WITCH?

"A witch is a person who practices the craft," Holtzinger said. "The craft" is a set of rituals followed by Wiccans.

The practice of Wicca as a religion developed in the United Kingdom in the mid-1900s. It flourishes primarily in English-speaking countries. The person most credited with the emergence of Wicca is Gerald B. Gardner, a British civil servant.

The name Wicca is derived from the Germanic root wic, meaning to bend or to turn. By using magic, a witch is believed to change or bend events. The word witch can be applied to a man or a woman.

Wicca is a re-creation of Pagan, folk, and magical rites. Its primary sources are Babylonian, Celtic, Egyptian, ancient Greek, Roman and Sumerian mythologies and rites. Wicca also borrows from other religions and mythologies, including Buddhism, Hinduism and the rites of American Indians.

Modern Witches practice magic, both for spell casting and as a path of spiritual growth. Magic for spiritual growth is called high magic and is aimed at connecting a person to God or Goddess on a soul level.

The rituals typically associated with Halloween fall into the category of high magic.

ARE WICCANS SATANISTS?

Wiccans are often confused with Satanists.

"Satan is a Christian concept," Holtzinger said. "In fact, the word 'Satan' means an adversary. It is not so much a name as a job description." He noted that Lucifer, another popular name for the devil, was the name of an Etruscan sun god.

Because Satan is often depicted with horns, the Pagan horned god makes many Christians uncomfortable.

"The horned god relates to nature and animals," Holtzinger said. "The devil as an evil entity is not a concept embraced by Wiccans."

WHAT IS HALLOWEEN?

Halloween, as we know it today, is a mish-mash of ancient and Christian beliefs, overlaid with modern secular consumerism.

While Christians call the day "All Hallows' Eve" and relate it to Nov. 1, "All Saints Day," the origins pre-date Christianity by many centuries.

The Celtic name for Halloween is Samhain (pronounced "SOW-in"). Pagan rites are tied to the cycles of the moon, which is the symbol of the power of the Goddess, and to the seasons of the year. Religious holidays are called sabbats. There are four major sabbats: Imbolc (February 1), Beltane (April 30), Lughnasadh or Lammas (July 31), and Samhain (October 31). These come in-between the four seasons: Yule (winter solstice), Eastre (spring equinox), Litha (summer solstice) and Mabon (autumnal equinox).

Samhain is the third harvest celebration (after Lughnasadh and Mabon).

WHAT DO THE HALLOWEEN SYMBOLS MEAN?

Holtzinger explained many of the symbols typically associated with Halloween.

DISPELLING MYTHS

Ghosts: "It is believed that during Samhain, the veil separating the living and the dead becomes thin," Holtzinger said. Souls of the recently dead are believed to walk among the living at this time.

Jack o' lanterns: Pumpkins are a symbol of the harvest. "In Europe, where there were no pumpkins, people used turnips as Jack o' lanterns," Holtzinger said. The face carved on the pumpkin was thought to frighten away evil spirits. Ancient practice involved blessing and burying fruits such as apples and pomegranates, to nourish the souls of the dead.

Cauldrons: These represent the "womb goddess" and are another symbol of the life cycle.

Black and orange: Traditionally, the colors were black and red. "I don't know why it changed to orange," Holtzinger said. He explained that black symbolizes the growing length of the nights approaching the winter solstice, and red symbolized life (blood).

"This is an acknowledgement that animals shed their blood so we can survive the winter," he said.

Holtzinger, himself a vegetarian, said another misunderstanding concerns the use of daggers during Sabbats.

"The Athame ('witch's dagger') is never used to cut anything," he said. "It is used to direct energy and to banish unwanted spirits."

Although he noted that animal sacrifice was a part of nearly every ancient religion, and are frequently mentioned in the Bible, such sacrifices are not a part of Wiccan practice.

Skulls: "This symbolizes that we are not fearful of death, but that it is part of the natural cycle of birth, death and re-birth," Holtzinger said.

Costumes: "People used to dress up. They called it 'guising' to blend in with the spirits (believed to be walking about during Samhain)," Holtzinger said. "They would wear white shrouds, to try to appear to be one of the dead, because they feared they might be taken back across the veil (separating life and death), when it closed again."

Trick or treat: This custom was tied into both "guising" and sharing the harvest. "It was a way to appease the spirits (by offering sweets to them), but it was also a way to feed the homeless and poor without making them feel shame," Holtzinger said. No one would appear to be a beggar on a night when everyone was begging for things to eat.

Witches flying on broomsticks: "There was an old fertility ritual of jumping on a broomstick to show how high the crops should grow," Holtzinger said. In oral history, the ritual was distorted and re-interpreted.

Bats: "There are many healing herbs that have folk names based on their resemblance to animals," Holtzinger said. "Bat wing is the folk name for holly leaves."

Similarly, "recipes" that call for "dragon's blood" refer to a tree resin that resembles blood. The word "dandelion" means "tooth of the lion."

Pentagrams: The ancient symbol of the five-pointed star predates Judaism and Christianity. It represents spirit and the four other sacred "elements" of water, fire, air and earth.

"It is an affirmation of life," Holtzinger said.

He noted that Samhain is the last ceremonial day before the winter solstice. Although many people see the shortest day of the year as depressing, Holtzinger sees it differently.

"I look forward to it," he said. "It means the sun is returning."

Holtzinger will be celebrating Samhain on Oct. 31, giving thanks for earth's bounty, and paying respect to the dead.

His sacred duties aside, those who come to him, calling "trick or treat," will be rewarded with candy.

At Sacred Earth is located at 952 Main St., Antioch. The telephone number is 847-838-5694.

Did you hear the one about...

We all love to laugh. But what is it that makes something funny? And why do some people get so mad at something that someone else finds hilarious?

The other day while I was copyediting a news story a co-worker asked, "If a couple gets divorced in Alabama—are they still cousins?"

And I darn near fell out of my seat laughing.

Now I'm not sure why I think that joke is so funny, but I'm sure some folks from Alabama find it offensive. (Especially if he or she is married to a cousin.)

Another of my favorite jokes goes like this: "Why don't Mexicans like cooking out in the backyard?" — Answer—It's because the beans keep falling through the grill.

Now I know some people may find that joke racist or offensive but I don't think it is.

I love the Hispanic people. In fact, I am currently dating a beautiful Mexican woman and I was once married to a woman from Guatemala for about 15 years who gave me a fantastic son.

So don't call me a racist. But I still don't know why I find that joke so funny.

And it is not just jokes that make people laugh.

Sometimes reality is much funnier. For instance, Wayne B. Hill, 29, of Waukegan, was arrested for bank robbery after he threw a bag out of his car window that contained his disguise, the gun he used, and a box of new checks with his name and address on them, in front of some people sitting on their porch. Of course, they opened the bag and called the police and he was eventually arrested.

When I found that out I laughed until I cried.

Now, I'm sure some people don't think that it is funny (especially Wayne Hill) but it sure tickled my funny bone.

Another thing I find funny is that John Kerry is blaming President George W. Bush for the flu vaccine shortage.

Now Bush may or may not be guilty of doing some stupid things the last four years but I am positive he had nothing to do with the vaccine shortage.

Speaking of the flu shortage, it has been reported that the Chicago Bears football players and members of the U.S. Congress have all had a flu shot.

But this I do not think is funny because I never laugh at losers.

And now I can't help but wonder who the biggest losers are.

The big, tough Chicago Bears, or the rich and greedy members of Congress, or the senior citizens and unhealthy Americans—who really need the flu vaccine.

'Inspecting Carol'

While Artistic Director at the Seattle Repertory Theatre, Daniel Sullivan and a group of local artists employed by the Rep collaborated in the creation of Inspecting Carol, using their own theatrical experiences as material. (The title and main concept was taken from Russian author Nikolai Gogol's 1836 one act play, The Inspector General, in which a dim-witted clerk is mistaken for a visiting government authority.) Inspecting Carol premiered at the Seattle Rep. on Dec. 11, 1991, and has been widely produced ever since. This comedy is often described as a holiday fusion of Dickens' A Christmas Carol and Gogol's The Inspector General, with a dash of Noises Off and Waiting For Guffman thrown in for good measure. "A Dickens of a giggle"—The Seattle Times.

Inspecting Carol's plot revolves around a rehearsal for the Soapbox Playhouse's annual fundraising production of A Christmas Carol, a show the equity company has performed so frequently that it allows only four days for rehearsal. Unfortunately, it also has a new cast member who needs a lot more rehearsal time, a not-so-tiny Tiny Tim who has grown substantially since last year's production, and plummeting finances, to name just a few problems. The group learns that a government inspector from the National Endowment for the Arts is about to make a surprise visit to assess the theater's eligibility for funding. After four long days of counterproductive rehearsals, everything that can go wrong does. Cast members are leaving town, actors are forgetting their lines on stage, and sound cues are appearing from nowhere ... even the set self-destructs. The antics continue as the actors rush around in an effort to salvage their floundering production and impress the inspector despite it all. Inspecting Carol is a hysterical spoof filled with wonderful comic characters, mad-cap antics, sight gags and tongue-in-cheek humor.

Performances run from Nov. 5-Dec. 19, 2004. Fridays and Saturdays at 8 p.m. and Sundays at 3 p.m. (except no matinee on 11/7). Tickets are $16 with advanced purchase and $18 at door. Special discounts are given to Senior Citizens (65+), Students w/ ID, Military Personnel and groups. For tickets or further information call 847-433-2660. Attic Playhouse is located at 410 Sheridan Road, Highwood, Illinois.

A sad development

It was a day made for apple picking at Ziegler's Orchard near Grayslake. I found myself slipping out of my usual manic pace, into the soothing, measured rhythm of days gone by: a time when people marked their lives with the changing seasons, and celebrated the harvest with a leisurely picnic under the trees.

For once I let myself wander and observe families there, many from cultures that still value the simple act of living over product consumption. Generations laughed and rested in the shade of the orchard, seemingly less interested in filling their baskets with fruit, than enjoying each other and the fleeting warmth of a fall day.

I even silenced my internal stop-watch long enough to enjoy the sound of crickets, and an unbelievably sweet, crunchy apple plucked from a tree. But suddenly I was reminded that this was the 21st century in Lake County, not a bucolic scene from the past.

A steel fence topped with barbed wire marked one end of Ziegler's property. And beyond that was a barren vista of churned earth and encroaching tract houses.

Being rudely awakened to the present required a panacea, so I went back to Ziegler's gift shop to buy something. Then I discovered a good portion of the shop had been destroyed in a fire the day before.

Fortunately, I found owner Helga Ziegler cheerfully holding court amidst the charred display cases—while a salvaged stuffed snake and plastic Halloween rat stood guard. Here was a woman I wanted to know.

I enjoyed an hour of Helga's company as we talked about everything from God to her experiences over decades of running the orchard with her husband Josef. Surprisingly, Helga was able to maintain her "Gutmütigkeit"—good humor—as she told me how she suspected the fire was caused when a spice rack ignited, "they were Southern spices—and HOT."

During our conversation Helga focused on the best in others—another increasingly rare quality nowadays. Instead of dwelling on her loss, she marveled at the quick response of the Round Lake Fire Department, "the best, most helpful people you can have."

And, with true old-fashioned hospitality, she gave me a tour of her home and garden. I felt as if I were living in a more gracious time as I enjoyed her European flair. But I ran into another sad development as we parted company. Helga's voice was tinged with anger—not about living with the encroaching, high-density housing slated for a "new and improved" Lake County—but about the prospect of the Highway I-53 extension running straight through her home. Hopefully, Helga will survive the present without progress burying her home or sunny fall days in her orchard.

An interesting varietal blend 'Sideways' writers Alexander Payne and Jim Taylor

By George O. Singleton

The writing team of Alexander Payne and Jim Taylor also wrote "Election" and "About Schmidt," both films directed by Payne. They literally use two keyboards attached to one computer. They create and edit in a manner so that the finished product can only be attributed to both. "Election" was a coming of age film set in high school and "About Schmidt" focused on a widower ready to collect Social Security. "Sideways," using wine as a bit of a barometer for life, looks at an age when you realize that half your life is over and you ponder what grade you would give yourself. More importantly, with so much experience under your belt, what will you do differently in the future? Joining Payne and Taylor was Chicago born actress Virginia Madsen, who stars as Maya in the film, to discuss why movie goers will want to see a movie the critics are raving about.

George Singleton: How do two males write roles that are so strong for females?

Alexander Payne: Most of it's in the book (the novel of the same name) and we treat all characters equally. You don't just write about yourself. Virginia adds, "They love women."

GS: Where did the conversation on the metaphor about types of wine, and how they relate to human personalities, come from?

AP: About half from the book, and the rest was written by Jim and me.

GS to Virginia Madsen and AP: In terms of a romantic lead, I was very taken with the relationship between you (Virginia) and Paul Giamatti. Might this be a new type of romantic genre?

AP: Possibly, there is a clarity that Virginia makes to Paul about the importance of living today rather in the past or the future. The ending appears upbeat but there are other options on what one would find when the door is opened that could prove otherwise.

"Sideways" presents interesting characters engaged in a wonderful dialogue about life. It's refreshing to see an adult romantic comedy that is something that everyday people can relate to.

opening this week

Primer: Scientific duo—Aaron (director Shane Carruth) and Abe (David Sullivan), create a mysterious machine that is ultimately beyond control. With the terrifying, promising potential to revolutionize the world as we know it—economically, scientifically, technologically—it harbors an unfathomable power to time travel (from a U-Haul storage space, no less). Provided by Lee Shoquist of Reel Movie Critic. (PG-13)

Saw: A sadistic serial killer is on the loose at the box office, setting up impossibly complex crime scenes, playing cat and mouse with baffled cops and goosing the audience with a final twist that redefines the film. This lurid, over-the-top technical exercise, with top-notch production values and a few genuine thrills, is a featherweight concoction of gore, suspense and moral play. It's operatic in its horror set-ups, and anemic in character and logic. Provided by Lee Shoquist of Reel Movie Critic. (R)

The Genius of Ray Charles

This Ray Charles biopic stars Jamie Foxx, who completely immersed himself in the portrayal of the genius musician, and provides an unvarnished, warts and all, look at the life of a celebrity who to many, had it all—other than the ability to see. Much of his music was rooted in the tragedy of his childhood, and his womanizing and drug abuse over an extended period of years.

Flashbacks to his childhood reveal the strength of Ray's mother, Aretha (with a sparkling debut performance by Sharon Warren), as she struggles with the accidental death of Ray's little brother. As the grief stricken young Ray tries to adjust to his impending blindness, a key transformation scene plays out.

Sixteen-year-old Ray Charles hits the road and learns how to create music, develop a business sense as he gets ripped off by supposed friends and lovers, in addition to falling into drugs as a way to pass the time on the chitlin circuit (black clubs in the south). After he meets Della Bea (a heartwarming performance from Kerry Washington), he becomes a husband and father. His weakness for female companionship leads to too many affairs to count, 12 children and the inspiration for many of his best songs, such as "I Got a Woman,"

Jamie Foxx as American legend Ray Charles and Aunjanue Ellis as vocalist Mary Ann Fisher in the musical biographical drama, "Ray."—Photos by Nicola Goode

"Mary Ann," and "Born to Lose."

A solid story, across the board fine acting, along with high production values and great music make this an exceptional film. Regina King as Margie Hendricks, defines what background singers can bring to a performance. Last year's film "The Girl with a Pearl Earring" examined the intuitive process of creating a painting. This film does a magnificent job of capturing the spirit of making music, to the extent that you get an epiphany and say, "Now I know what that song really means."

Pam's Take: Two impressions remain in my mind; the strength of the women in Ray's life and the overwhelming sense of loss he felt from his brother's death. Maybe that's why he saw clearly the emotions in the music.

Jamie Foxx comes across as the embodiment of Ray Charles rather than an impersonation. Our sense is that the film is gaining momentum and may actually exceed the studio hype. For any Ray Charles fan, this is a must see film.

An eerily haunting flow

This film reaches out and grabs you, much like a sudden undertow. Director David Gordon Green's other critically acclaimed features, "George Washington" and "All the Real Girls," offered the languid, poetic landscape and language of the South. "Undertow" carries you through rip tides of emotion, along sweltering dirt roads and causes you to break a sweat.

Following the unexpected return of their Uncle Deel, recently released from prison, brothers Chris and Tim Munn are faced with a horrifying reality. Their father John is dead, and 16-year-old Chris could turn out to be the main suspect in the murder. Chris has been in scrapes with the law for a while now, and his father is tired of bailing him out.

The boys take off from their dirt-poor farm, leaving Deel for dead. They carry with them a terrifying truth, and a treasure of sorts. Dusty Georgia roads lead them toward Watertown, down the coast, where Chris wants to work on the docks, and they hope to find their grandfather. Chris is certain that the law is after them and they soon learn that Deel is doggedly hunting them as well.

This closely woven tale of two generations of brothers, each holding a carefully guarded secret, is dense with the texture of circumstance. The simple yet complex circumstance of one's birth is central. So, too, is how we choose to present ourselves to the world; what do we hold back or try to take from those people or elements around us? Even young Tim, played with gut wrenching intensity by 13-year-old Devon Alan, conceals the true nature of his illness, which is diagnosed as an anxiety disorder.

Tim Orr's fine cinematography again takes us to a littered bucolic setting, with hard scrap metal edges, as he did in Green's "George Washington" and "All the Real Girls." Populated with flawed human beings, photographed close-up and close in, the shades of gray of their personalities show. Shot in revealing color, with only an occasional stark, and appropriate, take in black and white, Orr's visuals compliment the story completely.

Water is often regarded as having rejuvenating and healing properties. When you are caught in an undertow, its swift, deadly powers are evident.

All the world's her stage

Julia (Annette Bening) is a famous stage actress in 1930s London, who theoretically is at the top of her game, yet she knows she's only going through the motions. Her business manager and husband, Michael (Jeremy Irons) is far less concerned about their personal relationship than of the theater being dark if she takes a vacation. Dolly (Miriam Margolyes), a major investor appears to have multiple objectives, as she has a knack for arriving to have a heart to heart, whenever Julia is having a massage. Her personal assistant Evie (Juliet Stevenson) and confidante is like a chief of staff, constantly protecting Julia, whether from the likes of Dolly, or intruders that might want to interrupt a backstage quickie with Tom (Shaun Evans).

Tom is a brash, young American "user," somewhat like the Matt Damon character in "The Talented Mr. Ripley." Michael naively introduces him to Julia and Tom quickly attaches himself to her, which was obviously his plan from the start. Tom does the "Hello, I've seen your play three times, I adore you" routine, and Julia is ready and willing to visit his cramped garret and fall into his crumpled bed. Being sexually pursued by someone young enough to be her son is just what Julia's ego and body needed. When Tom falls for aspiring, young actress Avic (Lucy Punch), Julia is more than a little jealous. No stranger to intrigues, however, Julia knows how to take her hurt feelings in stride. Prior to Tom, Julia was often seen with Lord Charles (Bruce Greenwood) and just when she thinks its time to take their relationship to the next level, she learns something about Charles that places her on a path to fully examine herself.

By this time, Avic has seduced Michael and turned Tom into an emotional wreck. She is an actress who is prepared to willingly sleep her way to the top. While Bening's performance is brilliant, building to an onstage tour de force, newcomer Lucy Punch breathes life into her role as Avic with her wonderful ability to play a bad actress. Avic has some talent yet her mind is turned upside down when she realizes that surviving in the legitimate theater takes more than delivering your lines on cue.

In our recent interview with director Istvan Szabo, he said, "Everyone wears a mask. We present ourselves to most people as we would like to be viewed, rather than revealing our true feelings." Just what would people think if we were not so political? When Julia expresses on stage who she really is she earns a standing ovation—from the audience for her stellar performance, and from her son and dear friends for purely and simply being Julia.

County Board members question clerk's finances

By Jeff Zachary

Staff Reporter

Three Lake County Board members Robert Sabonjian (D-Waukegan), Audrey Nixon (D-North Chicago) and Carol Spielman (D-Highland Park) held a round table discussion with reporters at the courthouse to discuss an e-mail exchange between Circuit Court employees that imply there are two sets of audit reports kept by Sally Coffelt, Clerk of the Circuit Court.

Sabonjian said the e-mails were faxed to him by a person who he refused to identify.

In an email to Chief Deputy Circuit Court Clerk Barbara Iwanski dated Jan. 31, 2002, Mary E. Michael, an employee at the time, wrote, "I do not buy the line by Sally (Coffelt) that she can put anything she wants into the audit report."

In a return email by Iwanski dated Feb. 1, 2002, she wrote, "As you know I have already spoken with her. Unfortunately the audit reports can be changed by her and have been. I have copies of originals and also the revised ones."

Spielman expressed concern about the e-mails and that the budget numbers that Coffelt is presenting to the county board may be incorrect.

"Why would I change the audits? It's hard enough running this office without people making stupid accusations."

Sally Coffelt
Lake County Circuit Court Clerk

"We are going to be passing the county budget in a couple of weeks. And it would be a real disappointment if we were to find out that these figures are not reliable," Spielman said. "We sure don't want anything that is really gross mismanagement of funds."

Nixon agreed with Spielman. "We just want to make sure that we are doing the right thing when we vote on a budget. We are accountable to the citizens of Lake County and they depend on us for accuracy and I depend on the person who is presenting the budget for accuracy," Nixon said.

Sabonjian admitted that the press conference was about politics. "Everything is about politics," Sabonjian said.

"But if this was a Democrat pulling this stuff I would be even more angry. And I certainly guarantee you that if we found out about this two years ago it would not be going on today. This is wrong no matter who does it," Sabonjian said.

Coffelt said the accusations are untrue and political.

"Why would I change the audits? It's hard enough running this office without people making stupid accusations," Coffelt said.

She added that about $60 million passes through her office each year and her job is to make sure it is accounted for.

"I don't even see the audits," Coffelt said. "I am not stealing money. I don't see the money, and I don't touch the money."

Coffelt said that for some reason Sabonjian has made it his crusade this election to defeat her and elect her Democratic opponent Mary Nelson.

Panel eyes hospital charges, payments

By Brenda Balin

Staff Reporter

At a meeting of the Blue Ribbon Committee on Health Care Issues in Lake County, Tim Harrington, CEO of Vista Health, referred to the Illinois Medicaid system as "a Rube Goldberg invention," with unwieldy and complicated structures that made it an inefficient way to fund health care for the indigent.

Medicaid coverage has profound implications for Vista, which handles, according to Harrington, a disproportionate number of Medicaid patients.

Harrington said that 9 percent of average hospital revenues come from Medicaid, while, at Vista, the figure is closer to 15 percent.

"We see 54 percent of Medicaid patients in the county," he said.

Nelson wants 'positive' change

By Nicholas Alajakis

Staff Reporter

Lake County Circuit Court Clerk candidate Mary "Margo" Nelson said she believes in term limits for elected officials. Competing against a 24-year incumbent in next week's election, it's not hard to see why.

"I think sometimes people get so set that they forget why they ran in the first place," Nelson said. "After a while you need a new challenge."

For Nelson, the reason to run is clear. She'd like to see a change in the way the office of the circuit clerk is run.

Like her opponent, Sally Coffelt, Nelson, 56, said she'd like to increase the technology in the office, so as to make it easier to interact with other offices.

Additionally, Nelson said she'd also like to change the morale in the clerk's office.

Coffelt has said that she owes her success to her staff, which works well together, but Nelson said that is not the case. Nelson said she has been approached by members of the clerk's staff who have thrown their support behind the Democratic challenger.

"I would work to bring morale back into the office so employees want to come to work and promote a professional work environment," Nelson said.

Additionally, Nelson said she'd like to review the positions in the clerk's office to see how necessary they are. If there are positions that are not necessary, and can be eliminated, Nelson said she'd like to save the money.

This is Nelson's second time around as a challenger for Coffelt's position. In 2000 she ran at the urging of Democratic leaders and lost by more than 15 percent of the vote.

The difference, Nelson said is not too great, considering she had zero name recognition.

This time around she has done something differently, in hopes of coming out on top. Nelson said she has done more campaigning, attended more functions and participated in more forums. She's also been lucky, she said to have more volunteers help out on her campaign.

Nelson said she'd love to go back to being a trustee, but wanted to give the clerk's office a try first, to see if it works out for her.

Currently Nelson works as the senior research analyst for the Lake County Department of Planning, Building and Development. Her job includes overseeing all the finances, doing some research and she is "basically the troubleshooter."

Working in the county building for the better part of 20 years, Nelson said she has learned how things work. She's learned how to be a leader. And she said she thinks she can do a better job than her opponent can.

As for her opponent's more than two decades of experience?

"She may be there in name," Nelson said. "She needs to be there in person."

Crane facing his toughest opponent

By Jeff Zachary
Staff Reporter

He is a former teacher who favors school-funding reform. He is happily married, a father of eight and is a strong believer in family values.

And as a U.S. Congressman in the Eighth District since 1969, he knows the ins and outs of Washington.

He is Phil Crane (R-Wauconda) and he is hoping to celebrate his 74th birthday on Nov. 3 after defeating his Democratic opponent Melissa Bean on Nov. 2 in the general election.

"Being the most senior member of the Republican Party in the House of Representatives has its advantages for my constituents," Crane said.

"Because of my seniority, I am the vice-Chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee which has jurisdiction over taxes. I am also chairman of the Trade Committee. Through these influential positions, I am able to be a leading force for tax reform and tax creation."

Crane, 74, is facing his most difficult battle of his long career from Bean, a business consultant who lives in Barrington, but said he feels he can continue to do a better job for his constituents than Bean could.

"Fighting for lower taxes and bringing more jobs to the Eighth District have been the hallmarks of my career," he said. "I have brought more than $260 million in the past two years alone for projects here at home to help the environment, strengthen the criminal justice system and to improve our children's education. I have also secured millions of dollars to improve transportation in Lake County through road projects and mass transit. It would be impossible for my opponent, should she be elected as a freshman member in the minority party to deliver these kinds of dollars back to the district."

Crane was first elected to Congress in a special election held on November 25, 1969, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Donald Rumsfeld, who was appointed to serve in the Nixon administration. Since that time, Crane has become well known as a leader in the conservative movement and is the most senior Republican in the U.S. House of Representatives.

Crane received his bachelor's degree from Hillsdale College in Michigan before serving in the U.S. Army from 1954 to 1956. He then continued his education in history by earning Masters and Doctorate Degrees from Indiana University in Bloomington, Indiana. After graduation, Crane served as a professor at both Indiana University and Bradley University in Peoria, Illinois. He also served as the director of Schools at Westminster Academy in Northbrook, Illinois. Crane also has received three honorary doctorates.

Crane: Has been in Congress since 1969.

Jacobs looks for change in party practices

By Nicholas Alajakis
Staff Reporter

Michael Jacobs said he has seen enough of the current administration in Lake County's States Attorney office.

As a candidate for States Attorney, he said he hopes to bring a politically independent attitude that will influence change.

"There needs to be a change," Jacobs said. "The long standing practice of one party rule in Lake County has resulted in politics being placed above the law for too long and prevented the citizens of Lake County from receiving the 'good government' to which they are entitled," Jacobs said.

Jacobs, 43, a Gurnee resident who works as an Assistant States Attorney in Cook County, said he thinks he can make the switch to Lake County. Since he graduated Washington University with his Juris Doctorate in 1986, Jacobs has worked in Illinois' largest states attorney office.

In those 18 years, Jacobs said he feels he has all the legal expertise necessary to run the office. And as president of the Gurnee Youth Baseball and the Lake Prairie Adventure Guides, he feels he has the administrative background to do the job as well.

His opponent, current States Attorney Michael Waller has said Jacobs' unfamiliarity with Lake County would hurt him. Jacobs does not think that's the case. In fact, he thinks it will help keep the office independent from other offices.

"As an individual who is politically independent from the current office holder and the majority of the remaining county-wide office holders, I will ensure that the practice of placing politics above the law will be eliminated from the State's Attorney's Office," Jacobs said.

Eventually, Jacobs said, the 56-year-old Waller will have to step down. A "hand-picked" would just carry on the same attitude.

"Everybody needs to have term limits," Jacobs said. "Two terms is sufficient."

If elected Jacobs said he would like to take immediate steps to bring some change to the office. One area he said he'd like to work on, is the corruption, he feels is allowing for office holders in Lake County to get away with violations.

"First and foremost, I will put an end to the practice of placing politics above the law," Jacobs said.

"You can't have a minor slap on the wrist for continued violation of the Open Meeting Act," Jacobs said. If elected, I pledge to adhere to a multifaceted plan that will result in the continued practice of vigorously, but fairly, enforcing our laws and achieve fiscal responsibility for the citizens."

In addition to improving the way the office runs legally, Jacobs said he'd also like to improve the fiscal side, by stopping the needless spending of "tax-payer" dollars.

Supporters of a referendum for Gavin Schools were confident that it would pass. The referendum included a new school for Gavin Central and upgrades to Gavin North and Gavin South. Gavin Central was designed to be a "no frills" building.

Officials in Mundelein debated over what would be the location of the village's new train depot. The village planned to build a 5.5-acre site with 401 parking spots. The exact location was unknown, but an area near the Anatol Corporation was being looked at.

Waukegan native and famed science fiction writer Ray Bradbury was honored in a ceremony in his hometown. The ceremony was held as part of Waukegan's 125th anniversary. Bradbury said he still loved the same things as an old man that he did as a child.

A group of five mothers in Lake County were upset that some boys were not getting any playing time on the football field. As the season winded down, the mothers became concerned that some boys would not get any playing time, despite their commitment. "Non-playing players" as they called them needed to be addressed.

Endorsements go to four incumbents

Circuit Court Clerk

Democrat challenger Mary "Margo" Nelson, who has run unsuccessfully for county office before, has raised questions about Sally D. Coffelt's hiring practices. But Nelson hasn't offered compelling reasons why she should replace Coffelt, now the longest serving county official, who runs the administrative position with efficiency, honesty and a "public first" service policy. Coffelt endorsed without reservation.

Coroner

James "Jim" Wipper has discovered that there's a big difference between working in the coroner's office, where he compiled a record of 13 years good and true service, and being coroner, where his handling of burial arrangements for indigents has become an election issue brought by his Democratic opponent, Dr. Richard L. Keller. The challenger offers voters an opportunity to address the long-standing question whether the purely administrative office should be in the hands of a medical professional. We don't think it was a mistake to appoint Wipper as successor to the redoubtable Barbara Richardson when she retired and we endorse him for election in his own right. We see no reason to dismiss Wipper. For election to a four-year term, he offers his reputation of respect in the law enforcement community, professional credentials and many years of experience. The campaign test is sure to make him a better public official.

Recorder

Incumbent Recorder Mary Ellen Vanderventer is one of the best examples we know of rewarding good work in elective office with re-election. Vanderventer, the lone Democrat holding county-wide office, is endorsed over Dana Sabonjian, a real estate professional with politics in her blood. With computerization and new methods, Vanderventer has made sure the office has kept up with the demands imposed by rapid growth without adding undue costs to taxpayers.

State's Attorney

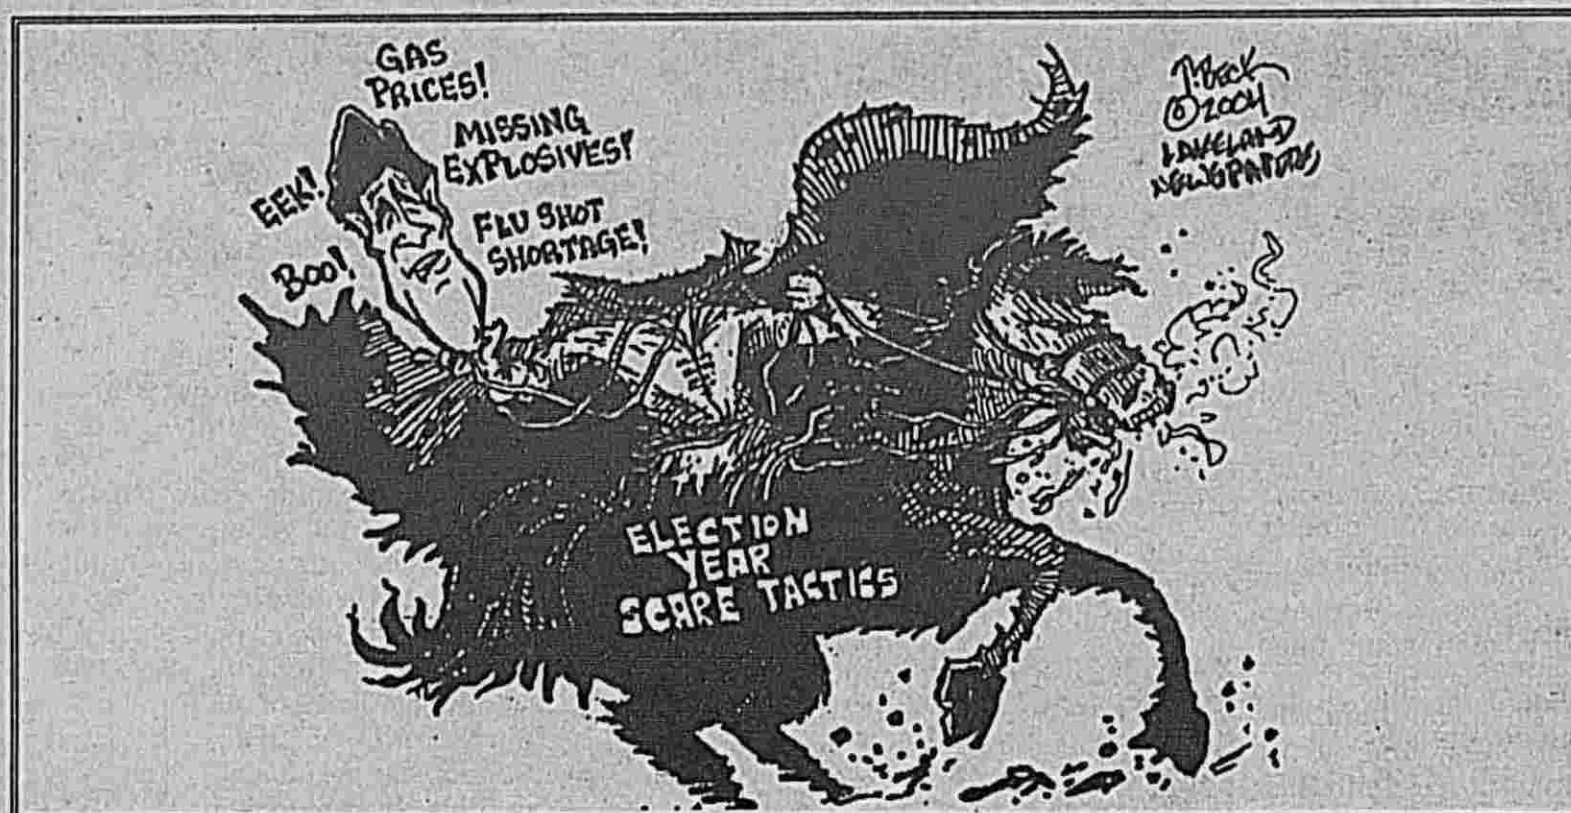

Michael J. Waller has done such an excellent job of being the "people's attorney" in his many years of service that he has defused a once highly political position and turned the office into a beacon of efficiency, honesty and fairness. A more than capable administrator, Waller has compiled an excellent record in law enforcement, particularly in the areas of curbing criminal drug activity and lately in combating the growing problems to society of pornography in its many forms. Michael D. Jacobs, the Democratic nominee, has failed to build a case for replacing Waller, who has many years of honorable service ahead. With a bow to public service as a high calling, we endorse career prosecutor Waller for another four-year term.

Judicial Election

Although they are running without opposition, we support with enthusiasm the election of the Republican candidates to fill two openings due to retirements in the 19th Judicial Circuit of Lake and McHenry counties. As a sitting judge, Victoria A. Rossetti already has demonstrated her ability for fairness and hard work. With his experience as Lake County state's attorney and U.S. district attorney northern Illinois, Fred Foreman gives great promise of being an excellent addition to the local bench.

Judicial Retention

Under Illinois law, sitting circuit judges periodically must be put before the voting public to answer the question of retention. Raymond J. McKoski, Henry C. Tonigan and Margaret J. Mullen are residents of Lake County currently serving in the 19th circuit. Their retention is recommended.

Choices for state

Recommendations and comments on the Nov. 2 election are concluded this week:

State Senate

26th District—Incumbent William Peterson knows the southwest Lake County district like the back of his hand. Just as importantly, voters know and trust Peterson, who is in his third decade of public service. He is respected both at home and in Springfield where he is a key member of the Republican minority leadership. He is known for taking sensible positions framed from his basic conservative philosophy. The veteran leader, who also serves as supervisor of Vernon Township, epitomizes the meaning of "public servant." He richly deserves to be re-elected and he is endorsed enthusiastically.

He is opposed by Nancy L. Peterson who was selected mainly to create name confusion.

29th District—First as a state representative and now as a senator, Susan Garrett represents well a leaning Democratic district with her socially liberal views and a well-honed stance as an independent. Garrett regularly breaks with party leadership out of conviction rather than as a political ploy. She has an uncanny knack of "being on top" of local issues, like reducing truck speed on Rte. 41. The Republican challenger, Daniel R. Bryant, has presented a solid case for his credentials as a sensible, serious businessman ready to deal with business problems in government. But he hasn't been able to break through his opponent's popularity in the North Shore district. Garrett endorsed because she is a good "fit" for the district.

State Representative

51st District—As an incumbent and elected assessor of Fremont Township, Ed Sullivan Jr. is way out in front of his Democratic challenger, Nancy Shepherdson, who has run before, holding to liberal textbook solutions to public problems in a district tending to moderation. Sullivan views state business from a conservative and practical viewpoint. He listens to the voters in his central and southwest Lake County district and casts votes that reflect both their views and his interpretation of their best interests. Sullivan got off to a good start as a freshman legislator. We endorse Sullivan with the belief that he will continue to grow in stature in state government.

52nd District—With his background in banking and finance, incumbent Mark H. Beaubien Jr. has come into his own as a House leader both in his party and addressing complicated budget matters facing Illinois. Beaubien was a voice for reason and of the current Illinois budget, a document shaped by the Democratic majority, but tempered with constraint and logic by Beaubien and a handful of GOP leaders. The veteran Republican office holder has a special feeling for social issues and the needs of minorities. He is recommended in this bi-county district over Larry Feigen, a college professor.

59th District—Incumbent Kathleen A. Ryg is a Democrat votes the party line on partisan issues. She is admired for her hard work and attention to "every day" problems affecting residents of the south-central Lake County district like her initiative to coordinate after school activities. Paul S. Tully, an articulate attorney from Lincolnshire who offers an attractive resume. As a newcomer, Tully has been making a solid case for replacing Ryg by spelling out basic Republican public policy positions. Ryg starts with a big edge in name recognition and grassroots experience gained as an elected official of Vernon Hills. Ryg has come a long way in her first term in Springfield and is preferred.

60th District—This basically Waukegan district is heavily Democratic and incumbent Eddie Washington has been making the most of being a well known party functionary. Businesswoman Suzan Tenzi has a lot to offer in a district struggling to rebuild the local economy. The affable Washington pays attention to local needs and stays close to Waukegan leaders fighting to rebuild the city. Tenzi's ideas for economic development make sense, but her biggest problem is being a Republican in unfriendly territory. No recommendation.

61st District—Incumbent JoAnn D. Osmond of Antioch got off to an excellent start representing a stalwart Republican area and has earned our strong endorsement for re-election over Democrat challenger Bill Scheurer of Lindenhurst, who has a yen for elective office. Osmond is indefatigable with no constituent need too small for her attention. She also gets the big picture, especially in education funding. Drawing on her vast experience as a legislative aide, Osmond has a special talent for pin-pointing anti-taxpayer provisions in complicated legislation. Scheurer is far too liberal. His off-beat views about public policy don't mesh with the 61st mainstream.

62nd District—Stressing mostly women's issues, Democrat Sharyn I. Elman has mounted a surprisingly strong campaign in her first bid for public office. She is making incumbent Robert W. Churchill fight hard to retain his seat. Although we don't always agree with Churchill, he understands state government, workable taxation policy and the legislative needs of his central Lake County district. With youthful vitality, Elman, a former cable news anchor, is to be admired, but the sometimes brusque Churchill gets the nod for his legislating experience and willingness to stand up to Cook County domination in Illinois politics that puts Chicago first at the expense of the rest of the state.

Experience counts in County Board races

District 1 (Antioch)—As an incumbent, Judy Martini puts her experience and know how to good use, both for the voters she represents and as a leader confronted by the myriad problems county government faces. We find that Martini regularly is on the side for small town values, especially environment questions. She supports balance in dealing with growth issues, especially provisions for open space. Martini richly deserves to be retained and is an easy choice over Spiro F. Georgeson, the Democratic nominee, whose candidacy served to set up mostly debating points for the incumbent.

District 5 (Ingleside-Fox Lake, Wauconda)—Residents of this changing area have been blessed with the fortitude, good sense and leadership abilities of Bonnie Thomson Carter, who has a well deserved reputation for taking strong stands on tough questions. Carter always puts the greater good first. One of Carter's notable characteristics is a willingness to take on entrenched interests like developers and bureaucracy. Her successful presidency of the Lake County Forest Preserve District portends a bright future and possibly new challenges in public service. Carter has our enthusiastic endorsement over Ryan Finley.

District 6 (Round Lake area, Grayslake, Third Lake)—Lawrence "Larry" Leafblad's strong voice has been missed on the County Board and we heartily endorse him over Democratic challenger Steven Skinner. Leafblad is a keen student of county government. His positions on planning and zoning contributed greatly to the new Unified Development Ordinance which espouses controlled growth. The veteran Republican now has tackled the monumental task of demystifying the state's complicated real estate assessing laws. Skinner has proved to be an engaging campaigner and has advanced interesting viewpoints on public issues, but he is no match for Leafblad's experience and determination.

District 10 (Fremont Township, Mundelein)—Diana O'Kelly quickly established herself as a reliable foe of runaway growth and damage to the environment when first elected. She never has wavered and we endorse her for re-election. The Democratic nominee is Roberta Rekus, who has conducted an ineffective campaign.

District 11 (Grayslake)—Incumbent Sandy Cole's experience in business management and finance has been a key ingredient in establishing respect in county government. She has performed yeoman service in the cause for restraint in spending and keeping growth at a sensible level. Cole is recognized for a solid work ethic and careful evaluation of all issues. Cole is endorsed over George S. Kinser.

District 14 (North Chicago)—There's a reason Democrat incumbent Audrey Nixon is running unopposed. No one is interested in challenging her demonstrated devotion and hard work while representing the best interests of her district.

District 16 (Round Lake)—Incumbent Robert E. "Bob" Powers, a Republican, is endorsed over Terry Wilke, the Democratic challenger. As a freshman, Powers chose to avoid the limelight and being a rubber stamp board member while making sensible spending choices during budget deliberations.

VIEWPOINT

No column

PARTY LINES

Home rule pushed for new tax power

Seeking new sources of income for the City of Lake Forest, Finance Committee Chairman S. Michael Rummel singlehandedly is leading a campaign to get home rule powers approved by referendum in the Nov. 2 election.

Since Lake Forest has less than 25,000 population, voter approval is required to enact home rule which provides for broader taxation powers and other exemptions to state statutes covering municipalities. Automatic approval is granted when population exceeds 25,000.

Great taxing power will be good for the city, Rummel declared. A non-tax advantage, according to Rummel, provided by home rule would be a different classification for dealing with the new Illinois Affordable Housing Act, requiring a 10 percent housing stock at below market rates.

Lake County municipalities with home rule powers include Mundelein, Gurnee, Round Lake Beach, Waukegan and Lincolnshire.

Battle cry

Republican leaders exhorted workers on the Crane campaign trail with the warning that the long-time Congressman's defeat "will deliver the 8th District to the Democrats for 30 years." For the closing days of the heated campaign, staffers from the Republican National Committee were added to support Crane. Going down to the wire, the most intense campaigning was taking place in the Cook County part of the district. The 8th District includes parts of three counties and covers the state line area in Lake County, Fox Lake, Lake Villa, the Round Lake area, Island Lake, Wauconda, the Barrington area, Lake Zurich and Hawthorn Woods.

Water headaches

Mundelein Community Director John Lobalto keeps close tabs on the weather report these days. If rain is forecast, Lobalto knows that neighbors of the new SuperTarget on Rte. 60 will be blasting the village for failure to provide adequate drainage. Neighbors are complaining that runoff from the mega parking lot is flooding their property. One of the complainers is Bill Wirtz, owner of the Chicago Blackhawks, whose family has operated a farm and maintained a country home in the Ivanhoe area for nearly 70 years. Wirtz has engaged an attorney and an engineer to handle the problem. Meanwhile, Lobalto is drawing praise for the direction downtown Mundelein is taking with plans for a transit-orientated community. No drainage problems there, so far.

Necessary equipment

With the pace of new business openings stepping up, Waukegan Mayor Dick Hyde always goes prepared. He has a special ribbon cutting scissors carried in a case. Chrome and brass plated, the scissors is the size of a hedge shears. "Never fails," he says with a chuckle.

Hyde: Cutting response highlights story of city progress

Betustak: Offers praise for long-time administrator

Manager praised

Lindenhurst Mayor Jim Betustak never misses an opportunity to applaud Village Administrator Jim Stevens, whose professionalism and coolness under pressure has played a big part in fostering village progress. Betustak says one of Stevens' skills is "bringing people together." Stevens is credited with pulling all the pieces of a complicated puzzle in bringing Vista Health to Lindenhurst some years ago in less than 30 days.

Kemp speaks out

Former vice president candidate Jack Kemp, campaigning in Lake County for Congressman Phil Crane, said Crane taught him a lot about the importance of trade and tax policy. "Phil Crane is one of the two most important members of Congress," Kemp declared, the other being Congressman Henry Hyde, who represents a neighboring suburban district. Kemp stumped the northwest suburbs for Crane and Hyde last weekend. Another Kempism: The meatballs served at his banquet hall by Antioch Mayor Taso Maravellas "are the best I've ever eaten." Kemp, who represented an upstate New York district in Congress for years, was the Republican nominee for veep in 1996.

Locating the center

County Board Chair Suzi Schmidt sometimes pays more attention to politics than geography in handling her duties. Schmidt told a Waukegan audience about a meeting planner picking a Libertyville site "because it's the center of the county." Wrong, Schmidt admonished. "Waukegan is the center of the county." Schmidt told the story at a ribbon cutting ceremony in downtown Waukegan where 1 Genesee St. houses the multi-iversity branch, the county's job center and a private high school.

Preserving history

Island Lake Trustee Tom Martin is promoting interest in organizing an Island Lake Historical Society. He said the community is at the age (nearly three-quarters of a century) where there's a wealth of local history that deserves to be preserved—and made use of by the public. Martin promises that more will be heard about the project.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Support voiced for Crane, Wipper

As a senior citizen who has lived in this Congressional District for many years, I feel impelled to remind our voters of the many services and benefits we have received from the efforts of our Congressman Phil Crane. His attention, in our behalf, to tax relief, Medicare, Social Security and National Defense has made me feel safe and secure in my community. Congressman Crane has just sponsored a bill to promote and protect American jobs, which will really help the economy.

I would like to add that these people who write letters to the editor complaining that Congressman Crane has a residence in Virginia, don't seem to understand he was elected to represent our 8th Congressional District in Washington, DC and has to be in the DC area every week to attend Congressional Sessions, and most of the Congressmen from other states, as well as Illinois, have a residence in the DC area. Phil Crane also has had a residence in Wauconda, which is in the 8th Congressional District, for many years. Although he has a large district to cover, he attends as many functions, town meetings, etc., as possible on weekends and during Congressional Recess, to keep up with the needs of the District.

By the way, his opponent, doesn't even live in the 8th Congressional District, so can't even vote for herself. Let's keep Phil Crane, a tried and true Congressman, as our representative, as he has responded well to the needs of our district.

Wonderful job

There have been many letters written and published in newspapers criticizing both politically and personally State Rep. Ed. Sullivan Jr. I have written this letter in support of our state representative because I feel he has done a wonderful job in his "freshman" term of office and deserves to be reelected in November.

I am amused by Nancy Shepherdson's persistence in keeping her opponent's personal problems in the news. With E-mail, a web site and letters to the editor Shepherdson and her supporters have thrown so much mud at State Rep. Ed Sullivan Jr. that only a bulldozer could move all of it. All of these personal attacks have come after Shepherdson said the matter of Sullivan's tail light out, drinking and driving offense should not be a campaign issue.

It seems that Shepherdson, like fellow Democrat John Kerry, can't resist changing her mind to suit her political goals. There is one point on which Nancy Shepherdson has not changed her mind. That is her support of an increase in the state income tax. Ed Sullivan Jr. says he will oppose any effort to raise taxes. Sullivan has a solid record of opposing tax increases and he can be counted on to keep his word.

Vote for Keyes

A little more than 100 years ago the Republican Party in an effort to be politically correct placed an outspoken, righteous, patriotic, and populist in the least powerful position in American politics. Through a tragic event he became the president of the United States of America. To this day most Americans consider this person one of the finest presidents in history. Theodore Roosevelt was the man.

This November we in Illinois have a chance to place in a position of relative power another outspoken, righteous and patriotic individual; a constitutionalist with strong beliefs in family. We in Illinois have this opportunity to show the nation we consider a strong constitutional government far more important than continuing socialist erosion of human rights, government intrusion, and political correctness. We have an opportunity to vote for truth instead of feel good; hear what we want politics. We in Illinois have this moment in history to vote not because it is expected and taken for granted we will vote the way we always have; we have this moment to break the bonds of slavery to status quo politics and bring freedom to millions of politically homeless and disenfranchised voters.

Join me in spreading the good word and also voting for Dr. Alan Keyes this November.

Re-elect Wipper

I have personally known Jim Wipper for the past 10 plus years, he is a man of compassion with the respect of loss of life and the families involved. The accusations that have been printed cannot be farther from the truth.

Jim Wipper is a licensed funeral director; he complied with the laws to obtain that license with continued education, paying the license fee and attends classes to be able to fulfill this duty. In the past six years, Mr. Wipper has been asked to handle eight indigent cases where there were no other funeral directors able to take care of the deceased. He handled these eight cases with respect and dignity and within the laws of the state of Illinois. But we need to stop, and ask how did this information become public. No FOIA requests can be found as these are private records held in the Coroner's office. How was Mr. Wipper's Society Security number used to obtain records to show that he did pay taxes on any fee he was given. Could that be a case of stolen identity? If Kevin Smith knew of this practice, believed it was wrong two years ago, why he didn't contact the State's Attorney's office or the Illinois Attorney General's office at that time. If the Democratic candidate had this information why did he not go to the Illinois Attorney General's office instead of the newspaper only 30 days from the election? The Lake County Coroner is on call 24 hours a day, seven days a week, I am sure that he would use the county vehicle for removal of the bodies in question. It is his job.

I lost my husband in December 2002, it was a difficult time, but I had many friends to be there for me. I never felt alone. I can't imagine how difficult it must be to die alone or to have your spouse die and you have no means to bury your loved one. Thank God, for the compassion and unconditional caring of our Lake County Coroner Jim Wipper. Please join me in electing Jim Wipper who follows the law, shows compassion and gives dignity to those in need.

Doomed water system

You don't have to be a rocket scientist, nor a certified engineer, to understand the basic premise that you cannot fit 25 pounds into a 5 pound bag. And yet this is what the Village of Antioch is considering in regard to the Menard's (or similar) development plans on Route 173. My reference is to the storm water management plans for that site and it's impact on the surrounding area, specifically Little Silver Lake.

It was disturbing to hear the developers talk about the storm water failures during the construction phase of the Walmart complex. They called rainfall of 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 inches during a 24 hour period "storm events". Most people would simply call them summer showers. They took credit for making modifications after these failures and stated that this type of thing is a "learning process". What on earth is going to happen when we get rain like in June of 2000 which was a real storm event?

With the newly proposed Menard's, the developers have petitioned for rezoning of the property and they wrote that they would design "storm water retention systems that will not allow adverse effects to the region in general." However, at the Aug 5th presentation, the developers admitted that they have actually planned for a "detention" system and not a "retention" system. In other words, they will detain the storm water runoff and not retain it in retention system. They advised that the project could not be done if a retention system had to be planned. By their own soil studies, much of this land is wet and would need to be filled in and stabilized. This parcel of land has acted as a "sponge", soaking up water that otherwise would have made it's way into Little Silver Lake and Sequoit Creek. Now we are being presented with a plan that will actively cover 4/5's of this land and expect this runoff to be handled by 1/5 of the remaining parcel as a "detention pond". However, this "detention pond" they have planned is mostly "open space", whereby the actual retention is represented by two small ponds at each end of the open space parcel.

So where will the runoff from this approx. 25 acre development eventually end up? Little Silver Lake and probably my basement, along with some other property owners, when a real "storm event" happens. It could also stress businesses that are in the area of Sequoit Creek since this is the drainage point for the lake. All the talk of responsible development and the seemingly endless meetings conducted in the name of the environment apparently comes to naught. When this storm water system fails due to poorly planned detention and not retention, who will be liable?

Kirk says he won't rest on his accomplishments

By Nicholas Alajakis

Staff Reporter

Congressman Mark Kirk (R-Fort Sheridan) may have a resume of accomplishments impressive enough to earn him re-election, but the legislator said he wouldn't rest on his accomplishments alone. Instead, he said he is looking forward to what else he can do.

Kirk, 45, said he'd like to continue his plan on improving the 10th Congressional District of Illinois.

Kirk was first elected Congressman in 2000, after 16 years as an aide to his predecessor, John Porter. He said he knew he wanted to replace Porter as soon as Porter decided he did not want to run again.

While working with Porter, Kirk said he is most proud of his work to help create a global program for AIDS in the mid-1980s.

"We saw a problem and we knew how big it was then, even though the media didn't know it then," Kirk said.

And with some backing Kirk said his office was able to make progress.

Looking back, Kirk said, "That program probably saved several million lives."

Since becoming legislator Kirk said his biggest accomplishments involve two local issues.

When the VA hospital North Chicago was threatening to close because of funding issues, Kirk said he took on the issue personally, because he wanted to offer healthcare to veterans, being a Naval Reserve officer himself.

Kirk said he spent "thousands of hours" lobbying to get the Great Lakes naval hospital to merge with the North Chicago hospital, to create one, $160 million health care facility.

He was also behind securing the funds for the expansion of Metra's North Central commuter rail line, which cuts through central Lake County.

Kirk said he is also working on another commuter line through the southwestern part of the county to serve Chicago's near northwest suburbs.

Kirk: Wants a cap on malpractice lawsuits.

Kirk's other goals include removing nuclear waste from Lake Michigan to make way for more recreational use. In Waukegan, Kirk said he thinks it could mean a lot of potential profit for the area.

"It would quickly eclipse what's happening in Glenview," Kirk said.

He also said he'd like to pass a referendum to stop exits of doctor in Illinois. Because of the large amounts of malpractice suits in the state, many qualified doctors are leaving, Kirk said. In turn, it costs Illinois residents nearly five times more for health care than it does for residents in Wisconsin.

He'd like to put a cap on malpractice suits, to prevent future, $30 million law suits.

Kirk said he does not think his opponent, Democrat Lee Goodman would have the expertise he does.

Kirk called Goodman "inexperienced and unqualified" and said he thinks some of his solutions are impractical.

Goodman's plan for a quick withdraw from Iraq would not work, Kirk said.

Additionally, Kirk said he knows how to deal with tough issues, because he has dealt with them as a legislator.

to a local radio host who dubbed the group's efforts as fluff, when he and Ryg were interviewed on a radio show.

"The reality is that it affects every municipality in the county. The reality is that everybody needs to participate. There is no safe place," Rose said.

"Make sure we have something for young people to do after school as an alternative to gangs and an alternative to crime. We have to start right now. We can't afford to wait. Kids are getting hurt," Rose said.

Rose and Rep. Ryg formed the group less than a year ago and it is sponsored by a number of groups, government departments and individuals.

Many municipal groups as well as non-profit groups are members in the cause. The basic idea is to pool resources, share ideas and make it possible for every child to have something positive to do when school is not in session.

The early morning meeting was called to update everyone on progress that has been made.

"This is an initiative I believe in from the heart," Ryg said. "And we're still packing the room."

As one of the members, Michelle Crombie spoke on behalf of the United Way of Lake County. She explained a survey on community needs assessments that the charity had compiled through a grant. Some of the top ten issues included youth doing drugs, disparity in school funding, substance abuse and youth violence, she said.

Giving young people good options could impact these concerns, and some officials say it is less expensive to spend money on preventing the problems than fixing them. For young people who lose their life to crime, there is no way to fix it, she said.

"Reducing crime and victimization by providing opportunities is a win/win initiative," Ryg said.

One accomplishment the coalition has just begun is the beginning of a Web site, which can be reached at www.lakecountyafteerschool-coalition.org on the Internet. Mundelein CSO Scott Schaefer has designed the site and said it is still in its infancy, but it is already listed on 20 search engines. Currently the Web site offers a listing of upcoming events and meetings, minutes from past meetings, members and links to other helpful sites.

"We'll be growing and evolving as people join and offer input," Schaefer said.

One of the highlights of the meeting was young people's reaction to the new Teen Center in Park City, sponsored by Warren Township, which they created in a span of three months.

The activities of the Teen Center are presided over by a teen board. Some of the events the board has planned include mentoring, a talent show, potluck, luau and fundraising, said Stephanie, the 14-year-old president of the board.

"It's a great positive place for kids to hang out," she said.

Lisa Barrie, director of the teen center, said there are between 35 and 70 kids daily at the center which is open from 2 to 7 p.m. There are 110 registered at the Teen Center in Park City and 340 kids registered at the Teen Center at Warren Township.

"Kids can do their homework and there's recreational and social activities. It's organized chaos," she said.

HOSPITAL

Every hospital is mandated to serve the poor, with assumptions made that the wealthier and well-insured patients will offset the cost of health care for the uninsured and underinsured.

The committee, created in early 2003 to attempt to find solutions for the health care crisis in Lake County, met at Victory Memorial Hospital on Oct. 25 to discuss the particular burden placed on hospitals and clinics by the gap between Medicaid payments and the actual cost of health care.

In a PowerPoint presentation, Dr. Rebecca Parker, an emergency room physician at St. Therese, illustrated how a system intended to provide aid to the poor actually shifts the burden of paying for healthcare onto those least able to afford it.

Because all forms of insurance (Medicaid, Medicare and private insurers) pay only a percentage of the amount charged for services, hospitals and physicians mark up services to guarantee that they will get a reasonable payment.

Parker cited an example of an emergency room patient receiving "level 2" care, defined as a problem with low-moderate severity, requiring a medical decision of low complexity, such as removal of sutures from a wound that is healing well.

Although the actual cost of providing this service is about $29 (the amount paid by Medicare), Medicaid pays only $24. A private provider such as Blue Cross/Blue Shield would pay about $55, and "self-payers," patients with no insurance, would be charged $90.

Parker explained that, under the law, the charges are the same for all classes of patients, but, in fact, both public and private insurers pay a discounted rate.

The charges are thus artificially inflated to take the discounts into consideration.

The net effect is that those least able to pay are charged about three times the actual cost of services.

The gap widens, as more complex services are required. At "level 5," a condition causing an immediate threat to life or physiologic function, such as a high-risk patient presenting with chest pain, the actual cost of services might be $158, with Medicaid paying only $69, and the cost to uninsured patients as high as $400.

Hospitals then experience difficulty in recovering costs, with the rate of financial recovery at about 15 percent for self-payers. According to Harrington, Medicaid pays only about 58 percent of the actual cost of medical services.

"The money is going to the wrong places," Harrington said. "Aetna and Blue Cross had banner years last year. Hospitals are the only component of health care that is not-for-profit."

He said that, because of the payer mix in northern Lake County, and the poor rate of reimbursement from public aid, it was difficult to attract physicians to the area.

One possible solution suggested was to encourage legislators to authorize Medicaid to pay at the same rate as Medicare.

Sammies marks 40 years

Starting in a six foot by 10 foot trailer, rented by their father, Dominic Guinta, two boys found a way to make some money and have some fun while being productive during their summer school break. Sammies was born during the summer of 1964, Sammy and his brother sold Vienna hot dogs for 25 cents and soda for a dime. In 1970 the boys changed their seasonal trade into a business and opened a store in Chicago. In 1972, two years later, they opened a location in Grayslake, in Lake County, turning a summertime endeavor into a full-time, year-round, fast-food operation.

Sammies in Grayslake has expanded the 799 Belvidere Road location from a six stool to a 78 seat restaurant. They opened a partnership with David Keith in 1982 in Round Lake Beach. In 1997, another Sammies partnership developed out of the Lake Villa area. Tom Sheehan opened a location at 216 Milwaukee Ave. on Route 83. Most recently, in 2003, Mundelein opened the fourth Sammies location adding to the partnership Eric Cwiertnia at 820 N. Route 83.

That same commitment that Dominic Guinta asked his sons to give to their business 40 years ago still exists today—because it is a simple idea that their dad taught, "Do it the best you know how, period!"

Residential cleaning services becoming new industry

By Ginny Skweres

Staff Reporter

Today's world is a busy place, especially if all the adults in the household work full-time. Who has time to clean the house? When no one has the time, families often look for help outside of the household.

The cleaning business has been growing along with dual-income households, but how does one find the right person, team or company? In addition to having the skills to clean a house, there are other things to consider. The biggest concern is the trustworthiness and honesty of those who clean while the occupants are away. Who can you trust with a key or code to your home, or should you simply leave the door unlocked and hope the cleaning people are the only ones who come inside?

Before the evolution of franchised cleaning businesses, word of mouth and a personal recommendation was the norm. That can be harder to come by than in the past, since few neighbors seem to have time to chat over the backyard fence.

Bill Perry, the owner of Maid Brigade in Mundelein, said the decision takes careful consideration. He screens employees carefully and hires a service to do a thorough background check that gives him the results of a computerized national search for criminal charges and verifies the social security number of each person they hire.

In addition to that, he has each potential employee complete an opinion survey of 88 questions that is meant to indicate "personality traits that are less than honorable," he said.

"We take ethics very seriously."

Perry also tries to follow up with clients. "We put a lot of energy into what our clients want," he said. In addition to that, each cleaning team leaves behind a quality-rating card that asks for feedback.

"There are bonuses for good feedback," Perry said.

Jerry Graczyk, owner of the Grayslake Molly Maids, said another important concern that homeowners often overlook is knowing whether the person or company that cleans the house is bonded and insured.

As part of a franchise, Molly Maid owners are required to hire bonded employees, which attests to their honesty, carry workman's compensation for them in case they are injured on the job, and liability insurance that protects the homeowner. The company also contributes to Social Security and unemployment tax, two issues that can be a problem for those who use independent cleaning ladies or small businesses.

"If I was a homeowner I would demand to see proof of insurance," Graczyk said. "I keep a copy of mine in the office."

Perry has more than 100 regular clients, with the majority requesting cleaning service every other week, he said. The second most popular frequency request is weekly, followed by once every four weeks.

He said independent cleaning service can cost less, but they usually aren't bonded, don't have insurance and often don't pay income tax on the money they earn. "It can be a cheaper alternative, but not without some risk," Perry said.

PARENT'S PLACE

Dr. Sherri Singer

Hi Dr. Singer,

We have read your column for a long time and like what you say. We have a neighbor who we think could use your advice and philosophy for their parenting skills. We are embarrassed to bring it up to them in person, so we thought that maybe if we called you and you could write about it, it would be a great way to get the information to them. The problem is that they do not control their kid's behavior at all. They have 2 little kids who are just out of control and instead of going in and stopping the behavior and teaching these kids how to act, the mom is reading all of these 'parenting' books which tell her to not stop the behavior and just let the children do what they want in the interest of saving self-esteem. We think it should be the exact opposite. We think that through lack of discipline, these 2 kids are being destroyed and will never learn to behave appropriately. This can mean a life with a lot of problems. I don't want to see this happen to these adorable little boys. Any words of wisdom you can offer will be appreciated. Signed, A concerned neighbor.

Hi Concerned,

I appreciate your concern for these 2 kids, but you must keep in mind that no matter what I write or what you say, ultimately, you cannot parent these kids from a distance. That is their parent's job. Even if you disagree with the way they are doing it. I think your effort is very admirable and your concern is heartwarming, but unfortunately, if you presented it, your concern would probably be met with defensiveness and nastiness. Most people do not like to be told or showed that they are not doing a good job of parenting their kids.

Too many eggshells around here

With that said, I will say that I think our society in general has a real parenting crisis going on. Very unfortunately, parents in this society have been told too many wrong things by books. From faulty information, many parents believe that complete permissiveness and quiet reasoning are the way to go. They have been taught that if you negotiate with a screaming child, you are teaching the child that his or her opinion counts for something. They have been taught to ignore obnoxious and heinous behavior and have been told that it goes away if they do that. These are just a few of the illogical things that I have seen cause the destruction of many a kid. How do I know this? Because I see parents every day who have tried those ways and found them to do nothing more than create an out of control child. Then I help them put it right. I call it the 'walking on eggshells generation.' Too many tantrums, too many parents walking on eggshells to avoid the tantrums. Do not get me wrong, I do not blame parents at all for this. When I browse the shelves of the bookstores and see what is out there and available to teach parents how to stop bad behavior, it is no wonder for me why there are so many parents and kids having trouble and sadly, so many parents who are not enjoying their children the way they could.

What is missing from most if not all of these books is the concept that what makes bad behavior go away is effective, appropriate punishment. Appropriate punishment is truly the only thing that stops it. Many of these experts get upset with the concept of punishment because they feel it is terrible or hurts the child somehow. I disagree wholeheartedly. I believe the child who is never punished, never learns his or her behavior is not acceptable, and never learns how to behave correctly, ultimately suffers much more punishment in life. Later in life, he or she suffers that punishment with people who do not care about him or her. Which is more punishing 'allowing a child to grow up thinking that obnoxious behavior is o.k. or training the child the right way around loving parents so he or she can live successfully and peacefully?'

Now, when I say punishment, I do not mean beatings, spankings or anything else physically abusive, because that is not true punishment. That is power abuse and there is a big difference. I am talking about actions taken by parents that cost the child something important and I do not mean taking away privileges because in my experience it does not work. Not for long anyway. There are plenty of ways to wake a child up to getting rid of certain behaviors.

The problem is that many parents are afraid to implement the punishment for fear of the child not loving them anymore, the authorities coming to get them, or looking like a bad parent. There are lots of reasons. I tell parents everyday that good discipline is one of the most important things a parent will ever do for a child. And, your child will love you always, even through discipline, if you do true discipline and not power abuse. No one loves a power abuser. The hard part but the truth is that we are raising our kids to live without us. That takes self-discipline. Self-discipline grows from appropriate parental discipline. Sometimes that takes things that do not feel very good to us as well as our kids. And, the authorities are not going to come get you unless you are doing something inappropriate and good discipline is never inappropriate.

"I chose Cancer Treatment Centers of America for its innovative new technology.
My care is pretty exceptional too."
—Steve Mitzel, Cancer Patient

In fact, innovation is common at Cancer Treatment Centers of America.

With enough qualifications, it can be easy for hospitals to claim bragging rights by being the first at something. Well, at Cancer Treatment Centers of America we are the first—the first on the planet—to combine the technology of a GE Discovery ST 16-slice PET/CT image for treatment planning with the precise radiation treatment available from the TomoTherapy HI-ART System, a linear accelerator more advanced than Intensity Modulated Radiation Therapy technology.

We know it sounds like rocket science.

... that's because it is. Or physics, to be precise.

For all the technical terms—what this really means is the technology incorporated into our TomoTherapy equipment allows us to treat virtually any tumor we can see. And the technology in the GE Discovery ST 16-slice PET/CT allows us to see more.

Being able to see more, and treat more, just one part of the arsenal CTCA employs to help you take control of cancer.

SPIRO GEORGESON
Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? As a retired businessman and transportation specialist, I am well aware of the importance of the role of government in our local economy. I know that government should encourage business growth and job creation. It must build the infrastructure of roads, bridges and mass transit needed by commuters and shippers. It must insure planned growth and quality construction, without being an obstacle to development and investment. And it must balance its budget.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I differ from my opponent on a number of key issues.

Judy Martini does not support the proposed extension of Route 53 because she thinks it would drain money from other projects. I say that if we do not push for the extension we will face traffic strangulation in the years to come. The longer we delay, the more we will suffer in the future.

Mrs. Martini backs the quarter cent sales tax to fund road improvements. I say that it is unfair to burden citizens who may not even drive with a road tax. It is a poor excuse to say that our state legislators lack the moxie to push for the money we need to fix our roads. I won't let them off the hook that easily.

My opponent is proud of her efforts to help Waukegan and North Chicago latch on to government money, but I am more concerned about things in Antioch and District 1. She is proud of her founding membership in the Route 173 Corridor Council, but I have to ask what progress they have made, and when expansion will begin.

JUDY MARTINI
✓ Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I am the best person to represent District 1 because I have the experience, knowledge of District issues, and support of local officials to be successful as the County Board Member. I have a can-do attitude and work very hard for the District.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I believe what distinguishes myself over my opponent is my experience and knowledge of County issues. As far as I know my opponent has never attended a County Board meeting or has given any type of input on any local or county issue, other than RV parks which he owned one at the time (check his redtag violations).

RYAN FINLEY
Democrat

Web site
www.voteinley.org

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I have new ideas and a determination to enact change on the county level. I would like to see equality in funding for schools and other progressive actions taken. My opponent is content with the status quo, having run unopposed for her office in the last two general elections.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? 1. Get the residents of Wauconda Clean Water Now. It shocks me that the County Board has done so little regarding this issue. Health issues must eclipse every other issue. Why aren't we doing more? I would make a point of working with other government officials to get the people of Wauconda two things: Clean water and answers.

2. We must attract more economic development. Our zoning process is too difficult to muddle through. We must streamline the process in order to allow businesses easier access to the county. We are losing too many to southern Wisconsin, and this has to stop. This migration costs Lake County large amounts in tax dollars.

3. Assure that a cap on property tax assessments is passed, and work on bringing affordable housing to the county. We need to make sure that we are following these recent statewide initiatives. We need to help our residents stay here, and make it attractive to future residents.

BONNIE THOMSON CARTER
✓ Republican

What distinguishes you from your opponent? My experience and knowledge of issues facing District 5. I have lived here my entire life and understand why people live in Grant and Wauconda Township. My opponent moved into District 5 three weeks prior to filing.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? A.) Authority to Require Building Permits for Public School Buildings which will stop other schools from experiencing what Gavin School District 37 is. B.) Increasing School Impact Fees to reduce the impact to taxpayers and to ensure development pays its way and C.) Consumptive Water Use Permits that will insure adequate water supply to all people.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? The ITS (Intelligent Transportation System) to help reduce congestion in Lake County. Increase local intersection improvements, provide a safe water source to Wauconda area residents affected by the superfund site.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? The single event that prompted me to run for office was out-of-control development that didn't address impacts to schools, road and taxes.

COUNTY BOARD DISTRICT 6

STEVEN SKINNER
Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? Because I believe in hard work and I fully understand the needs of all of my constituents, not just a small segment. I know the details of the issues facing the people in this district and I know I have the unique personal, financial and business skills to bring some common-sense to our local government to solve the problems we face and to improve on our successes.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I represent the future with new ideas and a keen eye towards how the taxpayer's money is spent. I am pragmatic and utilize common-sense to work on solutions. I don't make up problems. I am a new and fresh set of eyes that I believe this county and the people in my district desperately need. We need to move forward with a new leader, not go backwards.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? A) Traffic - the public is already paying the $15 million needed for road construction that the sales tax would have produced. A reallocation of 3 or 4 percent of the $400 million budget into road construction would provide the necessary revenue without any tax increase at all. B) Property Taxes - If my opponent wants property tax accountability I suggest he look in the mirror. C) Jobs - Lake County lost 2,400 jobs alone this year. High taxes, a burdensome permit process, an aggressive program in Pleasant Prairie, Wisconsin and congested roads all contribute to our job losses.

LAWRENCE LEAFBLAD
✓ Republican

www.leafblad.com

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I have a firm grip on the issue of our time: out of control property taxes. Further, in 1991, I supported the 2005 highway plan that is now near completion (with more than $12.6 million of road improvements in District 6 alone). I introduced Cedar Lake Road extension to the Village of Round Lake at a village board meeting in 1997. I got the first forest preserve ever in greater Round Lake, after 14 years of working. Nippersink Marsh is now preserved forever, and growing too. In 2001, I blew the whistle when the Health Department was going to move the Mid-Lakes Clinic to Lake Village. From 1998-2002 I developed a plan to get the North Branch Courthouse placed in Round Lake Beach, all a part of the village's willingness to work with us in good faith.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I have a track record. That's what distinguishes me from my opponent, who is only sitting on the sidelines sniping, writing letters and criticizing. He talks about traffic, but I've produced $12.6 plus million in improvements. He talks about business, but I sat on the committee that created Partners. My 42-year career in newspaper, radio, TV, music production and now banking speaks for itself. He criticizes county financial operation, but I sat on a board that produced one of the very finest-run counties in the United States of America. He talks about wasting the taxpayers' dollars, yet he fired the library director under questionable circumstances and now faces legal action for which the taxpayers' money is being used.

COUNTY BOARD DISTRICT 10

ROBERTA M. REKUS
Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I have fresh ideas. I look for solutions before spending taxpayer dollars. I am resourceful.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? Fresh & creative ideas, better positioned to work with the board on issues concerning technology which will assist economic development and a broad base of diverse skills and experience.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them?

1. Transportation - I would immediately begin to revisit the existing plans
• Research improvements without incurring additional expenses
• Research possible programs/grants that can be implemented to move our district forward
• Form a community "vision, mission, and strategic goals" committee

2. Economic Development - Work to get the streamlined permit process in place.
• Review existing plans the county has submitted
• Meet with the county board committee re: existing one stop shop permits that are successful

3. Forest Preserve District Land Acquisition - Work with the Forest Preserves to consider a possible alternative to funding new acquisitions

DIANA O'KELLY
✓ Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I have been honored to represent this district for the past 10 years. I am a full time representative available and accessible to my constituents. My ten years experience getting the job done, in-depth knowledge of the district, understanding of the issues and how county government works make me the person best qualified for this position. I have experience chairing the Public Works Committee and the Law and Judicial Committee and am a current member of the Finance Committee. I also have served on the Health Committee.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? Because we were in a growing district, I saw there was a need for full time representation and for better response on issues facing the district.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? 1. Getting the state legislature to widen and improve their state roads. They have let their infrastructure fall and have diverted 450 million of road fund dollars into the general fund in the last budget. 2. Protection of ground water is a huge issue. The vinyl chloride contamination of private wells from the leaching from the land fill in Wauconda has been devastating for that community. 3. School Funding. The burgeoning property taxes that are caused by the way schools are currently funded is driving people out of their homes. The state needs to look at fair and equitable funding for schools that doesn't put an undue burden on taxpayers.

COUNTY BOARD DISTRICT 11

GEORGE KINSER

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I think because my business background (10 years in sales and marketing from 1977-1986) combined with my social service and teaching experience (14 years at Allendale Association 4 at Cyd Lash) gives me a unique perspective on the issues that face Lake County residents.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I am probably more aggressive on issues that directly affect my district, such as the campground and reasonable development of the Central Range, which would pump new dollars into the Grayslake schools. She has not spoken up against it, but has been deafening with her silence.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? I would form non-partisan alliances first of all to accomplish any goal. The first priority that the board must consider is the property tax cap of 7% that should be before the Board shortly that I am in favor of. The second and third are whether to put before the voters referendums for more open space and the revitalization of the % tax increase that was defeated last spring. I stand in favor of both issues and feel I can articulate to constituents more clearly what and where this money would go.

SANDY COLE

Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I have served District 11 of the Lake County Board for nearly 8 years. I bring experience and knowledge of County Government - it's services, programs, legal processes, mandates, financial commitments, etc. I have lived in both the unincorporated and incorporated areas of Lake County and appreciate the differences - both legal and representative. I have always served as County Board Commissioner FULL TIME. District 11 of the County Board is over unincorporated. Unincorporated areas do not have a "Mayor" or a City Council or "Trustees". Their services are provided by County Government...and the County Board Commissioner is their advocate, their voice for receiving services and their liaison in matters having to do with County Services.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I've held a public office for eight years and am familiar with the functions of County Government. I serve the people of District 11 Full-time and have a stellar record of accomplishments, both within the district and throughout Lake County.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? Improvements to State Roads (Routes 83, 45, 21, 120, 132) --- Lobby, lobby, lobby. And to be frank --- It is outrageous that the General Assembly of Illinois is using Motor Fuel Tax dollars (that we all pay at the gas pump) for general fund purposes. Those gas-taxes, which we pay at the pump, are user fees that are intended for road improvements (not office equipment, carpeting or elected official retirement plans). Diverting funds from those user-fee taxes for purposes other than the intended tax is unconscionable and a fraud.

TERRY WILKE

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent people of your district? Because I am one of them, in a word, I am representative.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I believe my strong desire to bring fiscal accountability to the County Board as well as my willingness to involve the tax payer in the decision making process sets us apart.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? Generally I would like to shift the Lake County Board's budget towards fiscal responsibility. In short, fund the needs first and the wants second. With respect to prioritizing spending on road construction, health clinics, education and attracting new business to Lake County should come first. Bringing jobs, business and tax relief to Lake County will be my main priority.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? I would like to pursue a campaign to bring business to Lake County; our roads are wholly inadequate, which costs money, time and lives. That coupled with the Byzantine permit process tends to dissuade business investment in Lake County. Increase funding for road construction in order to alleviate some of the traffic problems that may make Lake County less attractive to business. Fully fund The Lake County Partners and build an alliance with developers that brings them to the table and actually addresses their concerns. And finally expand the Lake County Health clinic's accessibility and expand educational outreach programs through the College of Lake County.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? My run for office is in direct response to the runaway taxes and the mounting traffic congestion, neither of which are being addressed by the current County Board.

ROBERT E. POWERS

Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I believe my experience, knowledge of the issues, relationships with the other elected officials in the District and ability to get things done make me the best person to represent the people of District 16. I am always available and willing to help with any problems that arise. I keep all lines of communication open between Lake County and the residents of District 16.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? The main things that distinguish me from my opponent are my experience in government, my involvement within my community and my district, my knowledge of the people, places and events in the District and my respect for the Round Lake area.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? The three most important issues would be road improvement, health care and affordable housing. District 16, right now, has many road projects in process, such as Rollins Road, Washington Street and the soon-to-be extension of Cedar Lake Road. I feel that if I keep pushing to have this done in the next four years we will make even more progress.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? The main issues that I would work on if re-elected would be economic development, transportation and health care.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? The single biggest reason that I originally ran for this office was the lack of respect that many people had towards the Round Lake area. I think I have succeeded in correcting this situation.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE 51st DISTRICT

NANCY SHEPHERDSON

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I am the best person to represent the district because I am a homeowner and taxpayer whose property taxes have been soaring for years. Unlike our current representative, I am not a tax assessor with the power to raise and lower assessments and so am very motivated to find ways to get property taxes under control. The way to do that is to fund more of the expense of education from state coffers by eliminating waste and giveaways that the state can no longer afford, such as the huge horse racing subsidy ($40 million per year). As a trained economist and investigative journalist, I have been able to discover many more examples of wasteful expenditure on the state's part and plan to fight to get those funds devoted to education instead. Then we can work on real property tax relief that is NOT dependent on raising the income tax. Illinois income tax is a flat tax that hits the middle class hardest of all and we are already being taxed to death. I think the people of my district are ready to send someone to Springfield who is not a professional politician, but is one of them.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? There are clear differences between us. First and most importantly, I am strongly in favor of taking any steps in the right direction toward property tax relief. Mr. Sullivan voted against assessment caps, higher seniors exemptions and higher homeowners exemptions from assessment increases. He even fought on the floor of the House against giving us more time to appeal our assessments! My heart is with homeowners who are struggling and many times falling to keep up with their property taxes. I've talked to many seniors with tears in their eyes when they talk about the possibility of having to sell their homes, where they've raised their children and have all their memories, because they can't keep up with the property taxes.

ED SULLIVAN JR.

Republican

www.citizensforsullivan.com

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I believe my experience in government, my knowledge of District 51, its leaders and its citizens gives me a strong advantage as a State Representative.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? My opponent is a Democrat. I believe we are diametrically opposed in regard to the points I have mentioned in part 3 above. We differ in many other areas. My opponent believes our state should collect more income taxes and expand the sales tax base to continue existing programs and create additional areas of spending. My opponent has stated publicly there is not a medical malpractice crisis and that she would oppose caps on frivolous lawsuits. I believe the medical malpractice crisis is a real road-block to quality healthcare in Illinois and I would support caps on frivolous lawsuits. She favors State sponsored health care that would dictate how health care is provided and by whom. She would give a State of Illinois drivers license to illegal aliens. My opponent would cut incentives to business and industry in Illinois calling these incentives "loopholes". I recognize that we must reverse the burdens we have created on business and industry in the last two years in order to bring about a new culture for job creation in Illinois. This goal, unlike my opponent, is one of my highest priorities as a State Representative.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE 52nd DISTRICT

LARRY FEIGEN

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I think I have a more realistic view of what is needed in this district and in this state. The budget crisis must be solved.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? We are of different philosophies regarding how state finances can be repaired. I believe we'll inevitably require a tax increase of some kind. I recommend we approve a graduated tax.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? Budget reform-Pull for a graduated tax Mandate reform-Propose approve method that does not require a residential expansion-

What additional issues would you work on if elected? I am very interested in environmental issues water quarry, waste disposal.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? The massive property tax increase this year and failure of the legislature to solve the budget crisis.

MARK BEAUBIEN

Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I believe my experience in the legislature and in the law, banking and business community, my leadership position in the House Republican caucus, my relationship with my fellow legislators, the administration and state agencies, make me the best person to represent the 52nd District. My decisions in Springfield are not made on whether I will be re-elected or not, and I know that I have maintained my reputation as someone who will listen to all sides of any issue and make a commitment that I will keep, not change as political winds dictate.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? My experience seniority, leadership position in the Illinois House, and my proven ability to accomplish positive results for District 52 are the most important distinguishing factors.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? A balanced budget, serious review of Illinois' pension system, and transportation issues are my most important legislative priorities. For the budget, my seniority and position as chief budget negotiator for the House Republicans allow me to have input on the budget. I will work to get the process started much earlier and for the same kind of real legislative input we had this year. As a member of the Governor's Pension Commission, I am in a unique position to influence the debate on the reform of our pension system. It is a critical and most serious issue that will affect all of us. Transportation projects for District 52 will be implemented through the capital budget, which is part of the overall budget process.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE 59th DISTRICT

KATHY RYG

Democrat

Web site
www.kathyryg.org

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? As a local elected official for 12 years I have been a pro-active advocate for my community and its residents. I am a full time representative and lifelong resident of the district. During my first term in office, I voted against all tax and fee increases; increased state education funding for public schools while lowering the burden on property taxpayers; and worked to eliminate government waste and streamline spending while insuring there is adequate funding for education, health care and transportation needs. I will continue to advocate for more money for our schools, transportation projects, and fight for affordable and accessible health care coverage. I believe we must work to reduce crime and address public safety especially through prevention programs like after and out of school time initiatives. I understand a sound economy and healthy business climate are the basis for developing strong communities and a strong state and look forward to continuing to partner with the business community to reach our mutual goals.

I am proud of my proven ability to build coalitions and find consensus to meet our challenges and address our community's needs.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I am a lifelong resident of the district with a proven record on the issues facing our community. My effectiveness as State Representative and my community involvement are well known in my district. I serve as a full time Representative and am motivated by accountability to my constituents' not party allegiances. I have worked through my entire public service career to develop relationships to build consensus and coalitions to work toward common goals. I am proud to be a strong and independent voice for my district both at home and in Springfield.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? Cutting government waste and working to reduce the state debt - This is the number one priority for Illinois. I do not believe the state should be balancing the budget on the backs of working families. During my first term we consolidated several state agencies and offered early retirement packages reducing the number of state employees in the process.

Education funding - I believe the state must meet its pledge to provide funding and work to reduce the burden on property taxpayers.

Increasing access to quality and affordable health care - As State Representative I believe everyone deserves access to affordable health care that is why I sponsored the new prescription drug program for seniors and will continue searching for ways to increase the savings for participants.

PAUL S. TULLY

Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I am running for State Representative because I am deeply concerned about the direction (or lack thereof) that we are going with respect to critical issues in the 59th District. I want to tackle head-on, with solid solutions rather than rhetoric and flip-flopping, the medical malpractice crisis, transportation gridlock and making Illinois a place business want to call home. I have also recently announced that I will not be taking a salary next year as a State Representative.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? Being able to identify solutions is the easy part - we are all good at identifying problems, but that only gets you a C-grade. To get an A-grade a Representative must present creative solutions to problems and ways in which to pay for those solutions. My opponent has done neither of these two things. Indeed, my opponent has passed no meaningful legislation in over two years. Rather, she has held forum after forum, meeting after meeting nothing has changed, and many critical issues facing the 59th District (such as transportation gridlock) have gotten worse in the past two years, not better. My opponent has added her name to bill after bill, with no creative solutions of her own. Following is not what we need more of in Springfield; we need a fresh perspective, someone who will be a vocal leader and advocate for the 59th District. I intend to do just that down in Springfield. As discussed in more detail below, I will do more than just identify problems. I have a plan to get the medical malpractice crisis under control in Illinois. I will introduce legislation to stop road fund diversions. I will do my best to make businesses want to call Illinois home again, which will bring jobs and revenue to my District and the State.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? 1. There is an access to healthcare crisis going on throughout the State of Illinois. The crisis has reached a crescendo south of I-80 and is spreading north to Will, Cook and Lake counties at an alarming rate. There are no neurosurgeons left in southern Illinois; there are currently only three remaining in Lake County. The crisis is broadening. 2. The State of Illinois is mired in fiscal crisis, with no end in sight for the foreseeable future. There is no silver-bullet cure for our current financial woes. I believe that we should cut state spending 2-4% per year across the board for the next three years. Concurrent with these spending reductions, we must look to consolidate government functions wherever possible and practical, eliminating unnecessary duplication of efforts. Elimination of corporate tax incentives, i.e., research and development tax credits, does nothing but drive employers to surrounding states who offer a more competitive corporate environment. If we return Illinois to a place that employers want to call home, there will be an increase in employment. This will lead to revenue being generated for the State.

STATE REPRESENTATIVE 60th DISTRICT

EDDIE WASHINGTON

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? Because I am everyday people dealing with the problems of everyday people. I'm not a big "I" or a little "u."

What distinguishes you from your opponent? Reality of grasping people problems and solutions. I'm definitely a bridge builder, balanced on seeing others point of views without being insulting.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? 1. Drawing new businesses to Waukegan/ North Chicago, while strengthening existing business through state resources. 2. 10th Street corridor development.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? The strategic planning for one of Waukegan's greatest asset, its lakefront.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? The amount of dissatisfaction, among voters who are exhausted from politics as usual.

Longtime Warren stats guru, Krapf, loses battle with cancer

When you have a long-time relationship with someone, it is difficult sometimes to say just when it began, the exact day of the week, time, and even year.

By Steve Peterson
Sports Reporter

Whether it be good times or bad, anyone associated with Warren Township High School basketball knew George Ron Krapf would be on their side. Memories flowed as easily as the marks in Krapf's stat book.

Warren Township High basketball players, cheerleaders and coaches were introduced to a man affectionately known as "Ronnie" their freshman year, if not earlier. Krapf, who practically invented the art of basketball statistics keeping, would be rooting for them longer than they realized at age 14. In their 20s and even into their 30s he would support them in wherever their careers and family goals took them.

Memories of Krapf did not wane, but rather grew stronger as WTHS graduates from the 1970s to the present era paid their respects this week.

"He was a friend to everyone. He gave unconditional support. He will be sorely missed," said WTHS coach Chuck Ramsey.

Krapf died of complications after a two-year battle with cancer on Oct. 21. He was 63.

Back in 2002, he was honored at a December basketball game as a long-time volunteer. Before and after retiring from Abbott Laboratories, Krapf, a Waukegan High graduate, served in that capacity of head stats man for 28 years.

"I remember just asking him to do the shot chart, rebounds and turnovers that first year," said former coach Darrel Bader.

He gained entry into the Illinois High School Basketball Coaches Hall of Fame. Hundreds attended a funeral service for Krapf at St. Dismas Church in Waukegan.

Krapf's effect on the lives of players and Warren students was so strong, it even reached all the way to Iraq, where 1999 Warren grad Mike Brandow has been serving his country in the U.S. Marine Corps. Last week, Brandow was flown in by the Red Cross to visit Krapf in his final days. He then flew back, but returned to Gurnee upon hearing the news of Ron's passing.

"He was a great friend," said Brandow, who enjoyed the practice of rubbing Krapf's hair-challenged head before games and at practices.

Many who knew Krapf longer than this scribe's 17 years, attended services at Marsh Funeral Home. Pictures were displayed from teams winning several regionals, four sectionals and many others. The 1998-99 team photo and celebratory photographs of the trip home from Peoria had a special place in the hearts of many.

On that special weekend in March 1999, coach Chuck Ramsey and stat helper Rick Pierce turned to each other and mentioned that they were "living the movie 'Hoosiers'."

"He was always around and always had that smile. He would always have that smile, despite what he was fighting. He gave us the lesson of perseverance," said former player Tyler Graham.

Many said compared to what Ron was fighting, their problems seemed minuscule.

Mike Kolar was a senior on the team whose younger brother Dave set Warren scoring records. "I went to CLC to play. I wanted to quit, but Ron told me, 'always finish what you start and never quit,'" he said.

"Ron was there for all the sports," said Marvin Bemby, a current varsity hoops player.

Mary Abbott recalled attending many a spring basketball game. It would be Krapf's duty to arrange the schedule each year.

Krapf was "hooked" on the sport one day when older brothers Rich and Len took him to a Waukegan High game to watch the Bulldogs coached by Jack Miller.

"He was a classic for all he did for the kids. He did not change at all. It was always the kids first and Ron second," said Bruce Andersen.

Whether it was keeping the stat books in order or giving a passer-by a friendly hello, George Ronald Krapf set an example all of us can aspire to.

FANTASY FOOTBALL MONTHLY 2004

(Touchdowns Only!!!)

Fantasy Football season is here again! For many Lakeland readers, the very thought sends their hearts racing. But for others, the question may be, "What is fantasy football?"

One of the most popular games across the country, fantasy football comes in many different forms, with each allowing football fans to draft their "own" team every Sunday afternoon and/or Monday/Thursday night.

Lakeland Newspapers began their league 4 years ago. This year the following rules apply: readers must pick two quarterbacks, two running backs and two wide receivers. Lakeland Newspapers Fantasy Football Monthly counts only touchdowns.

Your team is good for one month and one month only. Entries must be post marked by the last day of the previous month in order to enter the next month's contest. For example, October 31 is the last day to enter the November contest. You must re-enter each month. After the last game of the month is played the total amount of touchdowns scored by your six players is counted and whichever reader has the most total touchdowns wins. In the event of a tie, Lakeland will count the touchdowns of the candidate's "write-in" players. One entry per person. The October, November and December winners will go in a raffle for the Whirlyball Prize. Each runner-up will get $25.

Lakeland Newspapers will publish a fantasy football column each week with tips and player news. Don't forget that schedule plays a big role in which players choose. Just because someone may be the league's best player, does not necessarily mean that they will be the best player that month. And don't forget the bye weeks.

Good luck and get those entries in.

Sequoits set school record

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

There was little emotion last Friday after Antioch's historic win in the opening match of the Crosstown Classic. In fact, if you didn't know any better, you would think it was just another match.

Instead, it was the culmination of a long season's work as Antioch set the team record for wins in a season (26) with a 25-17, 25-15 win over Grayslake.

"It feels really good," said senior setter Ashley Wisler, who had five aces and a pair of kills in the win. "It's kind of overwhelming, but it's nice to know the hard work is paying off."

Kate Hofeldt (7 kills) and Kristi Mihovilovich (4 kills) led the way on the Antioch attack. But the Sequoits had little time to reflect on the win as they were set to take on rival Warren in the second round.

"Our focus since we found out that we couldn't win conference was to get ready for Warren," Antioch coach Bob Schenk said.

And that focus appeared to pay off as Antioch earned an emotional 20-25, 25-16, 15-8 win over the Devils. The emotion of the match was so high, Schenk wasn't even initially aware that the match had ended.

"The girls started jumping around after we got to 15, but I was telling them to sit down because I forgot the third game only goes to 15," Schenk said.

The win also gave the team the Antioch athletic record for wins in season. The previous record was held by the 1966-67 boys basketball team.

"Breaking the school record was great," Schenk said. "This team has been in existence for 30 years and we're the best team the school has ever had. And to get the win against our arch-rival Warren made it even better."

Wisler (12 assists, 9 digs), Maggie Lonergan (10 digs, 9 assists), Hofeldt (10 kills), Mihovilovich (7 kills) and Tracy Heitman (7 digs) led the way in the win over Warren.

The team closed out pool play on Friday with a 25-15, 25-11 win over Zion-Benton. Wisler (9 assists, 2 aces), Hofeldt (8 kills, 6 digs), Lonergan (10 assists), Heitman (11 digs) and Erin Moncelle (5 kills) all had solid matches.

Unfortunately, the momentum from Friday failed to carry over into the second day of the tournament as Antioch opened play with a 16-25, 16-25 loss to Libertyville.

"We were out of sync," said Schenk, whose team made 23 unforced errors against the Cats. "We just couldn't seem to find the court."

Heitman and Wisler each had eight digs and Mihovilovich had four kills the loss.

The poor play continued into the third-place match, a 13-25, 14-25 loss to Lake Zurich. Hofeldt (6 kills, 7 digs), Heitman (8 digs) and Mihovilovich all played well in defeat.

"It was like the Wizard of Oz," Schenk said. "The good witch was with us Friday and the wicked witch showed up on Saturday."

But Schenk was encouraged by his team's play in the tournament.

"In our two losses 57 of the 100 points were off errors by us," said Schenk, whose team improved to 28-7 after the 3-2 showing at the Crosstown Classic. "If we can control our play we can beat anyone."

FOOTBALL

Antioch's football team was in bad need of a win Friday night. The team had stormed out to a 5-0 record before dropping three straight.

A loss to Mundelein would mean the Sequoits would have to face No. 1 seed Libertyville in the opening round of the playoffs. Fortunately, Antioch led almost from the gun, winning 24-8.

"Well we've lost three in a row so it's nice to get the win," Antioch coach Del Pechauer said. "I knew (Mundelein) would be tough up front so our guys played pretty well getting the ball. We had some big plays. We didn't have long drives."

One of those big plays came on the second play of the game as Nate Hughes, who looked fully recovered from a neck injury suffered three weeks ago, scampered 75 yards to the house. He finished with 113 yards in the contest.

"Nate Hughes played a heck of a game and then Nick Nathan came in after being hurt so they played well," Pechauer said. Nathan finished with 90 yards on the ground.

Hughes added a 1-yard score just before halftime. Jeremy Pohlman nailed a 35-yard field goal in the third quarter and Brad Fortney had the clincher with a 3-yard score with just over five minutes left in the fourth quarter.

Despite several injuries to the offensive line, Antioch managed to rush for over 200 yards.

"They're pretty beat up, but they played well considering," Pechauer said. "There were times they pushed us back but our guys hung in there."

The win improved Antioch's record to 6-3 overall and 2-3 in the NSC Lake division. The Sequoits will be at Lake Zurich in the opening round of the Class 7A playoffs Oct. 29 at 7 p.m.

Kristi Mihovilovich

If it wasn't for bad luck, she wouldn't have no luck at all. That classic blues lyric fits Antioch senior Kristi Mihovilovich to a "T".

After helping lead Antioch to a win over Grant in the first match of her varsity career last season, Mihovilovich rolled her ankle and was forced to miss several weeks.

This season began even more inauspiciously for the senior outside hitter. Her back got so bad over the summer, she was forced to visit an orthopedic surgeon, who diagnosed her with several stress fractures in her lower back.

"That was really tough to deal with," said Mihovilovich, who was sidelined all summer, in addition to missing the first few weeks of the season while recuperating from the injury. "I was really looking forward to the beginning of the year and I couldn't play. It was really frustrating."

It's especially tough on her considering that she only stands 5-feet, 7-inches tall, so she has to rely on her jumping ability for kills, something that's not amenable with her bad back.

"I've been doing a lot of physical therapy," Mihovilovich said. "But the doctors told me the only way for it to heal is with rest."

That's something that is not likely to come, as Antioch is enjoying its best season ever with a 28-7 record heading into the postseason.

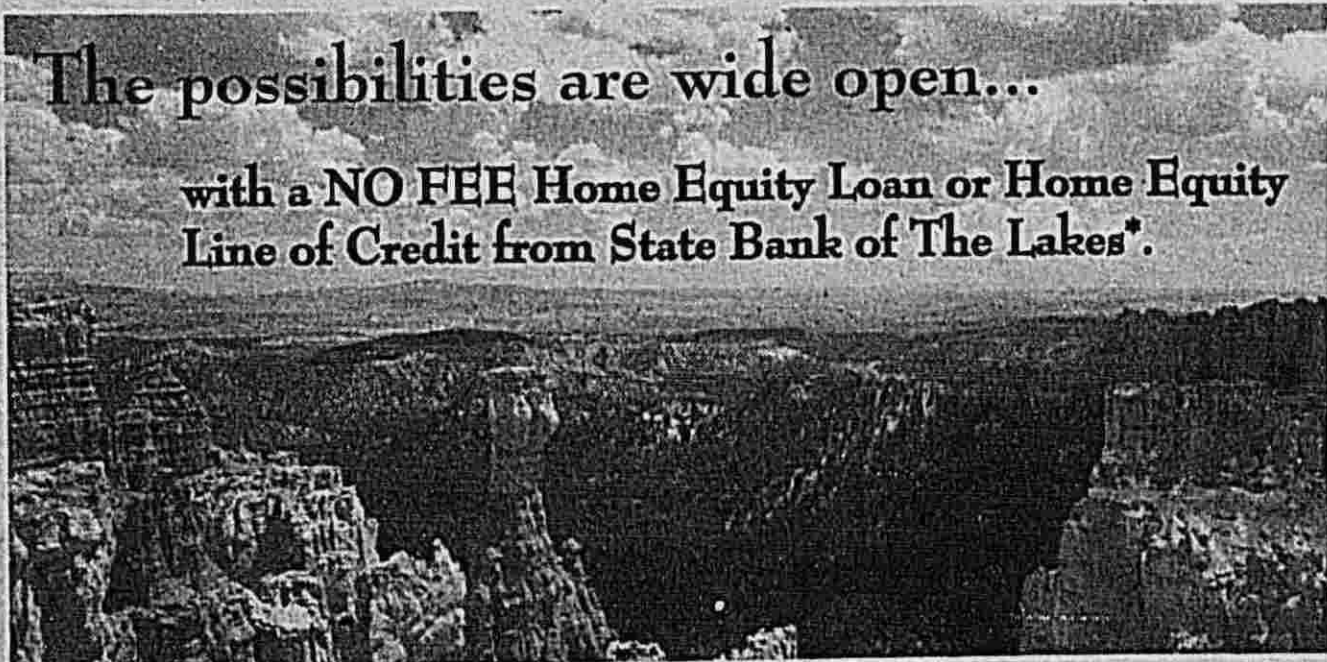

Despite the injury, Mihovilovich has evolved into one of the leading hitters on the team, according to head coach Bob Schenk.

"Kristi has come a long way in two years," Schenk said. "She really worked hard in the off-season, and she gives us a lot more balance. I can't just rely on Kate (Hofeldt), and Kristi gives us another hitter I can count on."

"Hitting next to Kate has been great," Mihovilovich said. "If I'm down, she always picks me up. But we usually get the job done." —By Rob Backus

Corsairs open postseason with win

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

Going into the postseason Carmel coach Sarah Yeager knew her team had a couple of weaknesses.

"We worked on our serve receiving and our serving all week," Yeager said. "That's how you're going to beat teams like Lake Zurich and Libertyville. If you can serve aggressively, you can make it harder for them to hit."

The hard work appeared to pay off Tuesday at the No. 10 seeded Corsairs opened the Lake Zurich Regional with a 25-14, 25-14 win over No. 16 Wauconda.

"The whole team played a really good game; we were all playing together," said outside hitter Pam Stanton, who finished with five kills and two aces in the match. "We've come a long way and tonight proves that."

Colette LeClaire (11 digs), Becky Kersten (5 digs, 2 aces), Teresa Ogrinc (4 kills, 2 blocks), Kelley Semens (8 assists) and Erica Masini (5 assists) all had solid matches for Carmel, which improved to 17-17-1 with the win.

"It was a good match for us; a good way to start the postseason," Yeager said.

The Corsairs were able to enter the playoffs on a high note, defeating ESCC rival St. Viator 25-23, 25-21 last Thursday.

"I told the girls how important it was to beat Viator to go into the postseason with a win," Yeager said. "The girls were a little down before that but the win got us motivated."

With the absence of starters Stanton and Abby Sup, several players were forced to step to the forefront.

Jessica Toby (8 digs), Erin Thelen (8 digs), Ogrinc (5 kills, 4 blocks), Erin Walsh (6 kills, 2 blocks), Kelly Gleason (2 blocks) and Semens (13 assists) all played well in the regular season finale.

"The girls did a nice job filling the open positions," Yeager said. "We have a strong rivalry with Viator so the girls were really pumped up. Our serve reception was at its best and our serving was aggressive."

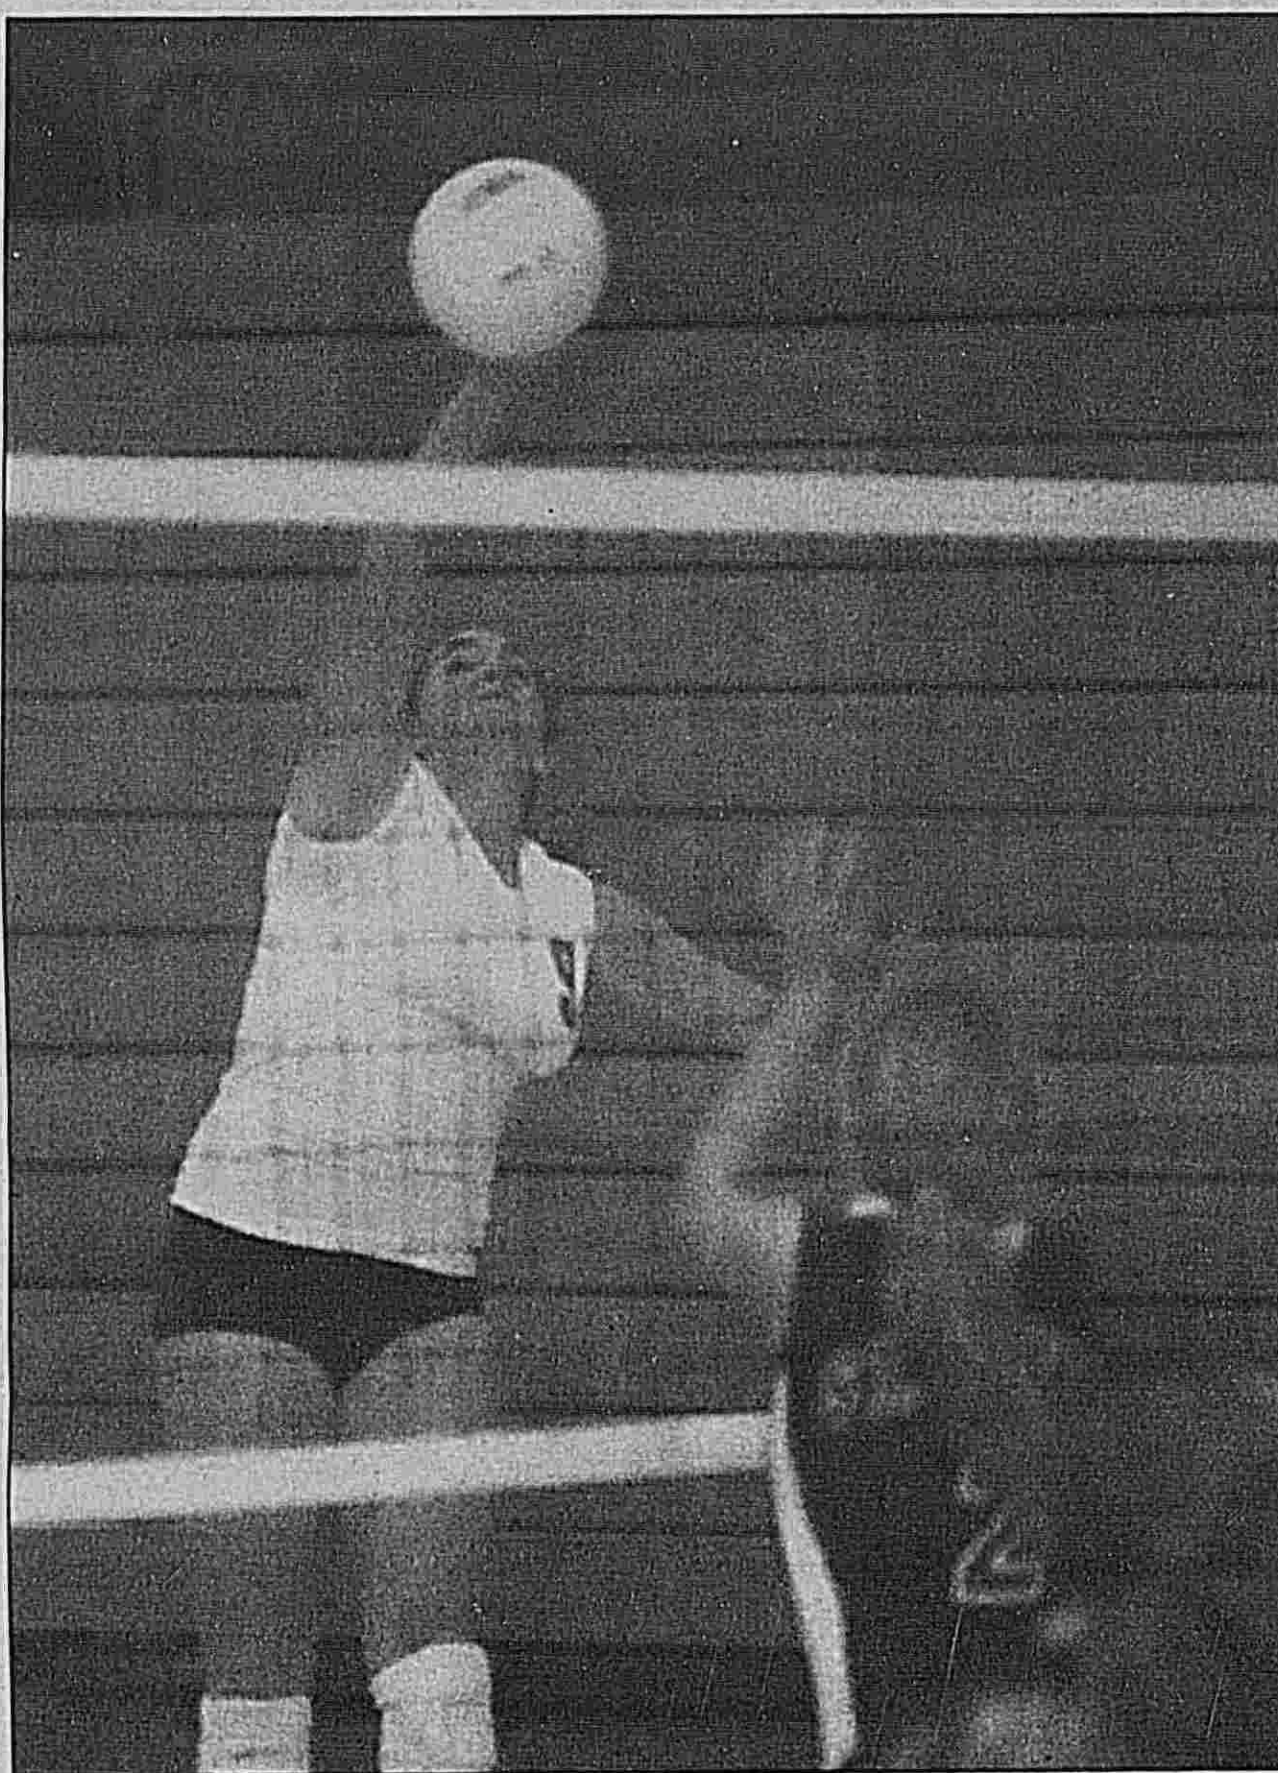

GIRLS TENNIS

Carmel senior Catherine Grachek closed out her varsity career last weekend with her second straight top-32 finish in the state tournament.

"I wanted to at least make it as far as I did last year and I did so I was pretty happy with my performance," Grachek said.

In the first round, Grachek defeated Princeton's Abby Griggs 6-1, 6-1 and topped Shennin Yuen from Conant 6-2, 6-1 in the second round. Unfortunately, she was paired against Maine West's Denise Muresan in the third round and lost 6-0, 6-1. Muresan would go on to finish second in the state.

"She really rose to the occasion," Carmel coach Nancy Fehn said. "She played some really tough tennis and had excellent concentration."

CROSS COUNTRY

Carmel coach Jim Halford was thrilled with his team's title at the Mundelein Regional at Lakewood Forest Preserve last weekend and the top two runners, Colleen Donovan and Caroline Gregory.

"Colleen worked really hard and it paid off. She has come a long way," Halford said.

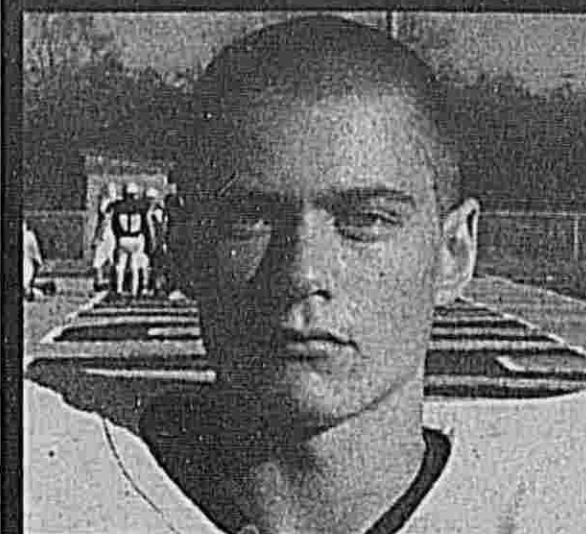

Carmel advancers to the team competition in Schaumburg are: Donovan, first, Reiger, second overall, junior Ashley Heilingoetter, ninth, in 20:19; junior Kerry Devitt was 14th in 20:44; Sara Stolz, also a junior, 23rd in 21:37; senior Megan Petkus 32nd in 21:57 and Ally Sturm was 36th in 22:04.

The boys team had the third best overall score in their meet, finishing with 59 team points, just three points behind second place Lake Zurich.

Tyler Ankney

Carmel junior quarterback Tyler Ankney was rolling right along. The Corsairs had played well in each of their first five games, winning them all.

But then in the first half of the team's game against St. Patrick, Ankney took a hard hit to the head. He doesn't remember much after that.

"I can't remember much about that game," said Ankney, who was diagnosed with a concussion a few days later. "I can only remember about two plays."

Ankney was forced to miss the next two games, but kept his best face on, doing whatever he could to help out replacement John Brennan.

"That (missing two games) was really hard, but the only thing you can do is sit and watch and support your team," Ankney said. "But John is probably my best friend on and off the field, so I knew he could get the job done."

"That says a lot about Tyler," Carmel coach Andy Bitto said. "We was resilient. He never said a word and helped out when he could. That's what you want in a leader."

Ankney is also giving Bitto what he wants out of the quarterback position, as he is currently 29 of 56 passing for 461 yards and six touchdowns with no interceptions. He also has 189 yards on the ground and five scores.

"He makes really good decisions and that's what you want out of a QB," Bitto said. "He hasn't thrown an interception; he keeps us in the game. We're not looking for him to win games, just keep us in them. He won't break any 60-yard runs and he probably won't throw for 300 yards, but he does an excellent job leading us on the field."

"Everyone's looking to me to lead, but I just try to stay calm," Ankney said. "I just need to make the right reads, and depend on the other 10 guys on the field to do their jobs." —By Rob Backus

Bulldogs close out season with win

By Steve Peterson

Sports Reporter

Although they would receive the bad news when the team returned to campus, that Wauconda had lost to North Chicago and ended any faint hopes of a Grant playoff bid, Grant players were happy with their effort in a 42-32 win over Zion-Benton.

Senior Jeff Cukla, one of QB Eric Lostrosio's favorite targets, had a 140-yard night in pass receptions, including a long 81-yard TD toss from Lostrosio.

"It has been a good four years. It will feel strange not to put on the red uniform on Friday nights any more," running back Eric Horvath said.

The team prepared for Zion-Benton well, hoping for a 4-win season, a 3-2 division record and an outside division title shot and maybe even a playoff bid.

"After North Chicago (a 13-10 overtime loss), we could have pouted, but we did not. We went out and worked hard," said coach Mark Barczak.

Cukla said the team and coaches found ways to make practices and games fun. He said knowing Lostrosio for four years and catching passes from him was a highlight.

"We just ran the plays the way we know how," Lostrosio said of the win.

"It was nice to beat Zion. We have had a lot of close games with them," Barczak said.

The 88-yard TD run by Horvath set the tone, Barczak said. Horvath finished with a 217-yard night and two second-half TDs. Chris Rosado added 60 yards. Lostrosio had 44 with a 3-yard TD run. Lostrosio had a 22-yard TD pass to Cukla for the second score, followed by the long bomb to Cukla early in the second half.

The team had to overcome an injury to wide receiver Matt Behm, who will be OK. "We had a lot of juniors step it up, especially on the defensive side of the ball. We will be tough next year," Barczak said.

Zion was forced to pass the ball all night, and did so for 15-for-29, 169 yards and an interception.

CROSS COUNTRY

Pam Staton qualified from Grant and Wauconda earned the third place of the five-team qualifiers.

Staton was sixth overall in 19:51. "She will be fine next week. She just had a case of the nerves," Newby said.

Wauconda finished third with 63 points, just two points out of second.

Shannon Kimes, a junior, led the way with a 19:42 for three miles. Senior Danielle Connor just made the top 10 in 20:17; Katie Ellis was 11th in 20:19; Samantha Pancamo, a junior, was 18th in 21:11; Kirsten Kraus ended 21st in 21:18; Annette Hansen was 31st in 21:53 and senior Bianca Cusimano had a 24:45 for 52nd.

Ellis continues to be bothered by a foot injury, and Willhoit said he would be happy if Grant High's volleyball team has faced the toughest competition of the season in recent weeks.

The Bulldogs have held their own, winning the Prairie Division, and challenging Stevenson in the NSC Title match.

Grant was sixth at the Crosstown Classic, a primer for this week's regional at Lake Zurich. Grant, the No. 8 seed, played Vernon Hills, the No. 9 seed on Oct. 27.

Senior Cassie Newton has been a quiet leader for the Bulldogs.

"I've been playing volleyball since seventh grade," she said.

Newton said the team has come together well, challenging the school win record. Newton, who is 5 feet, 5 inches, plays outside and middle hitter for the Bulldogs.

"We had a lot of spaghetti dinners," she said.

Newton said the team played some of its best matches to date against Stevenson, first for the NSC title, then in the Crosstown Classic.

Newton is just one of team's examples of determination. An accident after practice injured an eye and she had to miss some time with the team. The Bulldogs run an effective offense with Danielle Eiller, Tara Guidry, Newton and Becka Gonyo with the lead attack. Gonyo is the only player of the group over 5 feet, 8 inches.

"Cassie has been real steady, even after her eye injury. She can always give us points on serving and at the net," Thompson said.

"If we get one more win, it would be a new school record. I am impressed with how the team has come together, even against Stevenson, it was 23-23 and could have gone either way," Thompson said.

Newton was speaking during a pre-season basketball workout. She also plays soccer at GCHS. —By Steve Peterson

Rams hang tough in Crosstown Classic

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

It's not often that a 1-4 record can be misleading, but in Grayslake's case it was. Despite winning just one match, the Rams played well throughout the Crosstown Classic, hanging tough in three of their four losses.

"The record doesn't show how good a team we were," Grayslake coach Jeanna Beerbower said. "We played three really good matches."

The Rams opened up pool play with three straight losses, dropping matches to Antioch, 17-25, 15-25, Warren 17-25, 25-27 and Zion-Benton 5-25, 9-25.

"We played well against Warren and Antioch, but Zion-Benton, for whatever reason, crushed us," Beerbower said.

The team then opened up the second day of the tournament with a 25-11, 25-18 win over Round Lake before falling to Wauconda in the 13th place match 25-22, 23-25, 25-17.

"We ran our offense really well, we just struggled with our serve reception," said Beerbower, whose team fell to 7-24 overall with the 1-4 showing the weekend.

Jill Smart led the way with 24 kills, 13 digs and four aces during the tournament. "Jill just came alive for us," Beerbower said.

Nicole Sarver (140-144 setting, 42 assists, 3 aces), Ashleigh Swearingen (13 kills) and Rochie Vergara (16 digs) also had solid tournaments for Grayslake. The Rams also brought up a pair of newcomers with the absence of Gabby Pate, including freshman Megan Falk (18-19 serve reception, 2 kills) and sophomore Katie Salvatiera (11-15 serve reception, 8-9 serving).

"We played everyone this weekend," Beerbower said. "Some girls stepped in and did a nice job."

Up next for Grayslake is an opening round match with No. 4 seeded Warren in the Antioch Regional.

"We've seen the press clippings that we should lose to Warren, but we'll be ready," Beerbower said. "We've really been working on our free-ball conversion. Warren has some really good blockers, so we have to get the ball to the net and be ready to pass it back if we need to."

"We have our weaknesses and they have theirs; the key will be whoever can take advantage of the other team's weaknesses."

Whatever happens, Beerbower views this season as a success.

"For us to win seven matches after winning just five last season, and for us to win two (Fox Valley) conference matches after zero last season is a great accomplishment for the girls," Beerbower said.

GIRLS TENNIS

Grayslake sophomore Lynne Poggensee-Wei had her 24-match winning streak thwarted by eventual state champ Monica Milewski from Maine South, 6-2, 6-0 in the state semifinals.

Amy Anderson of Grayslake High School bumps the ball during a Crosstown Classic game against Warren Township High School at Libertyville High School.

"That match was a slugfest," Grayslake coach Jeanna Beerbower said. "Monica thrives on the baseline game, so I told Lynne to bring her to the net to try to change the pace. When you have two equal hitters like that, it becomes a thinking game and Monica let Lynne make all the mistakes."

Poggensee-Wei also dropped a tough third-place match to Springfield's Hailee Elmore 4-6, 6-3, 6-4.

"That was a heartbreaker," Ingram said. "She put a lot of effort into that match. But Hailee is a very good player and Lynne may have lost it mentally."

According to Ingram, the mental game is something Poggensee-Wei needs to work on over the next two years.

"I think the mental toughness will come for her eventually," Ingram said. "She's worked hard on the tennis skills for a long time but the toughness just comes with maturity. She can't let negativity affect her play."

Poggensee-Wei defeated Aurora West's Jenny Schwartz in the first round (6-0, 6-1), Crystal Lake South's Sarah Subak in the second round (6-0, 6-0), Benet's Elizabeth Denys in the third round (6-1, 6-0), Homewood-Flossmoor's Nicole Puntee (6-1, 6-1) and Barrington's Jessica Linden in the quarterfinals (6-4, 6-4).

CROSS COUNTRY

Grayslake had three individuals make the top five at the Mundelein Regional at Lakewood Forest Preserve. They are senior Jenna Kuehl, 13th, in 20:43, senior Jessica Duhig, with a 21:27 for 22nd and Morgan Jacquette, a junior, with a 21:38 for 24th.

The boys team qualified as a team, finishing fourth with 104 team points. Alex Mikrut (12th, 17:25), Dylan Fischer (17th, 17:40), Andy Gerken (20th, 17:48), Scott Beckord (21st, 17:48) and Scott Merrell (34th, 18:28) were the top finishers for Grayslake.

FOOTBALL

The boys football team fell just short against Dundee-Crown Oct. 23, losing to the Chargers 21-14 in the regular season finale.

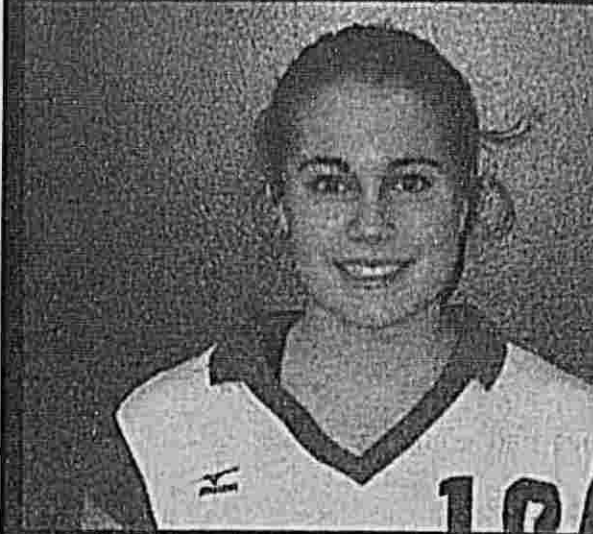

Grayslake finished the season 2-7 overall and 2-6 in the Fox Valley Conference.

Dundee-Crown (3-6, 3-5) scored three touchdowns in an eight minute span to beat the Rams.

Grayslake struck first with a four-yard touchdown run by Brett Miller late in the second quarter to make the score 7-0.

With just over four minutes to go in the third quarter, sophomore quarterback Matt Young scored on a two-yard run for the Rams final points of the game.

PREPROFILES

Nicole Sarver

Having to move to a new school is tough for anyone, but for Grayslake senior setter Nicole Sarver, it was even more imposing.

"It was definitely intimidating," said Sarver, who moved to Grayslake from downstate Dixon prior to her junior year. "Everyone was close-knit, and I really didn't know anyone."

Her quiet demeanor was a problem at times last season, since as the team's starting setter she is expected to be a vocal leader on the floor.

"She had a lot of talent last year, but I couldn't get her to talk," Grayslake coach Jeanna Beerbower said. "This year, it's like she's a totally different person."

"Everyone on the team is pretty," said. "Amy (Anderson) and Gabby (Pate) are all good friends. They really helped me out and got me to open up."

According to Sarver, what helped her most was being part of Grayslake's super-sectional champion girls hoops team last winter.

"It was an amazing experience," Sarver said. "It really opened me up to more people."

And her ability to better communicate has helped her to become a much better player, according to Beerbower.

"She's one of our leaders this year," Beerbower said. "She's an excellent server; she's maybe missed two serves all year. Plus she's setting at 99 percent this year. Her court vision and her technique have all gotten better. Plus she's extremely coachable."

Her improved court vision comes in part from her intelligence, according to Beerbower.

"She's in a bunch of AP classes, and that intelligence seems to transfer onto the floor," Beerbower said. "She knows what to do all the time." —By Rob Backus

Cats take 2nd at Crosstown Classic

By Matt Pera

Sports Reporter

Earlier this season, the Libertyville girls volleyball team took on Stevenson and lost in two straight games. Being that the Wildcats only lost five times during the entire regular season, they took it personally.

They had a chance to avenge the North Suburban Conference Lake Division loss Oct. 23, when they hosted the Patriots for the Crosstown Classic championship match.

But, once again, Stevenson's defense and smart hitting proved to be too much for the Wildcats, who lost 2-1 (25-23, 17-25, 18-25).

Not many teams have been able to contend with Libertyville (29-5) this season but senior outside hitter Christine Marchinski said the Patriots were able to keep a good deal of the Wildcat's hits off the floor.

"They're a solid defense," she said. "We usually get away with a lot of tips but they just didn't fall for us today."

In the first game, the Wildcats did manage to get several of those hits past the Patriots for points while playing solid defense themselves.

With the game tied at 22, the Wildcats went on a 3-1 run to take an early 1-0 advantage in the match.

But Stevenson came out with more aggression in the second game, slamming hard kills to the right spots and jumping out to a quick 10-5 lead.

Libertyville managed to get back within one but they seemed to be playing catch-up for the rest of the game, never getting over the hump to gain the lead.

The Patriots went on to a 6-1 lead at the end of the game to win 25-17.

Defense continued to be the highlight of the match in game three, including a sequence in which Stevenson junior right side hitter Candace Kummer scored off three blocks in four plays.

Libertyville head coach Chris Trzyna said her team had a hard time adjusting to the defensive pressure.

"To Stevenson's credit, they just picked everything up that we gave them," she said. "They played extremely well off some of our big hits and that made a difference in that we weren't moving well enough to pick up the stuff that they were giving to us."

The Wildcats did manage a late rally in which they rattled off six straight points to tie the game at 16. But the Patriots took nine of the last eleven points to win the game 25-18 and take the match.

Libertyville won four straight games at the Crosstown Classic before facing Stevenson. On Oct. 22 the Wildcats defeated Highland Park (25-11, 25-7), Mundelein (25-14, 25-13) and Round Lake (25-12, 25-18) before beating Antioch 25-16, 25-16 in the semifinal match Oct. 23.

The team will next face (either North Chicago or Waukegan, depending on who wins in their match-up Oct. 26.) to begin sectionals on Oct. 27 with a chance at another rematch against Stevenson on the horizon.

"Now we put our sights ahead to looking for the state playoffs," Trzyna said. "And you can't let one match take away from everything you've done all season long and, who knows, hopefully we battle (Stevenson) again."

GIRLS TENNIS

Libertyville's No.1 singles player Sam Kintzel had a strong showing at the IHSA state championship Oct. 21-23, finishing in the top 16.

Kintzel got off to a hot start at the tournament, winning her first three matches.

But she then met up with Glenbrook

South's Katia Babina in the fourth round and lost in straight sets, 6-3, 6-3.

She went onto lose in the sixth round of the consolation bracket to Moline's Brooke Forsberg 6-4, 6-0.

BOYS SOCCER

The Libertyville boys soccer team lost to Waukegan on their home turf in the regional semifinals Oct. 26.

The score was tied 1-1 at the end of regulation, which sent the match into a penalty kick shootout.

PREPROFILES

Christine Marchinski

When the Libertyville girls volleyball team takes the court, it's not hard to notice senior outside hitter Christine Marchinski.

She's usually the one talking to her teammates before the first serve, joking a little bit to keep them loose as another match gets underway. While volleyball is often a high-stress endeavor, Marchinski is not one to get too worked up or scowl in anger if something goes wrong.

"I'm not the type of player to get all high-strung and everything," she said. "I try to keep relaxed in high pressure situations."

That is why, when she or another member of the team makes a mistake, the smile that is usually on her face doesn't go away, and she gets ready for the next play.

"She's that kind of player," head coach Chris Trzyna said. "She'll make a mistake and get ready to go to the next ball, which is an important factor out of a senior, to have that much confidence in her and the rest of our players to get the job done."

Trzyna added that Marchinski is able to get the job done on more than one front.

"She plays pretty solid in every part of the game," she said.

Marchinski has been a skillful hitter all season long, finding holes on the opposition's half of the floor and sending the ball to the right spots. Defensively, she also has played aggressively, diving to get important digs and keeping the ball in the air.

And with a stellar regular season in the books, she said she is ready to avenge last season's loss to Lake Zurich in the sectional finals.

"We have four senior starters so our goal is to go far, definitely past sectionals," Marchinski said. "That's our main goal. If we get to super sectionals, that would be amazing." -Matt Pera

state football title game begins on Friday

WARREN VS. BARRINGTON

With Halloween approaching, it's almost fitting that Warren's opening round game against Barrington is eerily similar to the match-up two years ago.

In 2002, No. 2 seeded Blue Devils hooked up with the No. 7 seeded Broncos, with Barrington prevailing 30-6. So Warren coach Dave Mohapp is obviously hoping that it's not a case of deja vu for the Devils.

"It's going to be a tough game," Mohapp said. "They present a lot of match-ups problems for us."

The Broncos provide a lot of offensive punch, behind quarterback Garrett Seeger, who beat the Devils as a sophomore, and 6-foot, 7-inch, 300-pound offensive lineman Dan Doering. Both Doering and Seeger have been selected to play in the prestigious U.S. Army All-American Game.

"They attack in multiple ways on offense," Mohapp said. "They have an outstanding quarterback and a very large offensive line. They have a lot of firepower."

But so do the Devils, who have out-scored the opposition 314-144 on the season. Tailback Mitchell

Moore leads the way with 1,375 yards on 148 carries (9.3 average) and 20 TDs on the season. Fullback Quintin Scott is no pushover either, with 565 yards on 69 carries (8.2 average) and 10 TDs.

And if the defense stacks the line, quarterback Garren Zerfass (77 of 135 passing, 1,164 yards, 8 TD, 2 INT) has proved he has the ability to air it out to receivers Marcus Lewis (42 catches, 637 yards, 4 TD) and AJ Kegg (19 catches, 261 yards, TD).

"We have some good match-ups, we just have to hope our defense matches up well with their offense," Mohapp said. "But it should be a good football game." —By Rob Backus

FRIDAY, OCT. 29, at 7 p.m.
In Libertyville, 708 W. Route 176

Libertyville head coach Randy Kuceyeski said his team received a rude awakening in the first round of last season's playoffs against Antioch.

After going undefeated in the 2003 regular season, the Wildcats found themselves down

14-0 to the Sequoias in the first quarter. They were able to dig themselves out of that hole, winning 28-21, and then cruised to the Class 7A state championship game where they lost to Oswego 28-21 in double OT.

"Last year we learned a valuable lesson," Kuceyeski said. "We played poorly against Antioch in the first game and we know not to let that happen again."

Libertyville is coming off another undefeated regular season and is seeded No. 1 in their bracket. The Wildcats will host No. 8 seed and NSC Lake Division foe Mundelein (5-4) at Libertyville Oct. 29.

In their regular season match-up Oct. 2, the Wildcats beat the Mustangs 30-8.

In order for the playoff game's result to be different, Mundelein offensive coordinator Brain Hamlett said the team has to establish their ground attack, which is led by senior running back Jake Gaebler.

Kuceyeski agreed that the battles at the line of scrimmage would help determine the outcome of the game.

Senior quarterback Brett Lancaster, along with the senior running back trio of Kyle Nader, Jeff Fontana and Tom Sitz, will pace Libertyville's offense. The points per game. Mundelein will be appearing in the playoffs for just the second time in their school's history. The first was in 2002, when the Mustangs lost to Lake Zurich in the first round. —By Matt Pera

Wildcats are a constant threat to pick up big yardage and averaged just under 37

ANTIOCH VS. LAKE ZURICH

After losing three straight games to NSC Lake Division foes Warren, Stevenson and Libertyville, Antioch finished the regular season on a good note, beating Mundelein 24-8 on Oct. 22.

The Sequoias (6-3, 2-3) were suffering through several injuries heading into that final game. But head coach Del Pechauer said his squad is on the mend as they prepare for their first round playoff match-up with Lake Zurich (7-2, 6-2 Fox Valley Conference).

"It seems like we're healthier after (the Mundelein) game," he said. "We've got a week to get our other guys healthy. I'm hoping we're okay. I might get a lineman back by next week."

A rejuvenated offensive line will be important against a Lake Zurich defense that allowed just over 13 points per game during the regular season, led by hard-hitting senior defensive lineman Michael Brazeau.

Offensively, the Bears are paced by running back Nick Garlisch, who rushed for 249 yards and three TDs in Lake Zurich's 36-20 win over McHenry Oct. 22.

Antioch's offensive success will largely be predicated on the performances of senior running backs Nick Nathan and Nate Hughes, who have given defenses fits for most of the season.

While Nathan suffered through some late-season injuries as well, he came into the Mundelein game and tallied 96 yards on the ground. Hughes ran for 109 yards and two touchdowns against the Mustangs.

"I'm hoping we can play well and do the things we want to do—run the ball play aggressive defense like we have been," Pechauer said. —By Matt Pera

CARMEL VS. NORTH CHICAGO

Carmel coach Andy Bitto is at a loss to explain his team's play over the last month. The Corsairs had rolled through the early part of the season, only to lose three out of their last four games, including the final two.

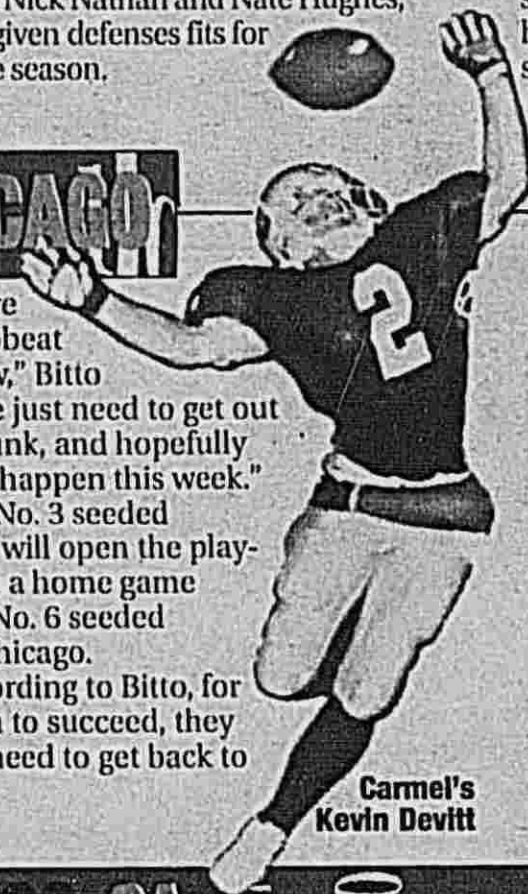

"This has been the most frustrating month in my head coaching career," Bitto said. "We just haven't played well. We haven't tackled on defense; it's the worst defensive performance over an extended period of time I've seen in 20 years."

After all that, you would think that the Corsairs have all but resigned themselves to failure. But that's not the case.

"We're pretty upbeat right now," Bitto said. "We just need to get out of that funk, and hopefully that can happen this week."

The No. 3 seeded Corsairs will open the playoffs with a home game against No. 6 seeded North Chicago.

According to Bitto, for his team to succeed, they simply need to get back to basics.

Carmel's bread and butter on offense is its option attack, led by backs Jimmy Potempa (159 carries, 847 yards, 12 TD), Darren Davis (56 carries, 620 yards, 8 TD) and Steve Hironimus (71 carries, 509 yards, 4 TD).

If needed, quarterback Tyler Ankney (29 of 56 passing, 461 yards, 6 TD) has shown the ability to pass successfully on occasion.

"We need to get back to our option and prevent the big play," Bitto said. "North Chicago is a big play team, on offense and defense. We need to force them to make drives on us and we need to drive on them to keep the ball out of their hands." —By Rob Backus

JOHNSBURG VS. LASALLE PERU

SAT., OCT. 30, 1 p.m.
In Johnsburg, 2002 Ringwood Road

Football fever is at a playoff pitch as the Skyhawks completed the first unbeaten season in school history with a 35-28 win over rival Harvard for a 9-0 record before the thrilled home fans Friday.

Rookie coach Jason Aubry has a game plan of what he would like to see from his high-powered offense. "We are the only team in the Big Northern that runs this offense, and no one in the NCIC runs it. That gives us a big advantage. We like to see 300 yards in passing and 100 yards in rushing," Aubry said.

Trevor Bupp leads the attack with talented wide receivers Chris Leathers (38 catches, 985 yards, 15 TDs) and Tyler Kammer (35 catches, 658 yards, 3 TDs). Bupp has 2,344 yards and 24 TDs passing against only six INTs.

A double overtime win over Grant back in week two was the closest any foe has come to JHS, a 35-34 win. Kammer had more than 100 yards in receptions and Decker had 33. Leathers and Bupp connected for a 69-yard TD pass in the third quarter.

The defense has its leaders, too. Dan Vesley has 60 tackles, three sacks and six tackles for loss from his linebacker spot. "He has been outstanding," Aubry said. —By Steve Peterson

MUNDELEIN

"I don't think we played up to our potential. But I'm certainly disappointed for the kids because I know this was one game that they wanted to go out on a high note."

Mundelein Football Coach

Gaebler, Mustangs held in check

By Matt Pera

Sports Reporter

It was the first snap of Antioch's first possession, but the Mundelein coaching staff already knew what to look out for.

"Watch the fullback!" they yelled from sidelines. "Watch number eight!"

On 1st-and-10 at their own 20-yard line the Sequoits gave the ball to Nate Hughes, that very fullback, and he ran for five yards. Not bad, but not the end of the world either.

But on the very next play, Hughes took the ball, dashed to the right sideline and ran 75 yards into the end zone to make the score 7-0 exactly one minute into the game.

That would only prove to be the beginning, as Hughes rushed for 109 yards and another touchdown, helping Antioch to a 24-8 road victory Oct. 22.

The win gave the Sequoits (6-3) the fifth seed in the Class 7A IHSA playoffs and a match-up with Lake Zurich. Mundelein (5-4) earned the eighth seed and will be on the road to take on NSC Lake Division foe Libertyville, a team they lost to 30-8 in the regular season.

Mundelein head coach Dave Whitson said after his team hung tough with Stevenson Oct. 15, leading the Patriots after three quarters then falling short, he thought they were destined for a strong showing against Antioch.

"After the week we had last week I thought we were progressing in the right direction," he said. "We felt this was just a progression where we were hoping this was going to be a break-out game but that definitely didn't happen tonight."

The Mustangs were limited to only 174 total yards of offense, while Antioch put together a consistent ground attack that accounted for 276 of their 315 total yards.

The game was tight throughout the first half, as Hughes' early score remained the only points on the board until there was under a minute to go in the second quarter.

After getting the ball at Mundelein's 39-yard line, Antioch took advantage of the short field. The Sequoits put together a six-play drive that ended with a one-yard touchdown run by Hughes, making the score 14-0 heading into halftime.

The Mustangs best chance to make a game of it came at the beginning of the third quarter. Sophomore running back Wade Leppert started the drive with a 21-yard run to Antioch's 38-yard line. But two plays later, junior quarterback Ian Sanchez threw an interception into the hands of Randall Williams, who ran all the way back to Mundelein's 32.

Fumbles also proved to be a thorn in Mundelein's side all night, as the Mustangs dropped the ball four times and lost it once.

Whitson credited Antioch's defensive line with forcing his offense into rushing plays and making mistakes.

"(Antioch's) pressure on defense was relentless tonight," he said. "I don't think we played up to our potential. But I'm certainly disappointed for the kids because I know this was one game that they wanted to go out on a high note."

The one high note of the game for Mundelein came with just under a minute left in the fourth quarter.

After Gaebler caught a diving 32-yard pass from Sanchez to put the ball at Antioch's 2-yard line, he took a pitch on third down and goal and ran it into the end zone for what may have been his last touchdown at home.

Overall, the Sequoits held Gaebler to 48 yards rushing and 34 receiving. It was only the second time this season he did not amass 100 yards in a game.

"I think they keyed a lot on me," Gaebler said of Antioch. "They did a good job of staying home and reading the counter."

After starting the season 4-0, the Mustangs went 1-4 in conference play. While Whitson said he was not satisfied with that showing, he added that the team is improving and will build on their success.

"5-4 is disappointing," he said. "That's not where my expectations are, but give us some time and let's see what happens."

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

The girls volleyball team placed seventh at the Crosstown Classic Oct. 22-23 at Libertyville and Vernon Hills High Schools.

On Oct. 23, the Mustangs (13-19) lost Warren 21-25, 16-25 before defeating Deerfield 26-24, 25-18 in the seventh place match.

In the first game against Deerfield, Mundelein came back from a 24-19 deficit, scoring seven straight points for the win.

The Mustangs went 2-1 in pool play Oct. 22, their only loss coming to Libertyville 14-25, 13-25. In their first game, the team beat Round Lake 25-0, 25, 10. They also defeated Highland Park 25-22, 25-15.

The Mustangs were led by Ashley Cretacci (30 kills, 15 digs), Emily T'Niemi (34 assists) and Heidi Haubrich (11 blocks).

CROSS COUNTRY

Along the way of getting some miles in for track, a Mundelein High cross country runner became a hero.

"Amesha Baker was getting ready for track, but now she is our fifth runner. Clare Heitmann did a great job for us. Mandy Ranck died a little bit," said MHS coach John Osmanski.

Ranck is a freshman running against juniors and seniors. She was in the lead early, but got tired and dropped to fourth, Osmanski said of the Mundelein Class AA Cross Country Regional at Lakewood Forest Preserve.

Carmel won the team title over Mundelein, 49-61. Both squads qualified as teams for the Schaumburg sectional Oct. 30 at Busse Woods.

after Jessica Moffitt was ruled that she could not race a few minutes prior. "Baker was our hero," Osmanski said.

"She did a great job, kept on moving up with confidence, it was great to see. She ran the race correctly and it worked out for us," MHS coach John Osmanski said of Erica Moffitt.

Erica Moffitt's fifth-place effort of 19:49 was behind teammate Mandy Ranck's fourth place effort of 19:45.

BOYS SOCCER

The boys soccer team lost to Grant 2-1 in the first round of the Class AA regional Oct. 23.

Mundelein junior forward Guillermo Resendiz scored the lone goal for the Mustangs early in the first half to make the score 1-1.

PREP PROFILES

Steve Tonsul

Last season, Mundelein senior running back Steve Tonsul was the Mustangs' number-one option in the backfield.

While fellow senior Jake Gaebler ran deep routes as a wide receiver, Tonsul balanced the team's offensive attack by grinding it out on the ground.

But when first-year head coach Dave Whitson took over the helm at Mundelein this season, the offensive scheme got a facelift. Gaebler was reassigned to running back, joining forces with Tonsul as a part of the ground attack.

And as Gaebler began churning out big yardage this year, Tonsul continued to contribute, oftentimes taking the opposing defense by surprise as they keyed on his running mate.

Tonsul, a co-captain with Gaebler, said he has enjoyed sharing the backfield because he has had less defensive attention to contend with. When opponents make the mistake of focusing only on Gaebler, they tend to pay for it. "I get more open seams because of that," he said.

Whitson added that Tonsul's skills were integral to the Mustang's 5-4 regular season record.

"Steve would be most teams' featured running back," Whitson said. "And we haven't been able to throw the ball as well as we needed to, to keep people off balance and keep pressure off, but Steve's come through for us big."

Now, with a first-round playoff rematch with Libertyville on the horizon, Tonsul said he is focused on keeping Mundelein's season alive.

"The motivation is (the Libertyville game) could be our last game ever for some of the seniors," he said. "We don't know if we'll all be moving on to college ball or not. This could be the last game and we want to keep on going, get to state (and) end on a good memory." —By Matt Pera

(Touchdowns Only!!!)

Fantasy Football season is here again! For many Lakeland readers, the very thought sends their hearts racing. But for others, the question may be, "What is fantasy football?"

One of the most popular games across the country, fantasy football comes in many different forms, with each allowing football fans to draft their "own" team every Sunday afternoon and/or Monday/Thursday night.

Lakeland Newspapers began their league 4 years ago. This year the following rules apply: readers must pick two quarterbacks, two running backs and two wide receivers. Lakeland Newspapers Fantasy Football Monthly counts only touchdowns.

Your team is good for one month and one month only. Entries must be post marked by the last day of the previous month in order to enter the next month's contest. For example, October 31 is the last day to enter the November contest. You must re-enter each month, after the last game of the month is played the total amount of touchdowns scored by your six players is counted and whichever reader has the most total touchdowns wins. In the event of a tie, Lakeland will count the touchdowns of the candidate's "write-in" players. One entry per person. The October, November and December winners will go in a raffle for the Whirlyball Prize. Each runner-up will get $25.

Lakeland Newspapers will publish a fantasy Football column each week with tips and player news. Don't forget that schedule plays a big role in which players choose. Just because someone may be the league's best player, does not necessarily mean that they will be the best player that month. And don't forget the bye weeks.

Good luck and get those entries in.

Cougars finish 9th at Crosstown Classic

Sports Reporter

The Vernon Hills girls volleyball team seemed to get better as they went along in the Crosstown Classic Oct. 22-23.

The Cougars, who hosted the event along with Libertyville, ended up placing ninth in the 16-team tourney, going 3-2 overall.

But on the first day, the team had a tough showing, losing two out of their first three matches. That dropped them into the 9-12 place bracket, which they won on day two.

Head coach Kathleen Rizzo said a flat start in their opening game against Deerfield Oct. 22 set the tone for the rest of pool play.

"We didn't come to play against Deerfield," she said. "I think, because we beat them twice already (during the season), we kind of thought it was going to be a little easier. I don't think anyone really tried we just thought it would be easy."

Looking past Deerfield proved to be a mistake, as the Warriors beat the Cougars in straight games 26-24, 25-23.

"Deerfield obviously wanted to beat us more than we wanted to beat them," junior outside hitter Erin Gallagher said. "They had their hearts in the game."

In the following match, Vernon Hills (20-15, 4-1) took on a strong Lake Zurich team that ended up taking third place at the tournament.

The Cougars hung tough with the Bears in the first game, remaining either tied or within a point until the end, when Lake Zurich put together a run to win 25-17. In the second game, the Cougars ran out of gas, losing 25-11.

Vernon Hills had problems with their serving in the match, accumulating five service errors in game one and six in game two.

But despite losing both games against the Bears, Rizzo said her team showed a lot of intensity in the match.

"To play (Lake Zurich) that tough, it was huge for us," she said. "Their front line is over six feet tall just to begin with and they're true volleyball players and they cover real well. We were playing smart and then we got into some basic errors."

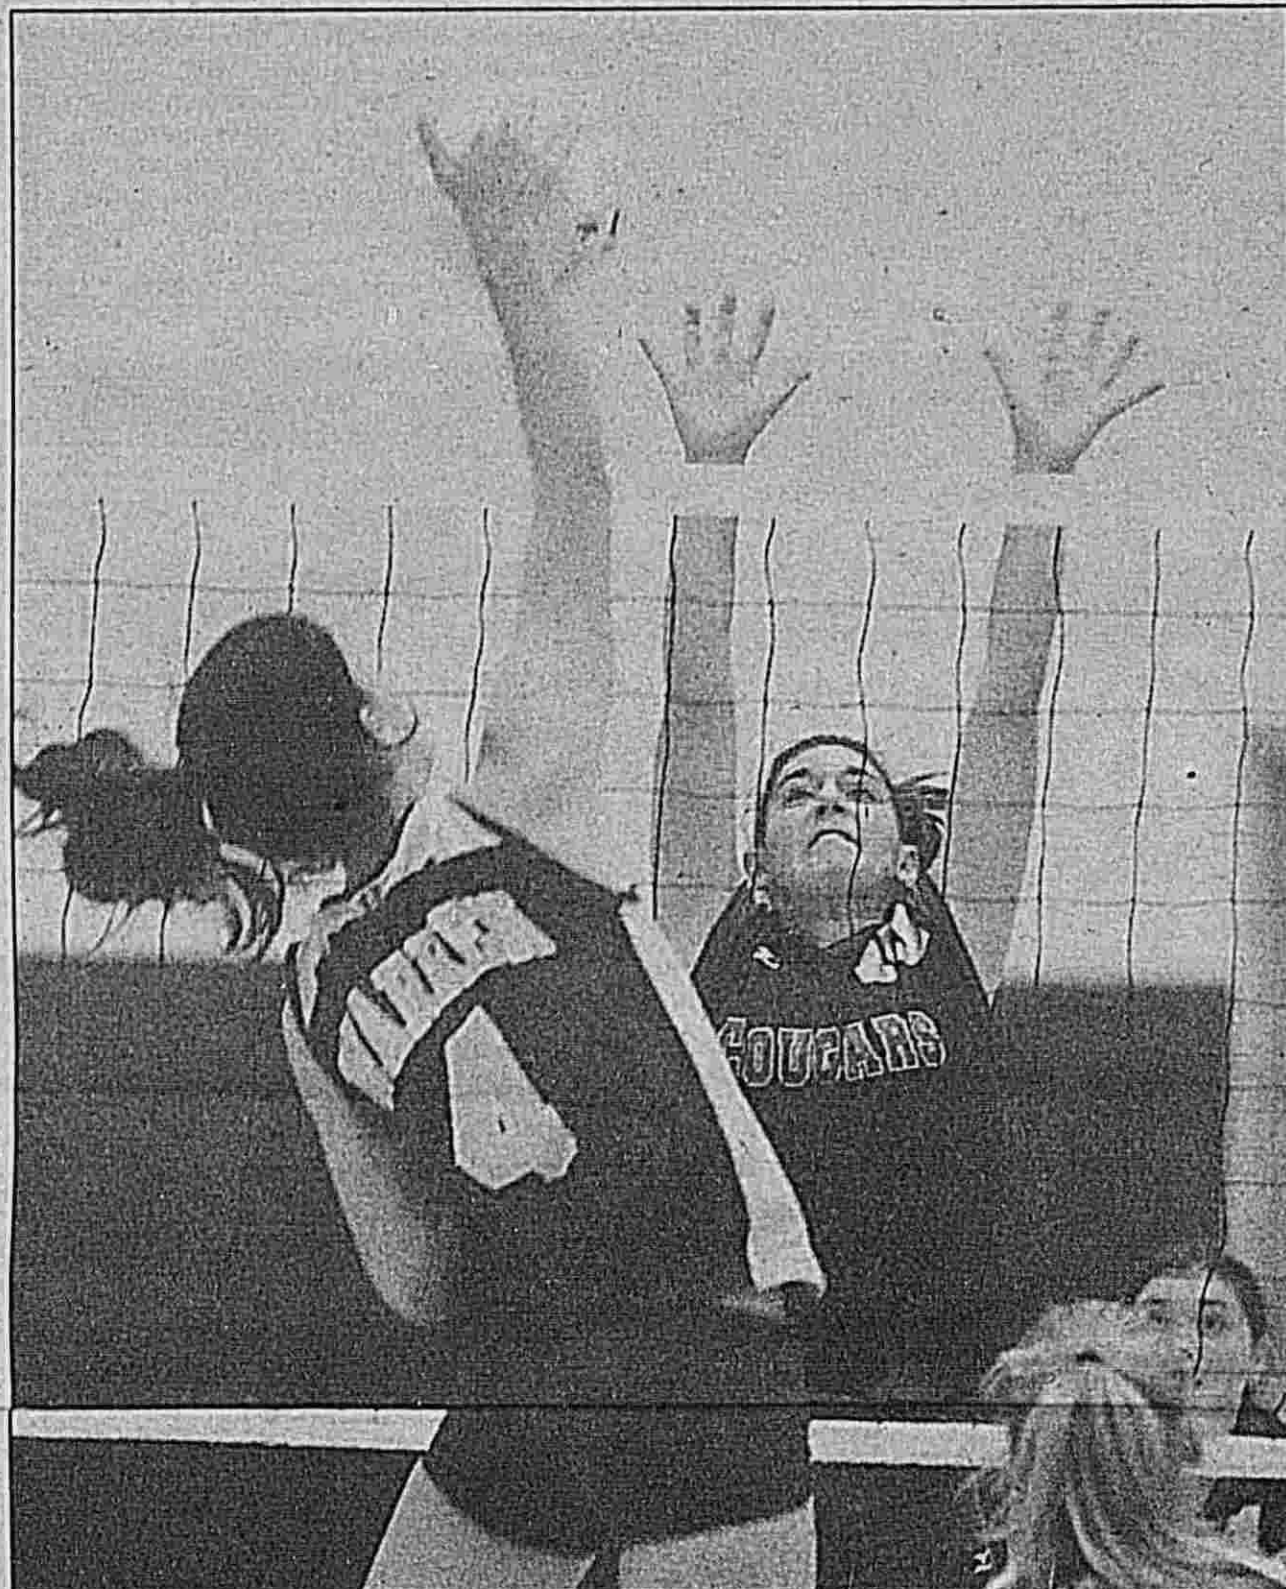

Vernon Hills finally got a win in their last match of pool play, beating Wauconda 25-13, 25-17.

In the 9-12 place bracket Oct. 23, the Cougars bounced back from their disappointing first day to beat Lake Forest and Zion Benton to take ninth place.

Vernon Hills beat Lake Forest in the semi-final match 25-18, 25-18, which Rizzo cited as their best performance of the tournament.

"Saturday was huge," she said. "They wanted to beat Lake Forest so bad. If they would have played like that against any other team, they would have crushed them."

Vernon Hills High School's Katie Guglielmi attempts a block from Warren Township's Caroline Thompson during a game last week.

The team leaders on the weekend were Gallagher (25 kills, six aces, three blocks), sophomore outside hitter Jessica Price (19 kills, nine aces, four blocks) and junior setter Anka Niemczewska (43 assists, eight kills, three aces, three blocks).

FOOTBALL

Vernon Hills closed the season the way coach Tony Monken would have hoped, on a three-game winning streak, with a 17-7 win over Round Lake.

The Cougars ended the regular season at 3-6, 3-2 NSCPrairie, but missing the playoffs for the second time in school history. The Panthers ended 1-8, 1-4.

"We finished it the right way, I'm proud of that," Monken said.

The Cougars bid a farewell to three-year varsity player Max Troyak, a lineman, running back Jim Bedolla and QB Rick Semerau, among others. Bedolla scored on a 39-yard run in the second quarter for a 14-0 lead and finished with more than 100 yards.

"He had four 100 yard games against opponents in our division," Monken said.

Junior Mike Fijalkiewicz had a 30-yard field goal and two PATs for the Cougars on Friday.

Brad Mahrenholz snared a 34-yard pass from Semerau to start the scoring.

"We did not have as good an offense in the second half, but you have to give credit to Round Lake. Our first string defense, though, had a shutout, as they scored with 20 seconds left," Monken said.

PREPFILES

Katie Guglielmi

Vernon Hills junior Katie Guglielmi was shooting at the goal for her club soccer team last November when she heard a crack in her knee and saw the entire bottom half of her leg disappear from underneath her body for a brief moment.

That would be enough to send some players off the field on a stretcher, but Guglielmi was back in the game minutes after the injury. She only lasted a couple more minutes before she realized something was really wrong.

"I thought that I'd be fine so I went back in and the same thing happened," she said.

The injury turned out to be one of the more serious in sports. Athletes call it the unhappy triad.

Guglielmi suffered tears to the anterior cruciate and medial collateral ligaments (ACL and MCL) and the meniscus in her right knee. Along with club soccer, she had also been playing setter for the Vernon Hills varsity volleyball team at the time.

"She planted and her knee buckled and she fell (during the match)," Rizzo said.

Guglielmi underwent reconstructive surgery on her ACL and went through vigorous daily rehabilitation exercises throughout the winter and most of the spring.

Her knee was healthy enough for her to play the entire volleyball season as a starter without any recurrence of the injury this season. She has been wearing a knee brace in practices and games but the doctors have said she can take that off next month.

Guglielmi said there is still some discomfort, but she feels she is close to 100 percent.

"I'm still pushing myself," she said.

Devils earn emotional win over Pats

By Rob Backus

Sports Editor

Headed into last Saturday's showdown against Stevenson, a trio of Devils had something extra weighing on their hearts.

Just two days prior, Marvin Bemby, Mitchell Moore and Marcus Lewis, all of whom started for the varsity hoops team last winter, learned of the passing of longtime stat keeper George Ron Krapf.

"He was in the back of our minds," said Bemby, who wore a black armband with the letters GRK in honor of Krapf. "I know he wanted us to play for him."

And the trio seemed inspired in the game, as Warren topped the rival Pats 29-12.

Although the score was decisive, the game was anything but in the early going. Due in large part to treacherous field conditions because of a downpour prior to the game, Warren committed turnovers on each of its first three possessions.

"The field and the ball was so slippery," Moore said. "We kept putting the defense in a hard spot, but they picked it up and held."

Stevenson did score a pair of touchdowns on runs from Carl Johnson, from 36 and three yards out, as the Pats took a 12-0 lead with 3:01 left to play in the first half.

"The way we were playing early, I wasn't sure if we'd even get a first down," Warren coach Dave Mohapp said. "The field was torn up, there was a heck of a wind and we were driving into it."

But the Devils answered back with a 10-play, 70-yard drive at the end of the half, having first and goal from the 3-yard line after a pass interference penalty in the end zone.

With no time remaining, quarterback Garren Zerfass (13 of 20 passing, 178 yards, 2 TD, INT) hooked up with Marcus Lewis on a three-yard score to cut the lead to 12-7 at the half.

"That play was so key for us," Mohapp said. "We wanted to get some momentum going into halftime and we did."

That momentum appeared to carry over into the second half as Warren's defense held on the opening possession and Zerfass threw a perfect swing pass to Bemby, who took it 55 yards to the house on the first play of the drive. Zerfass and Lewis connected on the two-point conversion to give Warren a 15-12 lead.

"That was a beauty," Bemby said of the pass. "We caught them in the right defense and Garren laid it right in there. And as Marcus would say, 'I took it to the house.'"

Moore's legs and Warren's defense took over from there, as Moore carried the ball seven times for 32 yards on a nine-play, 62-yard drive, culminating with a 5-yard scamper from, of course, Moore as Warren extended its lead to 22-12.

He wasn't done, however, as on the Devils' next drive, Moore carried the ball eight more times for 80 yards. The decisive play of the drive was a 49-yard score on 3rd-and-2 to give Warren a 29-12 lead.

"We only needed two yards, but my mom had cut out an article about Ron and it said he never gave up," said Moore, who finished with 176 yards on 29 carries. "And my mom underlined that, and I knew I couldn't give up on that play."

The win improved Warren's record to 7-2 overall and 4-1 in the NSC Lake division.

"It was a huge game for us," said Bemby, who also had a sack and an interception in the contest. "We wanted to go 7-2 and roll into the playoffs."

The No. 2 seeded Devils will open the postseason with a game against No. 7 seeded Barrington on Oct. 30 at 1 p.m.

BOYS HOCKEY

This past Sunday, Warren Boys Varsity Hockey team trounced the undefeated Lake Zurich team. Warren started the scoring early on in the first shift with a goal by Dan Torola, assisted by Kris Latz and Ryan McGaughy.

Lake Zurich came back with two goals, but that didn't matter because Ryne Korbas scored a power play goal assisted by McGaughy. Ryan Canfield scored his first of the night from assists by Latz and Torola. Canfield scored again by another assist from Torola.

Torola finished the scoring with his second of the night assisted by Latz and Canfield.

Juniors Shawn Sullivan and David Urda kept pressure on Lake Zurich by laying on some strong offensive play. Warren won by a final score of 5-2. The Devils now stand at 4-2 in the Metro Central League standings.

BOYS SOCCER

Warren advanced to the Libertyville regional final with a 1-0 win over Antioch on Tuesday. Scott Malagon scored the game's lone goal on an assist from Bryan Bappert in the match's second minute.

The Devils (16-1-4) will take on Waukegan in the regional final on Oct. 28 at 7 p.m. The Bulldogs defeated Libertyville 2-1 in a shootout on Tuesday.

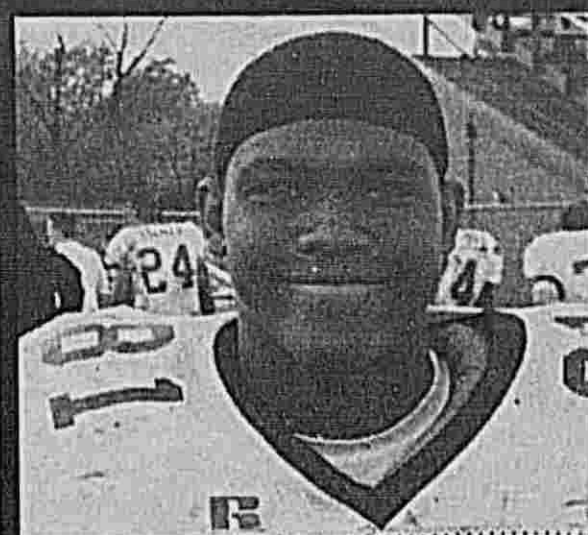

GIRLS TENNIS

Warren sophomore Karina Kocemba finished in the top-32 in the state tournament. It was her second straight trip downstate.

In the opening round, she beat Alexis McCoy from Queen of Peace 6-2, 3-6, 6-3 and beat Casey-Westfield's Jennifer Ramsay 6-2, 6-1 in the second round. However, she lost to Highland Park's Julie Flanzer 6-1, 6-2 in the third round and was forced to the consolation bracket on Friday.

In the fourth round of the consolation bracket, Kocemba topped Taft's Paulina Rigo 7-6 (7-3), 6-3 before falling to Lake Park's Kathryn Freidlund 6-0, 5-7, 6-1 in the fifth round.

PREPFILES

Marcus Lewis

When Keyshawn Johnson was a rookie wide receiver for the New York Jets, he was fond of saying, "Just give me the damn ball."

While Warren junior wide out Marcus Lewis isn't that boastful, his teammates can see his confidence in his own abilities.

"Marcus says to just throw the ball up and he'll catch it," Warren quarterback Garren Zerfass said earlier this year.

"Ever since summer camp, Garren and I have hooked up a lot," Lewis said. "We have a lot of confidence in each other."

"He catches everything that's thrown his way," Warren coach Dave Mohapp said. "He's our go-to guy in crucial situations."

One of those situations came at the end of the first half in last week's game against Stevenson. With Warren down 12-0, Zerfass lofted the ball to Lewis, who was hauled down in the end zone for a pass interference penalty against the Pats.

With no time left on the clock, Lewis went one-on-one with a defensive back and won, giving the Devils their first touchdown.

For Lewis, being one-on-one with a cornerback is the best feeling in the world.

"Sometimes I can see it in the DB's eyes; I know they're thinking about me," Lewis said. "Garren knows it too, so I give him a look, and then it's over."

It's his confidence in his own abilities that is perhaps his greatest asset, according to Mohapp.

"He's an outstanding athlete with good size and great hands, but his biggest attribute is how competitive he is," Mohapp said.

"No matter where, in practice, in a game, I just try to play my very best all the time," Lewis said. —By Rob Backus

Bulldogs hang tough with North Chicago

By Steve Peterson

Sports Reporter

Welcome back to Wauconda football squad's starting lineup, Brian Catalano. And a big welcome back to competitive football, Wauconda High School players and fans.

Both were accomplished on this balmy Friday in late October, although it was in defeat. Wauconda battled North Chicago, but it was too much Joshua Allen and Co. for the Bulldogs in a 20-13 loss.

Anthony Santella, a junior, added two more field goals, both from 39 yards out. Catalano joined Bill Cheng as running threats behind QB Andrew Baker and scored Wauconda's touchdown on a 14-yard run for a 14-10 deficit.

"Having Brian back gave us an added dimension," said WHS coach Glen Kozlowski.

Kozlowski was pleased that the Bulldogs battled to the end, something he asks of his forces every week.

"We want to go beyond being competitive in games to winning them, giving the players a taste for the playoffs and going downstate," Kozlowski said.

This night, Allen would score the first TD and throw for two more as North Chicago claimed its division title and Class 6A playoff bid with a 4-5, 4-1 mark. North Chicago battles at Carmel, the defending Class 6A winners.

The Warhawks seemed to be able to match their yards on offense with penalty yards. The Warhawks had a third and 44 yards to go situation at one time.

"You can't expect to have that many penalties and expect to compete in the playoffs. But defense, as it is said, wins the championships," said North Chicago coach Mike Grenda.

Allen had more than 150 yards passing and two TDs, with the second a 47-yarder to Corey Devost in the third quarter for a 20-10 lead. Santella's second field goal came with 3:02 left, but the Bulldogs never did challenge to tie the game.

As for the Wauconda squad's effort, he complimented the team's discipline and improvement.

There are better days ahead, starting in the next two weeks with weight room commitments, a 6-3 freshman team and a new team room off the WHS field to show as progress, Kozlowski said.

"We had our chances. The killer was not scoring, even three points, off the second turnover," he said.

CROSS COUNTRY

It may have been about 25 degrees warmer than Ben Witte would have liked, but the Wauconda runner had a solid day at the Mundelein regional cross country meet.

Samantha Pancamo, a junior running for Wauconda High School, runs on to the finish of the IHSA Regional Cross Country Race.

"Ben achieved his goal of being a four-time sectional qualifier. He is ready and pumped. He ran up with the leaders, then maintained his position," said Wauconda cross country coach Al Willhoit.

Witte, a senior, ran a 17:08 to qualify for the IHSA sectional at Busse Woods in Schaumburg Oct. 30.

"I wanted to do well, because this was my last high school race here," Witte said. "Mentally, I think I will have a good chance to get out of sectionals. I pray to God that He will give me the strength to qualify. It is a very hard race."

Wauconda finished third with 63 points, just two points out of second.

PREPROFILES

Anthony Santella

During warm-ups before Wauconda football games, one player gets the most attention. Anthony Santella's booming kicks scatter the band and draw oohs and aahs. His kickoffs regularly start the opposition at its 20-yard line.

Santella is now glad to be back at his other fall pursuit, soccer, helping the Bulldogs to reach a sectional final slot again in Class A. A knee injury sidelined him from soccer, as it all but stopped his mobility. WHS faced Sycamore for the title after a 3-0 win over St. Edward in the sectional semifinal Saturday.

"This is more of a precaution thing. I am working out to get back in shape. I am not 100 percent, but each match I am getting better," Santella said. "The last three years, we have played Sycamore. They won the first year, we won the second year, and it comes down to this."

Santella said it was great to win the NSC Prairie. He returned for the next match.

"I think I would have been hurting the team (if I had come back earlier), but I waited," he said.

Santella booted field goals of 33 and 39 yards in the Bulldogs' season-ending 20-13 loss to North Chicago. Then a few hours later, Wauconda battled St. Edward. "He is a great kicker. I wish I could recruit him," North Chicago coach Mike Grenda said.

Santella was a hero one day earlier this fall, as he provided the winning margin in Wauconda's 24-21 win over Round Lake in double overtime. "I hit the kicking block, but it went in. A field goal is a field goal," Santella said.

Football has a bright future. "I want to break the school record next year, 65 yards," he said. "Koz said I should go to camps and get my technique down." —By Steve Peterson

Bulldogs fall to No. 1 Maine South

By Nicholas Alajakis

Sports Reporter

Before Waukegan players could get comfortable in their last football contest of the season the game was all but over.

On the first play from scrimmage Maine South ran the ball 65 yards for the touchdown. Waukegan would fumble the ensuing kick off and Maine South would recover and score a few plays later to take the 14-0 lead before the Bulldog offence could even hit the field.

Waukegan coach John Neff said he knew right then that his team was in trouble. Playing against undefeated Maine South, Neff said he knew his team could not start sluggish and still compete.

"You expect certainly to get jumped on against (Maine South)," Neff said.

And that's what happened, as the Red Hawks would score six more times on their way to a 56-14 victory and a number 1 seed in the class 8A playoffs.

The Bulldogs (2-7) did show some signs of life following the early deficit. On their first offensive possession, the Bulldogs moved the ball down field for a before quarterback Corey Smith found Demetrius Butler in the endzone for a 34-yard score.

Maine South quickly responded, showing why they are one of the top teams in the state, as they rattled off three more touchdowns in the first half.

Trailing 42-6 in the third quarter Smith found Dexter Landry in the endzone for an 11-yard score.

Smith finished the day 9 for 26 for 155 yards, two touchdowns and five interceptions.

"You get behind like that you just start throwing," Neff said.

The game was not all passing however, in only his second start of the season, junior FB Eric Bailey rushed for 102 yards on 20 carries. He was the first Bulldog rusher to break 100 yards since Landry rushed for 184 yards against Niles North on Sept. 17.

Butler finished the game with three catches for 113 yards and Landry had another 28 yards on three garbs.

Defensively, however, Maine South was too powerful, gaining 478 yards of total offence with a balanced passing and rushing attack.

"The defense really had problems," Neff said. "They had problems."

The loss is Waukegan's fifth in a row, as they failed to make the playoffs for the third straight year. The Bulldogs have only made the playoffs once since 1996.

"We spent the whole week trying to make it a special week for the seniors," Neff said. "A lot of people are pretty down. We had a very hard schedule. That's not to make excuses."

Three of Waukegan's losses came against teams that went 9-0. Another two came against playoff teams.

round of the state playoffs for Waukegan doubles team Katie Colver and Grace Ramos.

In their first round match the seniors lost 3-6, 0-6 to Kelly Siegel-Brittany Rollheiser, of Mother McAuley.

In the consolation match they lost to Kathryn Wilkie-Rachel Dillon of Fenwick, 4-6, 6-1, 6-3.

"Looking back, they had a great year," said Waukegan coach Larry Zupec. "They just kind of staggered."

The two came out and made mental mistake early, Zupec said. By the state playoffs it's hard to start correcting things, he added.

"I don't know if they believed how good they were," Zupec said.

GIRLS VOLLEYBALL

The Bulldogs squandered a 18-6 third game lead in a loss to North Chicago in the first round of the IHSA Sectionals Tuesday night 21-25, 23-25, 25-27.

"The match was harder to lose than it should have been to win," said coach Rachel Wiatrowski about the team's let down.

"We made a lot of mental mistakes. We were returning free balls with free balls."

Waukegan also had 11 service errors in the match.

BOYS SOCCER

It took a nail-biting overtime thriller, but the Bulldogs escaped their second round regional game with a penalty kick victory over Libertyville.

The teams could not break a 1-1 tie in regulation, so the game was settled by penalty kicks. Senior goalie David Rodrigues made the lone save in a 5-4 victory over the Wildcats on Tuesday. Waukegan now has a 13-6-3 record and will play Warren for the regional title on Oct 28 in Libertyville.

In its first round game Waukegan shutout Zion 4-0. Junior Jesus Lopez scored his 23 and 24 goal of the season and Jonathan Hernandez and Francisco Zavala each added another.

Between them they have 253 assists, 156 kills and 158 digs in 28 matches. They also carry their team's future.

Sophomores Courtney O'Connor, Kaitlyn Prusha, Simone Wright, Liz Colver and Haley Krueger have already experienced the pits of high school volleyball in only their first season as varsity players. After a 4-26 season this year, the only way they figure to go is up.

The girls should be able to carry the team into the future, said first-year coach Rachel Wiatrowski.

O'Connor is the only returning varsity player of the sophomore group. The inexperience has in a way helped, Wiatrowski said, because neither she nor the players have needed to adjust to a new system.

The girls—all of them, say they don't like to dwell on the losses. Instead, they point to season highlights, like their win over Niles West, which gave them their first conference victory in two seasons. Or the early season win against Round Lake, which prevented them from going winless—again.

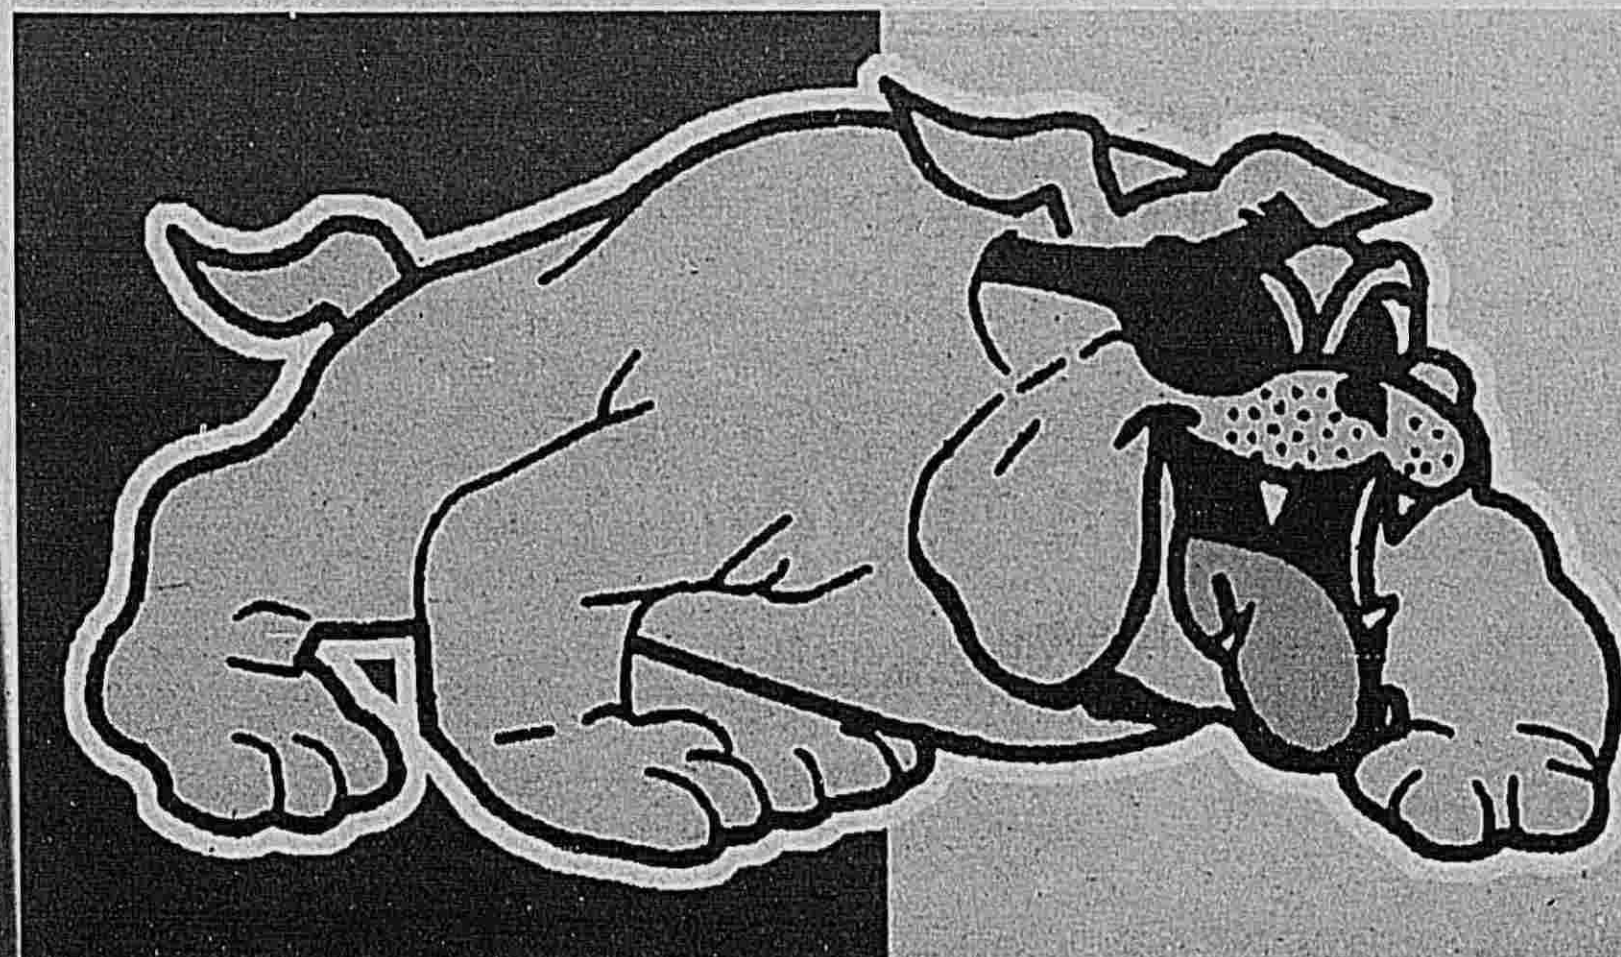

"I think it builds us up next year and the year after too," Krueger said.

But at the same time, they girls don't want to forget the struggles. Prusha said she'd like to be able to look back at the struggles as a building block toward what they all see inevitable success.

Becoming a good team takes good communication and teamwork, Wiatrowski said. If that's the case, they should be in good shape. The girls say they get along great. Four of the five girls plan on playing club ball this winter. And all five are teammates on the softball team.

"We're like peanut butter and jelly," the girls say almost in unison.

"And bread," Colver added.—By Nicholas Alajakis

Gruber, Campbell lead Lancers

Sports Reporter

Before the College of Lake County women's volleyball team's final home match Oct. 26 against Triton, the team paid tribute to sophomore outside hitters Lindsey Gruber and Sarah Campbell.

The seven freshmen that make up the rest of the team honored them with loud applause as the PA announcer ran through pair's impressive resume.

The two have re-written the Lancers record book during their careers. Campbell is number two in career kills (726) and aces (136) and while Gruber ranks first in kills (798) and third in aces (122). They have also combined for 1,836 total points.

"When they came in as freshmen, we knew that both Sarah and Lindsey would be solid performers at this level," head coach Roger Ozima said.

The tandem had a chance to add to their already impressive statistics in the Lancers' 3-0 (30-15, 30-14, 30-20) victory over Triton.

CLC jumped out to a big lead in game one, rallying to a 16-2 lead behind the serving of Gruber and freshman setter Megan Krizman, who tallied three and four aces, respectively, during the run.

The Trojans were unable to recover from the early knockout punch, never getting closer than twelve points.

In game two, however, Triton seemed to find some new life as they jumped out to a 4-1 lead. The score remained close until the Lancers ran off nine straight points to make the score 20-10. CLC outscored Triton 10-3 the rest of the way for the 30-14 win.

The Trojans saved their best for last as the hung with the Lancers through much of the third and deciding game.

Service and hitting errors by the Lancers kept the Trojans a little bit closer, but CLC still managed a relatively easy 30-20 win to close out the match.

Gruber said the team made more mistakes in games two and three but added they used the match as a tune-up session.

"The first game we went out and did what we had to do and then in the next two games we started running more things and trying different plays," she said.

The win puts CLC's overall record at 30-11 heading into their regular season finale against the College of DuPage Oct. 28. After that match they will head into the first round of the Region IV-Division B tournament with a trip to the national championship tourney on the line.

The Lancers will play Morton College, a team they beat 3-1 earlier this season, in the first round at the Grayslake campus.

If the Lancers beat Morton, they will move onto the regional final four. Last season CLC made it to the championship match, where they fell to Elgin and just missed a bid for nationals.

Lady Lancer Lindsey Gruber aces a serve to the Triton County Trojans to help the push the College of Lake County onto a 3-0 win.

Freshman setter Jenna Runge said that the freshman on the team are intent on doing everything they can to win the regional and send Campbell and Gruber off on a high note.

"We want to win it for them this year," she said. "We know how much it meant to them and how close they were and we want to go to nationals this year."

WOMEN'S SOCCER

The women's soccer team earned their bid to the Oct. 30 Regional IV championship game when they beat Oakton Community College 4-1 at Grayslake in the semifinal match Oct. 26.

Sophomore Kristy DeClark had a hat trick in the match.

PROFILES

Jenna Runge

The CLC women's volleyball team has developed a fun-loving personality this season.

One of the most evident aspects of that disposition can be seen during every dead ball of a match, when many of the Lancers act out trademark handshakes that they have perfected during the season.

One of the more amusing is between freshman setter Jenna Runge and sophomore outside hitter Sarah Campbell, who slap the front and back of each other's hands a couple times then point and wink at one another.

The gesture seems to be an extension of the connection the two have while the ball is in play.

Runge is the starting setter for the Lancers and leads the team in assists. Quite often she is putting the ball in the air for Campbell and sophomore outside hitter Lindsey Gruber, both of whom she said have made her job easier.

"We have really good hitters," Runge said. "They make me look good. I can mess up and these girls do it all for me and it's really good to have that."

Runge did not become a setter until this season, having played outside hitter during her high school career at Wauconda.

She said she was tentative about the new position at first but quickly became comfortable with her new role.

"I wasn't sure about it at the beginning of the season," she said. "But it's come along and it's so much fun now. I don't think I would change a thing out of the whole season."

While the Lancers have their share of personalities, head coach Roger Ozima said Runge provides a settling presence.

"She's pretty stable," he said.

"Jennie Dewar keeps us loose and Lindsey and Sarah are the intense people out there so she kind of balances that out." —By Matt Pera

BILL SCHEURER

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I can better represent the average citizen, who does not particularly care about Democrats or Republicans, but simply wants government to work for the benefit of the people.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? JoAnn Osmond is a wonderful person, and a good public servant. The biggest difference between us is that she is a committed Republican, and will be expected to follow the party line in her voting and priorities. I will be more independent, able to choose what makes sense, and work with others in both parties.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? a) Public education finance reform, to shift the burden from local property taxes (which are too high in our district), to full and equal statewide funding.
b) Private health insurance reform, to extend major medical coverage to every Illinois resident.
c) Election reform, to remove the two-party lock on ballot access and open up our democracy to wider participation.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? Illinois can lead the way in creating a new culture of life. We have a broad base of people (without respect to political parties) who are concerned about the symptoms of death (abortion, capital punishment, and war) that plague our society, for us to come together in healing.

JOANN D. OSMOND

Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I believe that I am an average individual who listens to the concerns of this district, who will work to resolve them. I have worked with the legislative process for the past 20 years: two as a legislator and 18 years as a legislative aide and I feel my experience puts me in a position of earning voter's trust.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I have only met him once at an endorsement session. He stated that the only reason he was in this race is that no challenger was on the ballot. I have not been able to obtain any information or read any of his positions on issues. I believe that I am different as I went to the people, circulated my petitions and had my name placed on the ballot. I was not appointed to the ballot.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? Education funding is first. We need to find ways of eliminating the heavy tax burden on the homeowners, yet having the school districts accountable to the taxpayers as to their expenses.

Transportation is another priority. I am working to support Route 120 widening. Metra has been a wonderful help to the western part of my district with the commuter expansion. We need to look for other ways of mass transportation.

Third would be taking care of our seniors, by giving them the means to know about programs to help them with their day-to-day life challenges.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? My main focus will be on education and AED placement throughout the district.

SHARYN I. ELMAN

Democrat

www.votesharyn.com

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? After years of having no representation the communities of District 62 will finally have someone who cares and will and will listen to their concerns and be a strong advocate for them in Springfield.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I will listen to the concerns of the people living in the district and I will respond to their needs. We have not had a representative who made voter concerns a priority. That will change when I am elected.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? I walk about 6 hours a day knocking on doors to find out what matters most to the people living in the district. Their concerns are traffic, property taxes, and education. I believe we can fix most of our traffic problems with proven solutions. Studies show widening roads, synchronizing lights, and fixing intersections can be low cost ways to achieve traffic relief. Property taxes are causing many residents to look at leaving the not only our district, but the state of Illinois. We need to find ways to fund education that takes the burden off of property owners. The state should be meeting its 50% funding requirement for public schools, but it is not. Currently we are ranked 49th out of 50 states when it comes to funding education. We must look at states that are successful and see if we can learn from their example. As for education, we must make sure there are checks and balances so that important programs like music, art, foreign languages, and physical education are not lost. We must make our children and their education a priority, because they are the future of our country and they must be able to compete in a global economy.

ROBERT CHURCHILL

Republican

www.robertchurchill.com

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I believe that I am the best person to be re-elected to the Illinois House of Representatives because of my 18 years of experience, because of my years of leadership and because I am both responsive and representative of the people of central Lake County. My roots lie deep in the 62nd District. I believe that I speak and vote as the vast majority of my constituents would speak and vote, were they in my position. I work hard, listen well and always attend to my assignments (having missed only two days in 18 years.)

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I have great experience, knowledge of government and have been a leader on many issues. With my wonderful staff, constituent service is superb. I am a voice for the suburbs. The first vote my opponent would cast, were she elected, would be to vote for a hard-core, city of Chicago Democrat. I am independent of the city machine and can truly represent my constituents.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? First, the governor is attempting to take over the metropolitan service agencies such as the RTA and the toll way. He is also trying to usurp the state board of education. In doing so he hopes to shift more funding from the suburbs to Chicago. We need to vigorously fight this effort. Second, the medical malpractice situation is real and dangerous. Doctors are moving out of Lake County because they can save tens of thousands of dollars just by moving across the border into Wisconsin. As they move, they have no reason to care for Lake County clients who could sure them under the Illinois tort rules. Medical school students are refusing to look in Illinois for their life's work. We will soon have a decades long gap in medical services available to the people who live here.

STATE SENATE 26th DISTRICT

NANCY L. PETERSON

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? Because I a) would serve as a full time senator (not be a double dipper), b) would not be owing any special interests, so free to truly work for the best interests of the people of the district, c) am a person of honesty and integrity who would strive to work for the common good of residents and businesses in our district.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I am not a lifer politician or double dipper. I have no special interest backing. I think for myself so recognize the interdependence of business and citizen interests. I am pro-choice but believe we need to be doing more to encourage young people not to have children until they are able to provide for them.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? 1) Reducing traffic gridlock: by widening arterial roads, reconfiguring some intersections, installing well timed lights. I would work with the other members of the general assembly, IDOT, and local officials to press for the need in our district. I would hope that, contrary to the lack of funds our area received under Republic control of Springfield, I would be able to do a better job of securing funds for us now than my opponent because of Democratic control in Springfield. 2) Tax incentives for businesses that remain in or move to Illinois and create new jobs that pay wages above the prevailing averages for an area.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? When party leadership of Lake and McHenry Counties asked to run for the office I decided to accept because I believe I would bring a fresh voice, able to think "outside the box" for the common good, to Springfield. Goodness knows we have had enough "ostriches" who just want to "put their heads in the sand" rather than be willing to really work hard to find solutions to some of the State's long term problems such as school funding and health care.

WILLIAM PETERSON

Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? My legislative experience and my ability to work with all parties concerned has made it easier to pass needed legislation. I want to continue to work for expansion and improvement of area roads, full funding of mental health and disability programs, a school aid formula that encourages district consolidation, and bring as many Medicaid programs as possible under a managed care system.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I have proven that I can work with both sides of the aisle to get legislation passed. Legislation helping the Round Lake School District and Gavin School District are examples of the work I've done in the legislature.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? 1. More money to improve and widen state highways by stopping the Governor from taking gas tax money to use for non road purposes.
2. Raise the foundation funding level for the school state aid formula, using current revenues.
3. Improve the business climate in Illinois by attracting more companies to expand or relocate in the state by reforming tort liability and worker compensation laws.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? I would continue to work for additional funds for people with special needs and also property tax relief, especially for senior citizens.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? I was involved in Republican politics and held a local office when the opportunity to run for the State legislature became available due to the retirement of the incumbent.

RECORDER

MARY ELLEN VANDERVENTER

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? With a staff of 35 and an annual budget of $3 million dollars, I have worked hard to streamline procedures using available technology, while guarding the old-fashioned traditions of the office. During my 8 years as recorder, we have produced over $80 million dollars in revenue. This money is deposited into the Corporate Fund and used to enhance countywide programs and services for all Lake County taxpayers.

In 1996, I inherited an antiquated office that did not even have a fax machine! In eight years I have expanded office hours to help working families, implemented credit cards for easy payment, started quarterly Cable shows to inform taxpayers of available services, created a website with fee information and downloadable forms, created a digitized 20-year library of documents and cross-trained all of our staff to increase productivity. All of this without raising fees!

My staff and I recently completed a user-friendly, browser-based computer upgrade that enhances recording time and efficiency, allowing the office to record more documents on a daily basis. The moment a document is recorded - it is now searchable and retrievable on our computers! Contrary to what my opponent continues to say, there are simply no more delays! It has become very clear that she doesn't understand the day-to-day operations of the Recorder's office.

In addition to having this computer program available to each of the County offices and all 18 Township offices throughout Lake County, our office's Public Search area has been enlarged from 10 computers to 22 computers. The upgraded technology now also allows for a new service, where customers can avoid a trip to the courthouse by requesting that their documents be emailed to them!

DANA SABONJIAN

Republican

Web site
www.danasabonjian.org

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I have been a Realtor for nine years and have had experience in the legal transactions that the Recorder of Deeds deals with. I also work with deadlines on a regular basis necessitating the timely processing of documents.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I have worked in private industry where I had to meet deadlines and I feel that 10-12 weeks for processing deeds is unacceptable.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? Reducing the processing time for recording deeds and additional offices in the county (township offices) where deeds can be recorded avoiding the trip to the court house.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? In working with real estate investors, I have experienced the delay in processing of deeds when a client would purchase a home, re-hab the home and when the sale was scheduled to take place, the deed from the original purchase would not be on file.

RICHARD KELLER

Democrat

communityforkeller.com

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? It is time that the Lake County Coroner was a physician (many assume that the Coroner has always been a physician). Decision making regarding the cause of death and related matters is often a complex task and I think best served if made through lens of an experienced physician. While the information is garnered from several resources the synthesis of a decision is the responsibility of the Coroner. For example, it is likely that DNA evidence will become increasingly important, certainly a background that has utilized an understanding of DNA (and the limitations of DNA results) is of critical importance.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I am a physician. I am a professional and will run a professional department. I am committed to the ethical treatment of all who will become involved with the Coroner's department, both living and dead.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? Expand ethics legislation to all levels of government working with state legislators and community organizing/activism if it needs a bit of a push.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? All the staff in the Coroner's office should have minimal education requirements, be professional in their job performance, and have enforced and enforceable performance measurements done on a regular basis. While the employees of the Coroner's office "serve at the will of the Coroner", I will ensure that that "will" is professional, measurable and measured, just as are the job descriptions and job performances of similar "level" employees of Lake County.

JAMES WIPPER

Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? Because I am the most experienced. You cannot go to college and get a degree in being a coroner. Most of this job is on-the-job training and experience.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I have the experience and qualifications to perform this job. I have been in the office for over 20 years. In these years I have conducted thousands of death investigations, worked hundreds of autopsies, made death notifications, prepared budgets for the office and handled all administrative duties for the office. My opponent has no experience in this job.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? Work on raising coroner's fees to take the burden off of taxpayers, continue to keep with related technology in our field and increasing staff to keep up with the caseload.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? The retirement of Coroner Barbara Richardson. I was appointed to the position of coroner upon her retirement.

STATE'S ATTORNEY

MICHAEL JACOBS

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? As an individual who is politically independent from the current office holder and the majority of the remaining county wide office holders, I will ensure that the practice of placing politics above the law will be eliminated from the State's Attorney's Office. Moreover, I pledge to vigorously, but fairly, enforce the laws, including all allegations of public corruption and malfeasance.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? The Office of the State's Attorney is responsible for not only prosecuting criminal offenses, but for representing the County's interests in civil matters. I am greatly distinguishable from my opponent due to the fact that over my eighteen year career, I have not only undertaken and successfully completed the challenging tasks of being a criminal prosecutor, but have also conscientiously represented and protected the public fisc in many facets of civil litigation in both state and federal courts and various administrative agencies.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? The long standing practice of one party rule in Lake County has resulted in politics being placed above the law for too long and prevented the citizens of Lake County from receiving the "good government" to which they are entitled is the single most important reason for my candidacy.

MICHAEL WALLER

Republican

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I have been the Lake County State's Attorney since 1990. I believe I have done an excellent job in running a professional and innovative office. I have established the Major Crimes Task Force to investigate homicides, the Lake County Children's Advocacy Center to investigate child abuse cases, a comprehensive victim advocacy program, a comprehensive domestic violence program, and computer crime unit. I am the President of Nicasa and I am chairman of the Lake County Domestic Violence Council, the Lake County Juvenile Justice Council, and the Lake County Criminal Justice Coordinating Committee. The latter three groups are county wide coalitions that seek long term solutions to problems facing Lake County. Prior to becoming State's Attorney, I had 9 years experience as a Lake County Assistant State's Attorney (serving as a top assistant to the three previous State's Attorney and a top trial attorney trying the most serious and difficult cases) and 8 years experience as a lawyer in private practice in Lake County.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? My opponent has no experience in the Lake County courts or criminal justice system. He also has no experience supervising attorneys or managing an office. I have extensive experience in all those areas.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? I have devoted my professional career to the Lake County State's Attorney's Office. I am running for reelection based upon my record, my accomplishments, and my experience.

CIRCUIT COURT CLERK

MARY NELSON

Democrat

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I am the best person for the position of Lake County Circuit Court Clerk because I believe I can improve the operations of this office and bring technology for the office into the 21st century with my 32 years of experience in government.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I will stop the nepotism in the office. I will treat everyone fairly. I will be a working administrator leading my employees by example.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? I would work to bring the technology into the 21st century. I would work to bring moral back into the office so employees wanted to come to work and promote a professional work environment. I would bring financial accountability back to the office. I would improve customer service.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? I ran 4 years ago and had a very good showing for the first time with no name recognition. I know most of the problems and issue of that office since I currently work at the county.

SALLY D. COFFELT

Republican

For the past 23 1/2 years, I have had the honor of serving Lake County as the Circuit Court Clerk. I am seeking re-election to continue the honest and effective leadership which has been a hallmark of my tenure and which will be necessary to meet the challenges of the future.

During my tenure, Lake County has experienced tremendous growth in population and in the resulting court caseload. Through my leadership, we have maintained our high level of customer service while always living within our budget. We have a courteous, qualified, and knowledgeable staff who assist the public on a daily basis and have earned a well-deserved reputation for excellence. With the assistance of technology, we maintain the ever increasing number of court records in a timely manner even as the processes grow more and more complex.

I want to continue serving the citizens of Lake County because there is no substitute for experience and I have the experience necessary to continue to meet the challenges ahead.

U.S. CONGRESS 8th DISTRICT

MELISSA BEAN

Democrat

www.melissabean.com

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? As a mother, small business owner and 17-year resident of the community, I am deeply connected to the lives and challenges of families in the eighth district. In particular, my experience in corporate management in the high-tech industry and as a business owner drives my desire to hold Congressional leaders to a higher level of accountability and openness when it comes to their job performance.

What distinguishes you from your opponent?

Unlike my opponent, I will listen better, work harder and demand a better return on our tax dollars. I will support fiscally responsible budget policies while paying close attention to the people in the district. To ensure responsiveness and alignment with the priorities of my constituents, I will be highly accessible in the district. I will represent the interests of individuals, businesses and community groups via outreach and communication tools.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them?

What additional issues would you work on if elected? I plan to work to ensure greater accountability from Congress for its excessive and wasteful spending, reduce the burden of education mandates on our schools, provide a greater voice for small and medium-sized businesses, encourage economic development to create quality jobs, improve access to affordable health insurance and protect our local environment and natural resources.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? I am running for Congress because the people of the eighth district deserve a higher degree of attention and accountability than we're currently getting. Our families are entitled to proactive representation and effective stewardship of our tax dollars and natural resources. I am committed to reducing deficits so that we are not squandering hard-earned tax dollars on interest payments on the national debt. I will help our communities by working to acquire the education and transportation funds we need, and by protecting our local environment. I will continuously seek out economic development that will bring quality jobs by targeting tax relief to the small business community. I will work to provide access to affordable healthcare; strengthen homeland defense and national security; and, make education a top priority to ensure we are building a skilled workforce ready to compete in the global economy.

PHIL CRANE

Republican

www.philcrane.com

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? Being the most senior member of the Republican Party in the House of Representatives has its advantages for my constituents. Because of my seniority, I am the Vice-Chairman of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee which has jurisdiction over taxes and I am also Chairman of the Trade subcommittee. Through these influential positions, I am able to be a leading force for tax reform and job creation. Fighting for lower taxes and bringing more jobs to the 8th district have been the hallmarks of my career.

What distinguishes you from your opponent?

My opponent will say or do anything to get elected. She has flip-flopped or refused to give her positions on important issues like tax cuts and has indicated that she would raise taxes. Her positions on social issues are far outside the views of the mainstream voters of the 8th district but for that matter, my opponent does not even live in the district. She cannot even vote herself. If she were elected, her first vote would be to take the Speaker's gavel away from Illinois' Dennis Hastert and send it to San Francisco's Nancy Pelosi; this move would hurt the suburbs by stripping its federal funds and clout.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them?

Continue to bring jobs back to the 8th District and keep our economy moving in the right direction.

b. Reform the health care system by:

1. Passing my bill to make health insurance premiums 100% deductible if purchased in conjunction with a Health Savings Account
2. Passing legislation, which I co-sponsored, to create Association Health Plans which allow small businesses to band together to purchase insurance for a lower cost.
3. Reforming the medical malpractice system in the U.S. This bill, which I co-sponsored, has passed the House several times but is bogged down in the Senate. Failure to reform the system will mean escalating insurance costs and reduced service as doctors continue their migration from Illinois.

c. Continue to bring federal funds back to the district for projects to improved local education, transportation and the environment. I will also work hard to continue to bring back funding for projects that promote jobs here in the 8th District, such as defense projects.

U.S. CONGRESS 10th DISTRICT

LEE GOODMAN

Democrat

www.leeforcongress.com

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? Our present congressman is pretending to be something he is not. He says he is a moderate and independent, but he votes with the conservative Bush Republicans almost all the time. According to Congressional Quarterly, he votes with them 87% of the time. I am an Independent Democrat. The Independent Voters of Illinois has endorsed me.

What distinguishes you from your opponent?

Two years ago my opponent told people in this district that he had seen the secret proof that Saddam Hussein had weapons of mass destruction. The weapons didn't exist, and neither did the proof. I will never lie to the people.

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them?

1) Health care with prescription drugs for everyone in America. We should open up Medicare to everyone, regardless of age. This would result in huge savings, because Medicare is much more efficient than private insurance. We would be able to do more preventive care, resulting in a healthier population and reduced costs for interventions. It would also help create jobs, because the burden and expense of providing health care would no longer be on employers. This can all be accomplished for no more than we are now spending on healthcare, and we would get much greater benefit.

2) Stop the War in Iraq and prevent a draft for the Iraq War. Unless we immediately change our policy on Iraq, we will have a draft. We have run out of troops for the war, and we cannot continue to occupy Iraq without a draft. Our continued occupation of Iraq is not accomplishing anything that is worth the sacrifice of additional lives for...

3) Redirect our spending towards domestic needs. We are wasting far too much money on wars and military involvement that is endangering rather than protecting our people. As a result, we don't have enough money for schools, transportation, environmental cleanup, and other domestic needs. The entire balance of our spending needs to be changed.

MARK KIRK

Republican

www.kirkforcongress.com

Why are you the best person to represent the people of your district? I have experience in the district...And I have worked hard on issues including keeping the VA hospital open and getting the Metra North Central Commuter rail through Lake County.

What distinguishes you from your opponent? I have a more practical vision on how to make life better. I don't think my opponent knows the district well. He's confused on key educational issues. He is unprepared and unqualified.

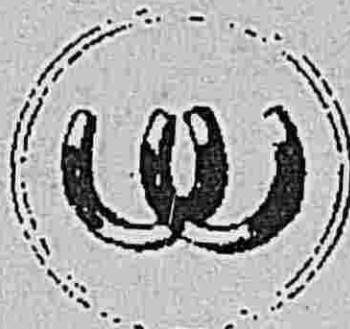

What are the three most important legislative priorities you see for your district and how would you work to accomplish them? 1) Remove nuclear waste from the shores of Lake Michigan. 2) Pass a referendum to stop the exit of qualified doctors in Illinois. By putting a cap on pain and suffering rewards in malpractice suits less doctors would leave the area. This would drive down health care costs. 3) Make sure we fully fund special education programs.

What additional issues would you work on if elected? Create a terrorist reward program. Many terrorists are also becoming some of the largest drug kingpins. I'd like to improve military voting. I'd get more polling places on military bases. I'd work on bringing a commuter rail to the northwest suburbs, to free up traffic congestion on I-90.

What single event or circumstance prompted you to run for office? The retirement of 10th Congressional District Congressman John Edward Porter in 2000. Kirk served as an aide to Porter for 16 years.

By the Numbers, Lakeland Newspapers' Local Coverage Adds Up To Reader Satisfaction

1. More Reporters- Lakeland Newspapers has more reporters covering Lake County than any other newspaper (that includes Tribune, Daily Herald, Pioneer Press, News Sun)
2. Intensive Coverage- Count the articles about your town. Lakeland Newspapers outshines that competition three to one!
3. 'Class of the Class'- Lakeland Newspapers has the most complete Lake County Classified section.
4. Award Winning- Regional, state and national competition. Hometown Lakeland Newspapers win critical acclaim. 33 awards in 2002 to be exact!
5. County Coverage- Not only do Lakeland Newspapers blanket their community, there is a complete Lake County Section in every edition.
6. Most Columnists- Lakeland Newspapers presents a top team every week of special interest columnists, more than the other news weekly competition.
7. Tailored Design- Every Lakeland Newspaper issue is "tailor made" with conveniently identified departments, headed by local news leading off the paper.
8. News You Can Use- Lakeland editors are careful to showcase "need to know" news like tax information, hometown events, bond issues and local services.
9. Photo Expertise- Lakeland Newspaper photographers are on duty 24 hours a day, 7 days a week, shooting compelling news photos of hometown and regional events.
10. Weekend Focus- Your hometown Lakeland Newspaper is home delivered Friday, just in time for planning Saturday-Sunday shopping and weekend entertainment. That's "Mini Sunday" Lakeland style.
11. Dependable Mail- Home delivery copies of Lakeland Newspapers arrive via U.S. Mail.
12. Bonus Sections- Part of your hometown newspaper is devoted to regular special sections such as Summer Rec Guides, monthly Home Marketer sections, health care and home maintenance.
13. Compelling Comment- Lake County originated editorials, local letters to the editor, commentaries from recognized authorities, all part of regular Lakeland Newspapers service.
14. Home Services- Lakeland's leading home services businesses advertise in hometown Lakeland Newspapers, your guide to expert home maintenance.
15. Community Service- Supporting local events. That's the job of Lakeland Newspapers. No other publishing company does it better than Lakeland Newspapers.
16. Locally Owned- Lakeland Newspapers is owned and published by a resident of Lake County, not a faceless corporation located in another state or another nation.
17. Living History- Lakeland Newspapers maintains a complete "morgue" of past copies available to interested persons as a complimentary service. Some Lakeland Newspapers are more than 100 years old.
18. Intern Program- Aspiring young journalists are hired every summer to participate in the Lakeland Newspapers "young journalists" training program. Prospective applicants are invited to apply for news/writing and news/photography openings.
19. Community Calendar- Readers are invited to submit events for listing in Community Calendar which is published on a 10-day cycle so events of special interest are published twice.
20. Youth Tours- Visitations of the Lakeland Newspapers publishing center can be arranged for authorized youth groups by calling Public Relations at 847-223-8161.

220 Help Wanted Full-Time

Preferences Influence Employer Choice
By Scott T. Fleischmann

When doing out placement counseling, I am often asked questions about where an individual will most enjoy working. I lead them back to their personal goals, desires, and preferences.

Some of the questions include:
• Should I work in the private sector or for the government?
• Is it better to work for a larger organization or a smaller company?
• Should I move to a region where my skills are more highly compensated?
• When should I look for the next job opportunity?

Good questions! Let's address some of them. The question related to private companies or the government is linked to several factors. Typically, government work is more secure (except those that are political appointments.) Therefore, one factor is the ability to assess and cope with the risk of job loss. Another factor is bureaucracy. Government often moves slooooooowly; it has many rules and forms. Some people are exasperated by those types of jobs. The activity in a private company can become intense. Others may not want that pressure.

Large companies can also become bureaucratic. Yet, there is the risk of job loss. Most smaller companies need to be very efficient and effective. They also rely on employees to get the job done. Thus, they are more likely to retain employees as long as the revenue stream is good. They do not have as many rules, forms, policies and procedures. Employees can often be more autonomous in smaller organizations. Some people thrive on that autonomy. Others want (or need) to be supervised.

Moving to gain a compensation advantage is often deceptive. Those regions that pay more usually have a higher cost of living. Therefore, the standard of living is negligible. The more valuable questions about moving relate to ones personal values and preferences. The coastal regions are usually more liberal than the Midwest. The south is also conservative. Those who enjoy warmer weather may also prefer the south. Skiers may prefer the mountainous regions.

Larger cities usually provide more job opportunities and a greater diversity of jobs than do rural areas. However, they also require greater commute times, poorer air quality and less nature. Larger cities have more nightlife, sports and cultural activities.

The best time to look for a new job is now; always. Every employee needs be aware of available jobs. One may not apply for a new job for years. However, being aware of the job market is always in the best interest of those who are in the workplace. We need to trust our instincts in this regard. If one becomes aware of a great opportunity, he or she should explore it cautiously. As in every other aspect of life, jobs that seem "too good to be true" usually are just that.

"To thine own self be true." Each employee needs to understand him or herself. Then they need to pursue the best situation. Be prudent when others give advice about where you should work. It may be the best place for them but the worst place for you.

Pet OF THE WEEKSAKE

Sake always has that poignant look and has been keeping a low profile since her arrival. Found as a stray, this Siamese mix lady is always very quiet and probably misses having a special friend, whether human or feline. She always seems to be on the look-out for a feline friend in the main cat room, sadly she hasn't found one yet. If she sees someone approaching, she peeps a small tentative meow to double-check that she is really the one that person is looking at. This little lady is probably not even four or five years old. Can you bring back the happy purrs in this girl's life?

Café Pyrenees was established in 1990 by Chef Jean-Marc Loustaunau and his wife, Mari. Café Pyrenees is an excellent place for quick lunches, business meetings and special occasions or just a fabulous dinner out. Food ranges from the typical French Café fare as well as specialties from the Mediterranean regions of southwest France. All entrees come with salad, fresh vegetables and a starch. They have a private party room for all your party needs. Call them during their regular business hours to make a reservation for lunch or dinner. Café Pyrenees is located at Hwy. 21 and 60 (facing Hwy. 60), River Tree Court Shopping Center, Vernon Hills, IL 60061. Phone 847-918-8850 or 847-918-8852.

How can I get better service at my table?

Be nice, if a long wait has gotten you upset, remember it's not your waiter's fault. If you waited a long time, chances are your waiter has been very busy and is tired. Now that you are at the table, make a fresh start of it. You might be surprised how a little friendliness will improve the service. If you treat your waiter poorly, even the most professional waiter will have trouble rebounding and providing you with a pleasant dining experience. Remember, that's why you waited in the first place.

What should I do if I feel my waiter is giving me poor service?

- If you feel you are receiving poor service from your waiter, don't just suffer though it and leave a small or nonexistent tip.
- If your waiter doesn't properly respond to your requests, ask to see a manager.
- Managers need to be aware of problems so they can fix them. A manager's involvement might be able to save your dining experience, which is a far bigger expense than your tip.
- If you don't feel comfortable asking for a manager at your table, then do so on the way out. They still would like to know about your problems, although by waiting you have limited their abilities to help with your experience.
- If you feel your waiter deserves no tip, don't leave one. However, when you speak with a manager, you might leave a partial tip with them to pass on to your server or busboy. If the others were helpful, you still want to reward their service. This also makes it clear that you do tip for good service and that your waiter disappointed you.

What should I do if I received excellent service from my waiter?

- Tell the waiter that you appreciated their excellent service so they will continue to take pride in their work.
- Ask to see the manager. As with poor service, you should let a manager know when you have received excellent service. Managers need to recognize their strongest employees to encourage great customer service, telling them about your experiences will help them to do this.
- Tip accordingly, if you feel your waiter has gone above and beyond your expectations and provided you with a wonderful dining experience. Hopefully, you feel that they deserve more than the standard 15% to 20% tip.
- If you plan on coming back, be sure to get the waiter's name. This way you can request them next time and have another wonderful dining experience.

How large of a tip should I leave?

- If you received good service, it is customary to tip at least 15% to 20% of your bill before any discounts. If your bill would have been $40.00, but your coupons brought it down to $35.00 you should leave a tip based on the $40.00. If your service was excellent, you should certainly consider leaving a larger than standard tip.
- Some restaurants will automatically include a tip, usually 15% of the bill. This is especially true if you have a large party. Although, more restaurants are beginning to automatically include tips to all bills as a standard policy. You can check your bill for this amount to see if an additional tip is warranted.
